Red Ships Enroute To Cuba For Troops

Cuban Exile Leader Declares 30,000 Red Troops On Island

DR. MANUEL DE VARONA

Former Senate President Claims Soviet Has Bases In Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban exile leader said Wednesday there definitely are more than 17,000 Soviet troops in Cuba and perhaps up to 30,000. He called for a U.S.-led invasion "to restore peace to the hemisphere."

Dr. Manuel deVarona, who was president of the Cuban Senate from 1950 to 1952 under ousted President Fulgencio Batista, also said:

—"Well-informed sources in Vienna"report the Soviets have established two secret military bases in Latin America, one in the jungles of northwest Brazil, the other in the mountains of Paraguay.

—Cuba has set up numerous schools of sabotage and guerrilla warfare throughout Latin America, directed by a council of high Communist officials in Havana.

DeVarona, speaking through an interpreter, Dr. Nester Carbonell, made his statements in testimony before the House Inter-American Affairs subcommittee. It is investigating Cuban subversion in Latin America.

Urges Liberation

Carbonell read a deVarona statement saying, "Only joint military action from abroad, under the leadership of the United States, can liberate Cuba and restore peace to the hemisphere."

In a supplement read later, however, he called first for a naval and air blockade, then adequate military assistance for freedom fighters in Cuba's mountains and abroad, and finally "collective armed action" against Cuba if needed.

Such action should be taken through the Organization of American States, deVarona said, but by the United States alone, if necessary, under its inherent right of unilateral self-defense.

DeVarona disputed administration contentions that only 17,000 Soviet troops remain in Cuba of those sent there before the United States forced out Soviet offensive missiles and bombers last October.

The White House said it had no comment on his testimony.

Russians Everywhere

"The Russians are seen everywhere, in the cities, in the country, at concentration camps," he said, quoting refugee sources.

He said there were 5,000 Russian troops in his province of Camaguey alone. His sources, he said, had not reported any use of Soviet troops "as yet" to put down uprisings of Cuban people.

DeVarona gave few details about the reported Soviet bases in Brazil and Paraguay, or what kind of bases they are other than military.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., said he assumed the countries involved would be aware of this and, "I would think the establishment of a military base on someone else's territory would be an act of war."

DeVarona voiced doubt that a social and economic revolution in Latin America, like the United States is attempting to stimulate through the alliance for progress, would halt Castro-type subversion.

Social progress cannot be attained in Latin America if communism is allowed to remain in Cuba, he said.

Harry Hebard Is Charged With Murder

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Crew-cut Harry Hebard stood in court Wednesday and heard himself accused of killing the family from which he felt "left out."

Authorities said Harry, 16, voiced remorse at killing his father but showed no signs of sorrow at the slayings of his stepmother and her three children.

He gave only short answers at his arraignment on first degree murder charges in the slayings of his father, Jack Hebard, 38; his stepmother Joyce, 34; and her twin daughters, Janice and Judy, 11.

A fifth murder charge, in the killing of Mrs. Hebard's son John, 15, was held in abeyance pending young Hebard's trial in the pistol and rifle slayings of the other four.

"I guess I expect to go to reform school until I'm 18," Hebard said. "After that I don't know what will happen. I don't care any more."

Dist. Atty. Robert Warren and Police Chief Elmer Madson said that before Hebard went on the shooting rampage, he drafted "detailed plans to shoot his family" and tucked them away in his locker at Green Bay West High School.

Senate Told To Get Down To Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven weeks late and still full of talk, the Senate Wednesday put off until next Monday a final vote on the controversial revision of its legislative committees.

The agreement came after Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield sternly lectured his colleagues for continuing to "wrangle" over its housekeeping problems while the nation's legislative business goes untouched.

But Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., protesting the way the majority Steering Committee doled out committee assignments, insisted on delaying the vote until next week.

The agreement calls for a vote at 2 p.m. Monday on Clark's amendments to enlarge three Senate committees. There then will be a final vote on the committee shakeup recommended by the leadership. Mansfield said the Senate will meet Thursday and Friday.

Powell Hurls Charges Of Racial Bias

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A running battle between Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., erupted Wednesday in angry charges and denials of racial animosity.

Powell charged at a news conference that Williams had criticized him because he was a Negro. He said the Delaware Republican had a "100 per cent" record of opposition to civil rights and his criticism could only be viewed in that light.

Shortly before Powell's charge, Williams told the Senate he never had used race, religion or national origin in criticizing anyone and would not start now. He said anyone raising the race question was "trying to cloud the issue."

Williams, renewing the criticism of Powell that he started Feb. 5, also said that both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations had shown "far too much compassion toward" Powell in his tax affairs and other dealings.

Powell, who previously had said he would retire from Congress at the end of his present term, announced at his news conference that he would be a candidate again in 1964. "If I didn't run again," he said, "it would look like I'm running out."

Powell handed out a long list of civil rights and related bills that Williams had opposed since 1948. He also said Williams had bought property at Rehoboth Beach, Del., that carried a restrictive covenant "prohibiting sale or use by people other than aryans — the Hitler concept."

Publishers, Labor Leaders Meet With N.Y. Mediator

NEW YORK (UPI)—City labor mediator Theodore W. Kheel met Wednesday with publishers and representatives of five craft unions involved in New York's 75-day-old newspaper strike.

Kheel sat in for Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who was in Albany, N.Y., to ask the state legislature for more financial assistance for the city. Kheel and the publishers talked with officials of the stereotypers, mailers, pressmen, deliverers and paper handlers unions.

The printers, who struck four metropolitan area dailies last Dec. 8, causing publishers to close five others, did not attend the meeting.

The discussions apparently centered on a reduction of the work week. Printers' officials said their union was not represented because the local's "position is well known."

Kheel, who held the meeting in his law offices, said he would report to Wagner when the mayor returns to the city. No statement was expected before Thursday.

It was learned that the 35-hour week was the subject of a secret meeting Monday between representatives of the New York Publishers Association and the Newspaper Unity Committee. The unity committee represents the American Newspaper Guild and the nine craft unions idled in the dispute.

Navy Reports Vessels Can Carry 8,000

One Transport Should Dock At Cuba Shortly

WASHINGTON (UPI) —American officials said Wednesday that enough Soviet ships to remove nearly half the Russian troops still in Cuba are due to reach the island shortly.

They said one vessel which could be used for this purpose should dock very soon and that three others were nearing Cuban ports.

Two of the four vessles are empty, indicating they probably were sent specifically to carry out the Kremlin's promise to pull out "several thousand" troops by March 15. The others could be used for troop transport after unloading their cargoes, officials said.

Central Intelligence Agency Director John A. McCone told a congressional committee Tuesday that "several" vessels were on their way to Cuba. Other officials said they understood four or five were en route and that this was enough to remove 8,000 of the 17,000 Soviet military men still there.

The White House and State Department continued to withhold official comment on the Kremlin note that promised withdrawal of "several" thousand troops. They apparently felt that premature declarations might embarrass Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and make it difficult for him to recall his troops.

Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, said as much in a Chicago speech Monday. He said he believed Khrushchev would bring the troops home unless Americans raised such a fuss that the Soviet leader would lose face.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk lunched Wednesday with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., one of the most vocal critics of administration Cuban policy, apparently to urge moderation until it becomes clear exactly how far Khrushchev will go in the troop pull-out.

Glenn Marks Orbit Flight Anniversary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Astronaut John Glenn celebrated the first anniversary Wednesday of his three orbits of the earth by presenting his Friendship 7 space capsule to the Smithsonian Institution.

The astronaut also presented to the institution the space suit and personal flight equipment he carried on the historic flight on Feb. 20, 1962. Glenn told Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a regent of the institution, that he wanted to donate the small American flag which he had carried in his space suit to the Smithsonian.

Glenn's parents,Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn Sr. of New Concord, Ohio; his wife Annie and his two children, Lynn and David, also attended the ceremony.

Labor To Help Get Out Vote

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders decided Wednesday to establish a nationwide system of voting overseers charged with insuring the greatest possible union member turnout at the polls in the 1964 elections.

The union chiefs approved a plan to name an agent or committee in each of the federation's approximately 60,000 affiliated local unions to conduct a continuing drive to make sure that union members, their wives, and adult children are registered and vote.

The decision was reached at an administrative meeting of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education — COPE, the federation's political action organization. It was stated that COPE operations ahead of the 1960 and 1962 elections were so successful they will be expanded on a permanent basis.

Writer, Actor Testify On Tax Cut Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whitebearded mystery writer Rex Stout told Congress on Wednesday a new tax plan for people whose earnings take big, sudden jumps would help encourage writers who may one day "make an important contribution to the American record."

And actor Ralph Bellamy said it would let people in show business make economic sense out of lives in which incomes bounce up and down—and sometimes stop altogether.

The actor and the author testified before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of President Kennedy's plan for an income-averaging provision for people whose income suddenly jumps far above their average earnings.

In effect, the proposal would let people whose earnings take a quick, substantial jump average the excess income over a five-year period for tax purposes.

The law shouldn't benefit only name writers, Stout said, but also the struggling young man or woman who is trying to establish himself.

Stout, president of the Authors League of America, told the committee that income from a book or play "although received in one year, may represent the result of writing done over several years. Concentrated in one year, it is taxed far more heavily than if it had been received proportionately over the period of the work that produced it."

Bellamy, president of Actors Equity Association, said people in his business of sharply fluctuating incomes cannot have a normal economic life under the present tax structure.

An actor's job can evaporate quickly with the closing of a Broadway show, Bellamy said, and "the process of job-hunting repeats itself and a long period of no income ensues."

He said actors face disproportionate taxation because of the jumps and dips in their earnings and their limited professional life spans.

Landslides Hit Parts Of Italy

LONDON (UPI) — Landslides wrecked dozens of buildings in Italy Wednesday, while one of the worst European winters of the century threatened to freeze the 157,000-square mile Baltic Sea.

More than 100 persons were homeless at Caposele, east of Naples, where 30 buildings were endangered and another 24 warehouses and workshops have partially collapsed because of the advancing sea of mud and rocks.

The Siberian cold wave, which began its sweep across Europe Dec. 23, has been blamed for nearly 1,700 deaths, including the 12 persons killed by landslides in Italy since Sunday.

Two Life Jackets From Sulphur Queen Found By Navymen

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Two life jackets stenciled "Sulphur Queen" were found Wednesday in the Atlantic, indicating that a 523-foot tanker which disappeared Feb. 2 with 39 men aboard may have met with disaster at sea.

The jackets and other debris were believed to be from the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen.

One of the jackets was located by a Navy torpedo retriever vessel and the second was picked up by a Coast Guard patrol vessel.

The recovery of the second jacket was reported by the Coast Guard searchers. The message was heard by Associated Press radio monitors.

The Navy vessel found the first jacket in the Gulf Stream 14 miles southeast of Key West. The Coast Guard did not give the location at which the second jacket was found.

An intensive search was launched for any possible survivors.

The tanker left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2 on a run to Norfolk, Va., carrying 15,000 tons of molten sulphur. At 8:25 p.m. the following day, a crewman sent a personal message giving her position as 230 miles southeast of New Orleans, La.

She was never heard from again, although she carried two high frequency radio transmitters with emergency batteries and also had a radiotelephone.

Until now, no debris, oil slick or other evidence of a tragedy had been found. Search planes flew more than 500 hours over the Gulf and Atlantic and the Coast Guard said, "We are undoubtedly looking for the remains of a sea disaster."

A Coast Guard vessel and a Navy destroyer escort, the Peterson, sped toward the area where the debris was found. A Coast Guard plane already in the air on a routine flight was diverted to start the aerial search.

The Marine Sulphur Queen's cargo was not considered dangerous. The vessel itself had recently passed inspections by the Coast Guard.

Capt. J. V. Fanning of Beaumont, a sailor of 30 years experience, was the master of the crew which included men from 14 states.

U.S. Offers Concessions On Test Ban

GENEVA (AP)—The U.S. government guardedly offered Wednesday to reduce its demand for eight on-site inspections in the Soviet Union if other arrangements in a treaty for a nuclear test ban are made foolproof.

William C. Foster, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator, carefully edged this proposal forward in the 17-nation disarmament conference in an effort to break the East-West deadlock.

He tried to draw a response from the Soviet side. But the Russians, who probably lacked instructions from Moscow, ignored the suggestion.

Instead Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov tried to shift the attention of the conference to cold war questions by exhuming a pet Moscow project, a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Warsaw Pact.

Later at a luncheon, Kuznetsov discussed the test ban problem with the leading negotiators for the West.

In addition to Foster, others present as guests of the Soviet delegate were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber Gen. E. L. N. Burns of Canada and Ambassador Francesco Cavalletti of Italy.

Kuznetsov recounted a long winded Russian fairy tale to his guests, the point of which seemed to be that if you asked for too much you ended up with nothing at all.

Shortly after the luncheon, Foster left for the United States to report to President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Loses Both Legs As Result Of School Bus-Truck Crash

WATERLOO, N.Y. (AP)—Debbie Marcuccilli complained that her pajama bottoms were too tight and asked, "Is part of my leg gone?"

Her parents affirmative reply brought a few tears from the pretty 7-year-old brunette who, at the moment, had not been told she also was minus her other leg.

Debbie lost much of her right leg last Wednesday in a school bus-tractor trailer collision. Doctors were unable to save the left leg and amputated it below the knee Monday.

Orazio Marcuccilli, 33, Deborah's unemployed father, said that Debbie complained about the pajamas being too tight after she had been placed in a wheel chair Tuesday.

When he and his wife, Sylvia, 29, told Debbie one leg was gone, she started whimpering, forgot about it and went to sleep, he said.

"Later on we told her both legs were gone," he said.

Debbie asked, "What am I going to do? How will I walk?"

Marcuccilli, who also has three sons, said Debbie was told she would be taken to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester and outfitted with artificial limbs.

"She took it good. She was happy about it," he said.

Debbie had been reported in critical condition but Wednesday officials at Taylor-Brown Memorial Hospital in this central New York village said her condition was satisfactory.

Marcuccilli said Debbie's greatest enjoyment was dancing. She had taken dancing lessons every week since she was 3 years old.

Venezuela Asks Return Of Pirates

Courts To Decide Fate; Plans Made To Reclaim Vessel

MACAPA, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities hoisted their green and yellow flag in token of custody over the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui in the muddy Amazon River here Wednesday and politely interned nine Venezuelan terrorists who seized the ship at sea.

The future of the disarmed pro-Communist band was uncertain. The ship will be returned to Venezuela.

The hijackers were transferred to the Brazilian corvette Solimoes for a 200-mile voyage to Belem where they will be treated as guests of Brazil until courts and diplomats settle their future.

Venezuela wants them returned to face trials and possible 10- to 15-year prison sentences. Brazil considers them political oppositionists who might qualify for asylum. Final decisions may rest with the Brazilian Supreme Court.

Transfer of the hijackers to the corvette marked the end of the freighter's eight-day role as a floating stage for the terrorists.

They had sought to dramatize with the vessel's seizure their war against the government of President Romulo Betancourt, who is visiting the United States as the guest of President Kennedy.

Brazilian officials said the original 35-man crew of the freighter will remain in Macapa for the time being. Two Venezuelan navy officers are en route to take over the vessel. Presumably, the crew will sail it home.

Brazilian forces took over the vessel Tuesday and disarmed the mutineers. Pilots sailed her to Macapa.

So. Viet Nam Troops Waging Fierce Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Government forces took revenge Wednesday on a crack Communist battalion believed to be the one that mauled their troops Jan. 2 in the bloodiest single battle of the Vietnamese war.

In day-long blistering air strikes and ground attacks, government forces claimed 50 guerrillas were killed near Bac Lieu, 120 miles southwest of Saigon.

Fighters and armed escort helicopters caught several large concentrations of Viet Cong in dry open rice fields and pounded them with rockets.

No government casualties were reported in any of several battalions lifted in by U.S. Army helicopters.

In the Jan. 2 battle of Ap Bac the Communists killed 68 government troops and three Americans, wounded about 110 government and 10 American troops and downed five U.S. helicopters.

Government forces also appear to be making inroads into Communist territory north of Saigon known as "D Zone." Ranger companies in the past week have wrecked Communist installations, destroyed ammunition and supplies and forced the guerrillas to keep moving. The main center of Viet Cong strength and its coordinating headquarters are believed to be somewhere in D Zone.

Saint's Bones Stolen

GENOA, Italy (UPI — Police said Wednesday that thieves broke into the church of St. Mary of Health during the night and stole the skull and bones of St. John, a 2nd century priest and martyr. The relics were found abandoned a short distance away and were restored to the church.

The actor and the author testified before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of President Kennedy's plan for an income-averaging provision for people whose income suddenly jumps far above their average earnings.

In effect, the proposal would let people whose earnings take a quick, substantial jump average the excess income over a five-year period for tax purposes.

The law shouldn't benefit only name writers, Stout said, but also the struggling young man or woman who is trying to establish himself.

Stout, president of the Authors League of America, told the committee that income from a book or play "although received in one year, may represent the result of writing done over several years. Concentrated in one year, it is taxed far more heavily than if it had been received proportionately over the period of the work that produced it."

Bellamy, president of Actors Equity Association, said people in his business of sharply fluctuating incomes cannot have a normal economic life under the present tax structure.

An actor's job can evaporate quickly with the closing of a Broadway show, Bellamy said, and "the process of job-hunting repeats itself and a long period of no income ensues."

He said actors face disproportionate taxation because of the jumps and dips in their earnings and their limited professional life spans.

Landslides Hit Parts Of Italy

LONDON (UPI) — Landslides wrecked dozens of buildings in Italy Wednesday, while one of the worst European winters of the century threatened to freeze the 157,000-square mile Baltic Sea.

More than 100 persons were homeless at Caposele, east of Naples, where 30 buildings were endangered and another 24 warehouses and workshops have partially collapsed because of the advancing sea of mud and rocks.

The Siberian cold wave, which began its sweep across Europe Dec. 23, has been blamed for nearly 1,700 deaths, including the 12 persons killed by landslides in Italy since Sunday.

Two Life Jackets From Sulphur Queen Found By Navymen

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Two life jackets stenciled "Sulphur Queen" were found Wednesday in the Atlantic, indicating that a 523-foot tanker which disappeared Feb. 2 with 39 men aboard may have met with disaster at sea.

The jackets and other debris were believed to be from the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen.

One of the jackets was located by a Navy torpedo retriever vessel and the second was picked up by a Coast Guard patrol vessel.

The recovery of the second jacket was reported by the Coast Guard searchers. The message was heard by Associated Press radio monitors.

The Navy vessel found the first jacket in the Gulf Stream 14 miles southeast of Key West. The Coast Guard did not give the location at which the second jacket was found.

An intensive search was launched for any possible survivors.

The tanker left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2 on a run to Norfolk, Va., carrying 15,000 tons of molten sulphur. At 8:25 p.m. the following day, a crewman sent a personal message giving her position as 230 miles southeast of New Orleans, La.

She was never heard from again, although she carried two high frequency radio transmitters with emergency batteries and also had a radiotelephone.

Until now, no debris, oil slick or other evidence of a tragedy had been found. Search planes flew more than 500 hours over the Gulf and Atlantic and the Coast Guard said, "We are undoubtedly looking for the remains of a sea disaster."

A Coast Guard vessel and a Navy destroyer escort, the Peterson, sped toward the area where the debris was found. A Coast Guard plane already in the air on a routine flight was diverted to start the aerial search.

The Marine Sulphur Queen's cargo was not considered dangerous. The vessel itself had recently passed inspections by the Coast Guard.

U.S. Offers Concessions On Test Ban

GENEVA (AP)—The U.S. government guardedly offered Wednesday to reduce its demand for eight on-site inspections in the Soviet Union if other arrangements in a treaty for a nuclear test ban are made foolproof.

William C. Foster, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator, carefully edged this proposal forward in the 17-nation disarmament conference in an effort to break the East-West deadlock.

He tried to draw a response from the Soviet side. But the Russians, who probably lacked instructions from Moscow, ignored the suggestion.

Instead Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov tried to shift the attention of the conference to cold war questions by exhuming a pet Moscow project, a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Warsaw Pact.

Later at a luncheon, Kuznetsov discussed the test ban problem with the leading negotiators for the West.

In addition to Foster, others present as guests of the Soviet delegate were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber Gen. E. L. N. Burns of Canada and Ambassador Francesco Cavalletti of Italy.

Kuznetsov recounted a long winded Russian fairy tale to his guests, the point of which seemed to be that if you asked for too much you ended up with nothing at all.

Shortly after the luncheon, Foster left for the United States to report to President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Venezuela Asks Return Of Pirates

Courts To Decide Fate; Plans Made To Reclaim Vessel

MACAPA, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities hoisted their green and yellow flag in token of custody over the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui in the muddy Amazon River here Wednesday and politely interned nine Venezuelan terrorists who seized the ship at sea.

The future of the disarmed pro-Communist band was uncertain. The ship will be returned to Venezuela.

The hijackers were transferred to the Brazilian corvette Solimoes for a 200-mile voyage to Belem where they will be treated as guests of Brazil until courts and diplomats settle their future.

Venezuela wants them returned to face trials and possible 10- to 15-year prison sentences. Brazil considers them political oppositionists who might qualify for asylum. Final decisions may rest with the Brazilian Supreme Court.

Transfer of the hijackers to the corvette marked the end of the freighter's eight-day role as a floating stage for the terrorists.

They had sought to dramatize with the vessel's seizure their war against the government of President Romulo Betancourt, who is visiting the United States as the guest of President Kennedy.

Brazilian officials said the original 35-man crew of the freighter will remain in Macapa for the time being. Two Venezuelan navy officers are en route to take over the vessel. Presumably, the crew will sail it home.

Brazilian forces took over the vessel Tuesday and disarmed the mutineers. Pilots sailed her to Macapa.

So. Viet Nam Troops Waging Fierce Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Government forces took revenge Wednesday on a crack Communist battalion believed to be the one that mauled their troops Jan. 2 in the bloodiest single battle of the Vietnamese war.

In day-long blistering air strikes and ground attacks, government forces claimed 50 guerrillas were killed near Bac Lieu, 120 miles southwest of Saigon.

Fighters and armed escort helicopters caught several large concentrations of Viet Cong in dry open rice fields and pounded them with rockets.

No government casualties were reported in any of several battalions lifted in by U.S. Army helicopters.

In the Jan. 2 battle of Ap Bac the Communists killed 68 government troops and three Americans, wounded about 110 government and 10 American troops and downed five U.S. helicopters.

Government forces also appear to be making inroads into Communist territory north of Saigon known as "D Zone." Ranger companies in the past week have wrecked Communist installations, destroyed ammunition and supplies and forced the guerrillas to keep moving. The main center of Viet Cong strength and its coordinating headquarters are believed to be somewhere in D Zone.

Saint's Bones Stolen

GENOA, Italy (UPI — Police said Wednesday that thieves broke into the church of St. Mary of Health during the night and stole the skull and bones of St. John, a 2nd century priest and martyr. The relics were found abandoned a short distance away and were restored to the church.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Loses Both Legs As Result Of School Bus-Truck Crash

WATERLOO, N.Y. (AP)—Debbie Marcuccilli complained that her pajama bottoms were too tight and asked, "Is part of my leg gone?"

Her parents affirmative reply brought a few tears from the pretty 7-year-old brunette who, at the moment, had not been told she also was minus her other leg.

Debbie lost much of her right leg last Wednesday in a school bus-tractor trailer collision. Doctors were unable to save the left leg and amputated it below the knee Monday.

Orazio Marcuccilli, 33, Deborah's unemployed father, said that Debbie complained about the pajamas being too tight after she had been placed in a wheel chair Tuesday.

When he and his wife, Sylvia, 29, told Debbie one leg was gone, she started whimpering, forgot about it and went to sleep, he said.

"Later on we told her both legs were gone," he said.

Debbie asked, "What am I going to do? How will I walk?"

Marcuccilli, who also has three sons, said Debbie was told she would be taken to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester and outfitted with artificial limbs.

"She took it good. She was happy about it," he said.

Debbie had been reported in critical condition but Wednesday officials at Taylor-Brown Memorial Hospital in this central New York village said her condition was satisfactory.

Marcuccilli said Debbie's greatest enjoyment was dancing. She had taken dancing lessons every weel since she was 3 years old.

News Coverage At White House To Be Curtailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House clamped tighter ground rules Wednesday on news coverage of presidential social events and will return to the format practiced by the Eisenhower administration.

The press secretary also desaid that from now on a pool of reporters will be permitted to view the arrival of guests and the Kennedy's and observe the receiving line.

But forbidden from now on will be the practice of the last two years in which reporters were allowed to cover social receptions from beginning to end and to mingle with the guests. At formal dinner parties, the press corps was allowed to cover the after-dinner entertainment in the East Room.

Salinger declined to give the reason for the change of rules. But other sources said that Mrs. Kennedy has wanted to bar reporters from mingling with guests on grounds their activities interfere with the social relaxation at the affairs.

Salinger was asked if the new policy was "part of the policy of managed news."

"I don't know what managed news is," he replied. "Nobody has ever defined this to me."

The press ecretary also declined comment on a complaint by Rep. Abner W. Sibal, R-Conn., who protested the new policy.

"The Kennedy's are not the owners of the White House," Sibal said. "The American people own it and are interested in who is being wined and dined there by the first family."

"This is 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, not Buckingham Palace," the GOP congressman continued. "The White House is not a private residence — it is the center of social entertainment for the entire nation. . .a shrine that belongs to all of us."

First indication that the social coverage would be changed came Tuesday when Mrs. Kennedy's secretary, Pamela Turnure, said there would be "limited" access for the press at a diplomatic corps reception Thursday.

Later, Miss Turnure said she had "misinterpreted" the situation.

Kennedys Fly To Florida Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his family will fly to Palm Beach, Fla. on Thursday night to spend the weekend at a borrowed oceanfront villa.

The President and his wife will begin their journey at 8 p.m., flying by helicopter from the south lawn of the White House to Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland where they will board the presidential jet transport. Daughter Caroline and son John Jr. will accompany them.

While in Palm Beach, the Kennedys will stay at the home of Col. C. M. Paul, about a mile south of the beach property occupied by the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Gov. Romney Plans Second Inauguration

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — Industrialist George Romney will be inaugurated as governor of Michigan Saturday—for a second time.

His first inauguration was at Lansing Jan. 1. His second will be in this city of 15,391 at the top of Lake Michigan—nearly as far from the state capital as is New York City.

On his final campaign swing, Romney promised voters of Michigan's normally Democratic Upper Peninsula that if they'd help elect him he would come back for a longer visit.

The Upper Peninsula gave Romney 9 of its 15 counties and a 2,666-vote margin. It invited the new governor to pick up his return-visit pledge.

Only one of Michigan's 66 governors—Case S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie—came from the 16,583 square miles of Michigan that lie above the Straits of Mackinac.

Editor Jean Worth of the Escanaba Daily Press and others suggested a second inaugural would fit in nicely with this city's centennial celebration. Romney approved.

Canaveral Of West Plans For Wars Of The Future

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third and last in a series on Vandenberg Air Force Base, mighty West Coast proving ground for space age weapons. The dispatch discusses the base's burgeoning role in America's military posture — both present and future.)

By DOUGLAS DILTZ
United Press International

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Observers believe this highly-classified missile proving ground may play a leading role in the coming era of "Buck Rogers" type space weapons.

Both scientists and military leaders have prophesied that the next arms race will be in the vast arena of space, and that it is most urgent to prepare for it. Strategists are turning their attention to the new realm of possible warfare.

The Air Force here will not speculate on this under its strict policy of secrecy which blacks out most information on space investigations.

But Vandenberg, since it now shapes the free world's men and rockets into an operational force, looms as the logical heir for developing future space weapons and possibly combat crews.

A new launch record was set in December, 1962, by Strategic Air Command (SAC) and Air Force systems command launch crews here—assisted by adjacent Point Arguello naval missile facility.

Many Records Set

Eleven ballistic missile and space launches, some of the latter top secret, were made during the closing days of last year to break previous launch totals.

During an 18-day period, there were six Air Force space launches, one Navy space probe using an Air Force booster and four Air Force ballistic missile firings.

The year 1962 established many new marks in all areas. The total of 74 ballistic missile and space launches almost matched the overall total of launches for the previous three years, from 1958 through 1961.

There were 80 launches from this "Cape Canavera of the West" during the years 1958 through 1961.

155 Launches Made

To date there has been more than 155 launches from Vandenberg and adjoining Point Arguello.

What is the difference between the "Cape" and Vandenberg? This is a question that confuses many laymen.

"At the cape, the Air Force explains, "flight characteristics of the missile itself are tested in a series of launches. At the same time Vandenberg prepares the vast amount of group support equipment which goes into the making of an operational weapons system.

"At Vandenberg our major task is to bring the Canaveral-tested missiles together for the first time with SAC crews, the operational launch emplacements and the ground support equipment.

"This enables us," the Air Force says, "to check the reaction time, accuracy and reliability of the total system under simulated combat conditions."

Future Dangers Cited

"Future space developments could threaten us with even greater dangers," warns Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, Air Force chief of staff.

Lemay said only recently that the threat could come not only from space-borne weapons, "but a whole new region of additional possibilities for aggression."

Lemay warns that military implications of control of outer space may be much greater than those that accompanied the swift evolution of the airplane.

In an effort to move ahead fast to meet the future, Vandenberg will be the scene of "many significant missile activities and other events" during 1963, says Maj. Gen. Joseph J. Preston, base commander.

He says SAC will accelerate the minuteman system, an instant intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), during 1963. Several firings of advanced Titan ICBM's also are scheduled.

'Batting Average Tops'

"Rapid strides are being taken in developing our missiles," Gen. Preston says.

At the same time the Air Force reports that Vandenberg is "way ahead of the game" in preparing men nd weapons for possible nuclear warfare.

"Our training program is going much better than expected," says Brig. Gen. Richard Hunziker, deputy commander of the 1st Aerospace Division.

"Our general batting average is tops, both in ICBM's and space, especially when you consider that it's been only five short years since the first spadeful of dirt was dug to start Vandenberg," Hunziker says.

Elizabeth Taylor Settles Suit For Husband Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor's $5-million damage suit over the plane crash death of her husband, Michael Todd, was settled today for $40,000.

Defendants in the suit were Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., owner of the plane; Trade-Ayer, Inc., and the Michael Todd Co., Inc., maintainers and controllers of the twin-engine aircraft.

Todd and three other persons were killed when their plane, en route from Burbank, Calif., to New York, crashed near Grants, N. M., March 22, 1958.

News Coverage At White House To Be Curtailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House clamped tighter ground rules Wednesday on news coverage of presidential social events and will return to the format practiced by the Eisenhower administration.

School Superintendent Says Return Of Paddle Would Curb Incorrigibles

CARL F. HANSEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The superintendent of Washington public schools asked Wednesday for two new weapons against troublemaking pupils—corporal punishment and expulsion of uncontrollable students under 16.

Supt. Carl F. Hansen said no widespread paddling of unruly youngsters was planned but added it was clear that the present ban against corporal punishment encouraged misbehavior for some children.

He also asked the district's Board of Education to permit expulsion of youths under 16 where their presence in class interfered with the education of other pupils.

At present, children between the ages of 7 and 16 can be expelled only if they are mentally or physically incapable of profiting from school attendance.

These were the key recommendations as Hansen made a point-by-point response to the board on the issues raised by a special committee's study of a Thanksgiving Day riot at a high school championship football game in D.C. Stadium.

Dr. Shane McCarthy, former head of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's council on Youth Fitness, headed the special committee.

McCarthy said in recent years the D.C. school system had been swamped by "the rapid growth in numbers of negro pupils, many with low mental ratings, coupled with increasing crowding of facilities."

Over 75 per cent of the puils in D.C. public schools are Negro.

The committee found a lack of control "over hoodlum elements in the school system" and said there was an atmosphere of lawlessness.

Vice Ring Smashed

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Police said Tuesday night they had rounded up 15 call girls, three madams, a male prostitute and a male procurer in a clampdown on a vice ring operating in this city. They said several of the arrested girls worked as secretaries during the day.

Pick Pickle Queen

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Pickle Packers Association has launched a search for a "cool pickle" who will reign as queen of the 16th annual National Pickle Week May 23-June 1.

Wheaton Bank Is Held Up By 2-Gun Bandit

WHEATON, Md. (AP)—A man armed with two pistols and wearing a stocking mask over his face held up the Metropolitan National Bank Wednesday and fled with about $10,000.

The gunman entered the bank about 11:40 a.m., and stood in the middle of the floor with the guns in hand. The bank's president, said he first thought it was someone clowning.

The banker said he knew otherwise when the bandit turned toward two tellers and made them turn money over to him.

While this was going on, Proudfoot said, an alarm went off and the bandit fled without getting anything from the bank's vault.

The man ran out the door and around the corner to a parked car and fled in it, bank personnel reported.

Acquisition Approved

MIAMI (UPI)—Shareholders of C.K.P. Developments, Inc. have approved the acquisition of Mackle Bros., Inc., a Florida home builder, for 250,000 shares of C.K.P. stock. The three Mackle brothers were named to the C.K.P. board of directors and Frank E. Mackle Jr., was elected president.

Sales Increase

LONDON (UPI)—The Dunlop Rubber Co. said Wednesday its sales of hot water bottles increased by 80 per cent last month—the coldest January in Britain in 120 years.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP—Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., expressed skepticism Wednesday about the reported withdrawal of Russian troops from Cuba.

Long likened the situation to "one of those February furniture sales which advertises one-third off after previously upping the price 50 per cent." He said the withdrawal could be confirmed "only after first-hand inspection, and not before."

"Until then," he said, "we can expect them to smuggle two soldiers into Cuba by submarine for every one they send home by surface vessel."

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank J. Pelz, 51, was sworn in Wednesday as sheriff of Baltimore City. He will serve out the term of the late Joseph C. Deegan, who died earlier this month.

Pelz, a law school graduate, took the oath in Baltimore Criminal Court, where he has been court clerk since 1947.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's Commission on Forests and Parks has rejected a suggestion from the Izaak Walton League that hunting be permitted in all state parks.

Joseph L. Kaylor, department director, noted that this already is permitted in state forests and two parks.

"Our parks are used all year said Kaylor. "Even at this season, there are Boy Scouts camping out in them. Many of the parks are located near communities and if we allow hunting in them, someone is liable to get hurt."

BALTIMORE (AP)—Louis Swimmer of Baltimore, manager and part owner of a hotel, said Wednesday that $55,800 in cash and jewelry was stolen from his home in a burglary Monday night.

Swimmer had listed $25,700 worth of jewelry and $700 in cash missing earlier, but added another $29,400 in stolen goods in a supplementary report to police. A $12,000 platinum bracelet was among the stolen goods.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. J Glenn Beall, R-Md., says America's first and only nuclear-powered merchant ship, the N. S. Savannah, is scheduled to visit Baltimore on May 22, Maritime Day.

A schedule of 35 visits has been worked out for the Savannah which is to begin the tour after she leaves a Galveston, Tex., shipyard early in May. The nuclear reactor of the ship is being modernized and improved at the shipyard.

Gets Control Interest

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Alcolac Chemical Corp. announced on Wednesday it has acquired a controlling interest in Guard Chemical Corp. of Ossining, N.Y., for an undisclosed amount of cash. Guard's sales in 1962 were about $400,000.

Art Collector Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Alan Wurtzburger, 62, Baltimore businessman and art collector, died at Johns Hopkins Hospital Wednesday after a long illness.

He had been active in commercial real estate until the time of his illness.

Quiet and modest, Wurtzburger was known in art circles for his collection of primitive art now on display at the Baltimore Museum of Art. The art treasures, along with modern sculpture at his estate in suburban Pikesville, were collected during worldwide travels with his wife, the former Janet E. Cohn of Cleveland, Ohio.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Wurtzburger served in the Navy during World War I. During World War II, he was with the Office of Price Administration in Baltimore.

At the time of his death, he had been invited to be a national director of the Washington Gallery of Art.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by a son, Jon Alan Wurtzburger, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Milch, both of Baltimore.

Mayor Enters Segregation Controversy In Baltimore

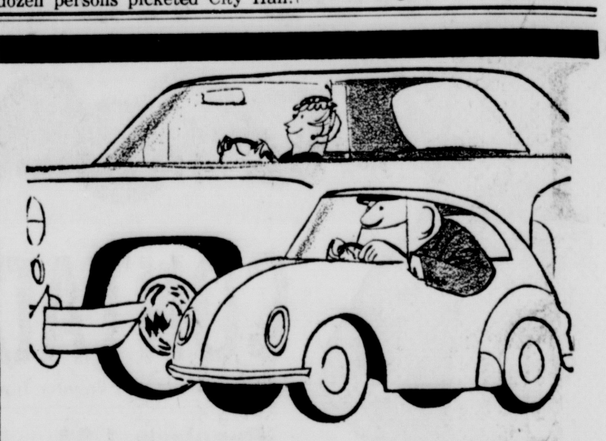

BALTIMORE (AP) — A noon meeting Wednesday between the mayor and the lawyer for a segregated movie house failed to open the theater's doors to Negroes.

And by mid-afternoon 65 pickets flanked the entrance to the Northwood Theater in the sixth day of anti-segregation demonstrations. Squads of police stood by.

At the same time, about two dozen persons picketed City Hall.

More than 300 students—most of them Negroes from nearby Morgan State College—have been arrested since the demonstrations began Friday.

Wednesday's meeting included Mayor Philip H. Goodman; Roland Walker, the theater's lawyer; Robert B. Watts, a lawyer for the students; and Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State College.

PPG Foundation To Select Scholarship Winner At Luncheon Next Week

Interviews to determine the winner from seven seniors from Allegany County high schools who are finalists competing for the PPG Foundation four-year scholarship will be held at the Cumberland plant Thursday, February 28, W. E. Dyck, Foundation agent and works manager for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's local facility, announced yesterday.

Finalists include Louise Costello and John Moffatt of Allegany High School, Edward Milbrada of LaSalle High School, David Kalbaugh and Dorothy Kohne of Bruce High School, Westernport; Terry Imhoff, St. Peter's High School, Westernport and John Warnick of Valley High School, Lonaconing.

All seven finalists qualified from among the 81 senior applicants representing high schools in Allegany County, by attaining the highest ratings on competitive tests evaluated by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Dyck revealed the finalists are to report to the North Branch plant for their interviews with the Foundation's three-member scholarship panel. A luncheon for the committee, scholarship finalists, high school administrators, press representatives, and company officials also will be held at the Cumberland Country Club.

The winner, who will receive a scholarship based on his or her financial needs, ranging from $250 to $1,500 annually, will be evaluated by the committee on academic records, principal's endorsement, motivation, leadership and other personality characteristics.

The finalist selected will be eligible to receive the Foundation Award provided he or she has not accepted or does not accept other scholarship assistance exceeding $125 yearly, including either government—or company-sponsored aid. Honorable mention awards of $25 U. S. Savings Bonds will be presented to other finalists interviewed by the scholarship committee.

The Foundation scholarship being offered here for the first time is open to male and female seniors graduating from any high school in Allegany County, and to children of employes of PPG Company's plant at Cumberland, or other company unit in Allegany County, regardless of where they attend high school.

Buffington Island, in Meigs County, is the only Civil War battle site on Ohio soil.

Local BPW Discusses Institute

The Maryland State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Institute, the Pittsburgh Symphony and state convention were discussed at the meeting of the Cumberland BPW, conducted by Miss Mary Jo Logsdon Tuesday evening at the YMCA.

Miss Logsdon will represent the local club at the one-day institute, to be held at the University of Maryland March 2 from 9 until 4 o'clock. Other members plan to attend. The purpose of the workshop is to provide participants with an opportunity to meet, listen to, and discuss with selected professors basic areas of knowledge in fields of social and human relations.

Speakers include Dr. C. Clinton Spivey, associate professor, industrial management at the university, who will discuss "Worker, Work and Manager." Dr. Rudolph E. Puiglese, associate director of the theatre at the university, will review, "The American Theatre in Its Darkest Hour."

The local BPW decided to sell tickets for the Pittsburgh Symphony concert here. They may be purchased from any member of the club.

Members also discussed the state convention, which will be held the first weekend in May in Hagerstown. Delegates will be named at the general meeting in March.

The Ladies Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran Church will hold a bake sale at the Miracle Mart, LaVale, Saturday at 1 o'clock.

Mae Howdyshell Honored At Pre-Nuptial Shower

Homemakers To Observe Anniversary

Twelve members of the Allegany County Homemakers Clubs will represent the county at the 25th anniversary celebration of the Maryland State Council of Homemakers' Clubs, which will be held today at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore.

They include Mrs. Irene MacDonald, Cumberland; and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Frostburg, who attended the first one; Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. John S. Cook Sr., Mrs. Paul Gilford, Mrs. Eleanor Snyder, Mrs. Roy Shryock, Mrs. Edgar Matthews, Rural Women's Short Course president; Miss Mary Wise, Allegany County home demonstration agent, Cumberland; Mrs. Adam Baer, county president; Mrs. Paul Rice, Frostburg; and Mrs. John T. Rowan, Westminster, formerly an Allegany County member.

Allegany County also will have three members receiving recognition as former council presidents. They are Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Wilson.

Recognition also will be paid to those participating in the organization meeting of the state council, and to many friends of home demonstration work.

Besides various educational features the program also will include a talk by Miss Eunice Heywood, director of the division of home economics, Federal Extension Service, USDA. Her topic is "A Life of Learning."

Beauticians Take Part In Md. Program

Allegany Unit 225 was honored as the first unit organized at the Maryland State Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association luncheon meeting held at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore, marking Beauty Salon Week, February 17-23. Mrs. Edna Morrissey, charter member of the Cumberland unit, was the artist and Mrs. Catherine Welton, model for a hair style and costume of 1931, when the unit was organized.

Miss Ann Pipping, Hagerstown, gave the history of the organization and how the seven units of the state formed, and introduced each. Hagerstown, 224, organized in 1937 was second; Baltimore 83, in 1945; Frederick 222 in 1948; Eastern Shore 223, 1950; Suburban 228, 1957.

muscular dystrophy which was under the chairmanship of Miss Louis Lumm, Hagerstown, who presented a check to Chester Phillips, Maryland regional chairman for muscular dystrophy. Betty Cox, the TV star, was a special guest. Speaking of her volunteer work at the Muscular Dystrophy Institute, New York, she told of the rehabilitation of the students who are being taught ceramics, typing and different crafts. She sang several selections with Miss Pauline Woods at the piano.

Other guests were Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of the treasury; and Mrs. Mabel Hershey, muscular dystrophy chairman of Maryland and in charge of the MD clinic at Johns Hopkins for the past 12 years. She told of the slight progress made in the treatment of the disease.

Ray Shipley, Baltimore president, led the group in the association prayer, and salute to the flag. "From These Roots" was the theme of the decorations by Joseph Pratino with palms and a large tree before which the unit models stood. Blue mums centered the luncheon tables, arranged for each unit. Ernest Bruka, Baltimore, presented a "High Fantasy" hairdo, 25 inches above the crown of the head. His model wore the diamond-shaped dress which was given to the Maryland association last year by Pennsylvania. The program also included a performance of magic by George Goebel, assisted by Mrs. Goebel.

The Maryland Styles Body, founded in 1955 with Mrs. Inez McMeach, director, presented "Fashions of 1963," which was a "Bell," a small head effect. Artists taking part were Virginia Doyle, a "Down Line"; Ruth Lee, "Up Line"; James Rice, formerly of Cumberland, "Summer Love" which was an "Up Line" and could be converted to a "Down Line" for daytime; Rickey Ricaro, "Bell Top"; Bud Wallace, "Carousel Bell;" Edward Hegar, "Romantic Flair" and Juanita Anderton, "Up Line." There also was a parade of all hairdos from 1931 to 1963.

Besides the two participating, others from here attending were Mrs. Virginia Nave and Mrs. Alberta Lindner. Henry Morrissey was a guest.

Physicians' Fund Drive For Hospital At $60,000

The Doctors' Division of the $500,000 drive to put the new Sacred Heart Hospital on Haystack Mountain is moving into high gear, according to Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the campaign, after a slow start due to the wave of winter illnesses that struck the area recently.

With a goal of $125,000, the doctors of the area have reached $60,000 to date, with Dr. William R. Wolverton and Dr. James G. Stegmaier, both surgeons, being the latest to join the ranks of givers in the $5,000-and-up bracket.

Dr. Giarritta reported for the doctors' committee at a meeting of the Healing and Mercy Division of the campaign yesterday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. The latter division is headed by U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Thomas B. Finan, Jr. and William H. Oburn. Ort said Captains and workers have answered the call to duty and have been "hitting the streets during the past week."

In other campaign activities, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employes were expected to kick off their in-plant campaign yesterday; Sacred Heart Hospital employes, who had a goal of $20,000, Tuesday passed the $23,000-mark in their campaign; and the Amcelle Employes Committee for Sacred Heart reports that it has achieved more than $19,000, or more than 75 percent of its $25,000 goal.

Captains and workers in the Healing and Mercy Division include Oburn, Mayor E. D. Chaney, C. William Gilchrist, G. L. Spoerl Sr., F. D. Steiding, G. M. Young, William C. Walsh, William Walsh, Milton Bernstein, R. Bowie, C. S. Catherman Jr., John L. Towler, James E. Coyle, John E. Geare, Arch Hutcheson, Robert P. Keech.

Fire Company Starts Fund Drive

The Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company started its annual fund drive Tuesday.

A spokesman for the organization said coin cards will be distributed to residents of the area between now and March 1.

The cards will be collected during the last week in June. Business establishments in the Bedford Road area will be contacted by firemen during the month of June.

Proceeds of the drive will be used to maintain the company's equipment. The spokesman said it is hoped enough money will be raised to complete payment on a new tank truck.

Bus Route Publication Is Backed

The Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, following a meeting yesterday, voted to report out favorably a house resolution calling for the Allegany County Board of Education to publicize new or expiring contracts for school bus routes.

Del. Charles M. See, delegation chairman, said the resolution would allow contractors to obtain bidding data from the school board.

He reported that a meeting was scheduled yesterday with representatives of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department in regards to a bill proposing a fire tax for that community.

Also discussed yesterday was retirement pay for teachers who retired a number of years ago and are getting small pensions.

Del. See reminded that the deadline for introducing legislation is March 12. He added that no bills have been requested by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, and he pointed out that in the 1964 legislature no local bills may be handled.

A letter was received from the Mayor and Council of Cumberland favoring House Resolution 32 which provides for additional revenues for urban renewal.

Increase Noted In Liquor Tax

Allegany and Garrett counties showed only slight gains in the amount it shared in the state's whisky tax revenue in the last six months of 1962.

A county's share of the liquor tax is determined by how many gallons are delivered there. It receives 50 cents for each gallon delivered and the state keeps $1 a gallon.

Allegany County had 80,189 gallons delivered and received $40,094.50, up .7 per cent from the same six months of 1961.

Garrett County received 6,862 gallons and received $3,431, up .34 per cent.

New Air Chief

LONDON (AP—Sir Charles Elworthy, 52, commander of the Royal Air Force in the Middle East, will take over as chief of the air staff in September. He will succeed Sir Thomas Pike,56.

22,000 New Auto Tags Arrive At Court House

A supply of 22,000 new auto license plates arrived yesterday at the Allegany County Court House and will be placed on sale in the near future, according to William B. Orndorff, county tax collector.

Orndorff said the tags this year are white with blue letters and numerals.

The letter series included in the 22,000 tag sets are DA, DB and DC.

Motorists who do not have liability insurance will be required to pay an additional $70 fee for their tags.

Persons who pay the $70 extra fee will receive a blue and white stamp which will be affixed to the back of their auto registration card.

The State Department of Motor Vehicles has announced that 1,700,000 applications will be mailed out in the near future to auto owners. As soon as these are received in Allegany County by motorists the new tags will go on sale, Orndorff stated.

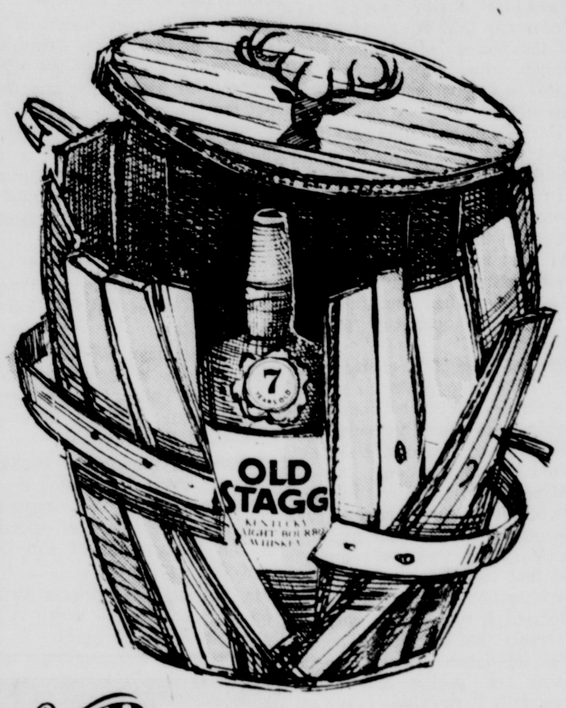

Students Accepted To Study Medicine

West Virginia University has accepted two area men for its third full 60-member class to study for doctor of medicine degrees in the university's Medical Center.

One is Bernard J. Long, Fort Ashby, who is attending WVU, and the other is James O. Fridley, Wardensville, who is enrolled at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Fire Company Starts Fund Drive

The Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company started its annual fund drive Tuesday.

A spokesman for the organization said coin cards will be distributed to residents of the area between now and March 1.

The cards will be collected during the last week in June. Business establishments in the Bedford Road area will be contacted by firemen during the month of June.

Proceeds of the drive will be used to maintain the company's equipment. The spokesman said it is hoped enough money will be raised to complete payment on a new tank truck.

Rutherford B. Hayes was the second of seven native sons of Ohio to become president.

Bus Route Publication Is Backed

The Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, following a meeting yesterday, voted to report out favorably a house resolution calling for the Allegany County Board of Education to publicize new or expiring contracts for school bus routes.

Del. Charles M. See, delegation chairman, said the resolution would allow contractors to obtain bidding data from the school board.

He reported that a meeting was scheduled yesterday with representatives of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department in regards to a bill proposing a fire tax for that community.

Also discussed yesterday was retirement pay for teachers who retired a number of years ago and are getting small pensions.

Del. See reminded that the deadline for introducing legislation is March 12. He added that no bills have been requested by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, and he pointed out that in the 1964 legislature no local bills may be handled.

A letter was received from the Mayor and Council of Cumberland favoring House Resolution 32 which provides for additional revenues for urban renewal.

Increase Noted In Liquor Tax

Allegany and Garrett counties showed only slight gains in the amount it shared in the state's whisky tax revenue in the last six months of 1962.

A county's share of the liquor tax is determined by how many gallons are delivered there. It receives 50 cents for each gallon delivered and the state keeps $1 a gallon.

Allegany County had 80,189 gallons delivered and received $40,094.50, up .7 per cent from the same six months of 1961.

22,000 New Auto Tags Arrive At Court House

A supply of 22,000 new auto license plates arrived yesterday at the Allegany County Court House and will be placed on sale in the near future, according to William B. Orndorff, county tax collector.

Orndorff said the tags this year are white with blue letters and numerals.

The letter series included in the 22,000 tag sets are DA, DB and DC.

Motorists who do not have liability insurance will be required to pay an additional $70 fee for their tags.

Persons who pay the $70 extra fee will receive a blue and white stamp which will be affixed to the back of their auto registration card.

The State Department of Motor Vehicles has announced that 1,700,000 applications will be mailed out in the near future to auto owners. As soon as these are received in Allegany County by motorists the new tags will go on sale, Orndorff stated.

Students Accepted To Study Medicine

West Virginia University has accepted two area men for its third full 60-member class to study for doctor of medicine degrees in the university's Medical Center.

One is Bernard J. Long, Fort Ashby, who is attending WVU, and the other is James O. Fridley, Wardensville, who is enrolled at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Redistricting Proposal Draws Fire Of Critics

By GORDON BEARD

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland League of Women Voters said Wednesday it would accept any of the eight congressional redistricting bills before the General Assembly except the one sponsored by the Tawes Administration.

Mrs. Fielding Ogburn of Silver Spring, legislative chairman of the league, told the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee the administration proposal "suffers the same population discrepancies as the 1961 bill." She was accompanied by about 60 other league members.

The General Assembly enacted a bill in 1961 which would have created Maryland's 8th Congressional District by taking Prince Georges and Howard counties from the 5th District.

The league led the drive which petitioned the bill to a statewide referendum last November, and the proposal was defeated 211,904 to 115,557.

Sets Standards

Because of the referendum, Maryland's newest congressman, Rep. Carlton Sickles, was elected at-large.

The administration bill now under consideration would create a "shoestring district" running through the middle of the state. It would include Carroll County from the 2nd District and Anne Arundel, Howard and Calvert from the 5th District.

The other three counties now in the 5th District—Prince Georges, Charles and St. Marys—would remain linked together as a separate district.

Sen. H. Winship Wheatley, D-Prince Georges, who introduced the administration bill, appeared before the committee in its behalf. He argued it would be impossible to satisfy everyone but contended the administration proposal was "the most practically obtainable."

Mrs. Ogburn said the league realized the difficulty of enacting a perfect bill, but urged that the districts be compact, contiguous and essentially equal in population.

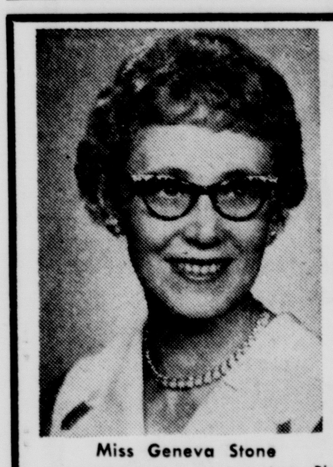

Cites Deviation

Based on the 1960 census figures, eight equal districts would average about 387,000 people. Mrs. Ogburn said the administration bill includes six districts with more than a 20 per cent deviation from the average.

Roland I. Perusse, of Bethesda, chairman of the Maryland Citizens Committee for Fair Congressional Redistricting, also criticized the administration proposal.

Perusse, a lecturer in government and politics at the University of Maryland, argued that the most important factor in redistricting is equal population.

The same argument was advanced by Sen. John A. Derr, R-Frederick, Sen. Gilbert Gude, R-Montgomery, and Del. Hervey G. Machen, D-Prince Georges—all of whom have sponsored redistricting measures.

Change Made Within SS Administration

The Social Security Administration has reorganized its Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, according to Walter R. Campbell, district manager.

Mr. Campbell said the words "Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance" will be removed from the door of the district office on Pershing Street, but this will not affect the services rendered by the local office.

The district manager said this merely reflects a reorganization of functions within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under which the old-age, survivors and disability insurance program is given top-level administrative status and is made the primary mission of the Social Security Administration.

Until now, the old-age, survivors and disability insurance program was administered by the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, one of several bureaus under the former Social Security Administration. The Bureau of Family Services and The Children's Bureau are now under a separate Welfare Administration.

Assembly Asked To Ban Easter Sale Of Chicks

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill aimed at prohibiting Easter sales of baby chicks, ducklings and rabbits—colored or in their natural state—was introduced Wednesday in the Maryland Legislature.

The bill sponsored by Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot, makes it a misdemeanor to sell at any time chickens and ducklings under three weeks old or rabbits under two months as pets, toys, premiums or novelties or to color, dye or stain them.

The measure would not prevent the sale of the rabbits and fowl in their natural color by breeders and stores engaged in commercial breeding.

Anyone convicted could be fined $25.

Everstine Hits Courts For Apportioning

By TOM SEPPY

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The director of Maryland's Department of Legislative Reference said Wednesday that the courts usurped the powers of the legislative branch when they ordered the states to reapportion their general assemblies.

Dr. Carl N. Everstine said, "any exercise of such power is unwarranted and undemocratic."

Dr. Royce Hanson, a college professor who led the fight to reapportion the House of Delegates and now is waging a war over Senate reapportionment disagreed.

He said, "when the states fail to act, it is necessary for the courts to act."

Hanson said the courts were vested with the power to protect a citizen's rights and they used those powers when they ruled that the Maryland House of Delegates should be reapportioned.

After a Supreme Court decision which held that lower courts could rule on reapportionment matters, the Maryland Court of Appeals held that there was an invidious discrimination in the House of Delegates. It suggested a program to correct that discrimination.

The legislature met in special session last spring and added temporarily 19 members to the 123 in the House. A permanent reapportionment plan is currently being studied.

Everstine and Hanson held their debate at the Maryland Churchmen's 2nd annual legislative session which was co-sponsored by the Maryland Council of Churches and the Methodist Board of Christian Social Concern.

B&O Elects Tuohy, Eaton

BALTIMORE (AP) — Walter J. Tuohy and Cyrus Eaton, president and chairman of the board, respectively, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, were named to the board of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Wednesday.

Other new board members, appointed by the president and directors of the B&O, are Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; John E. Kusik, senior vice president of the C&O, and John E. Motz, president of the Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Co. of Baltimore.

The Chesapeake and Ohio recently took control of the B&o, a step toward the eventual merger of the two railroads.

Eaton, Tuohy and Kusik were also appointed to serve on the executive committee of the B&O board, along with Charles E. Garland, James P. Nolan and Jervis Langdon, B&O president.

Kusik was elected vice president-finance of the B&O, Langdon said. He also reported that the board voted to change its regular meeting place from New York to Baltimore.

Jarman Tapped For New Term As MSP Head

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Carey Jarman was renominated Wednesday for his second full term as superintendent of State Police at a raise in pay from $10,200 to $14,000.

Dispatch of the 67-year-old Jarman's name to the Senate for confirmation officially ended speculation he might retire before starting another four-year term.

Jarman, a native of Chestertown, began his second tour of duty as head of the State Police in 1959. He previously had been superintendent from 1949-51.

The position of police superintendent was one of 21 to state boards and agencies submitted by Gov. Tawes to the Senate. He also asked confirmation of hundreds for magistrates, justices of peace, election and liquor supervisors in the counties and Baltimore City.

The list of general nominees was devoid of surprises or excitement.

There usually is more undercover bickering over the local appointments where the state senator is not satisfied with all recommended by the governor.

Such battles are fought in the secrecy of the Senate Committee on Executive Nominations which screens all before bringing them out for confirmation.

The statewide nominations requiring Senate confirmation are only a handful of the appointments available to the governor. Most of the best paying do not need Senate action.

The principal new nominee sent the Senate was Henry P. Turner of Easton for the Board of Parole and Probation.

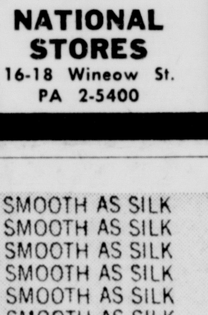

The post pays $7,500. Turner, who will have to resign as state's attorney of Talbot County if confirmed, would succeed Theodore J. Hahn of Baltimore.

Brewer L. Stouffer of Hagerstown also was nominated to a ranking position as associate member of the Board of Appeals for the Department of Employment Security.

He will succeed Carleton Pyles who resigned the job which is in the $6,000 a year bracket.

"Cooks Rings Around the Rest"

Buy Her An Electric Range
...and be her HERO

Wives who have had the good fortune of switching to a flameless electric range say it "cooks rings around the rest."

That's because automatic flameless electric cooking has a way with food like no other. Steak, for instance. Comes out broiled just right because radiant electric heat seals in the fine steak flavor and natural juices. Eggs, for instance. Come out fried the way everybody wants them because electric heat is so accurately controlled.

Wives have other reasons for liking electric cooking. They find it's more fun to cook electrically because it's so convenient, so dependable and the kitchen stays so cool. It's cleaner cooking, too, because there's no flame to tarnish pots and pans or to begrime walls and curtains.

Deaths And Funeral Notices In The Tri-State Area

JOHN R. DAYCHAK

John Robert Daychak, 52, of 118 Oak Street, died unexpectedly yesterday at home. He had been ill for a month.

A resident of Cumberland for the past 30 years, he was born July 7, 1910, in Duquesne, Pa., a son of the late Stephen and Mary (Girman) Daychak.

He was employed as a mechanic in textile engineering at the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Mr. Daychak was a veteran of World War II, having served with the Army.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, Fraternal Order of Eagles and Catholic War Veterans.

Surviving are his widow, Dorothy (Miller) Daychak, a daughter, Patricia Ann Daychak, at home; a brother, Stephen Daychak, Duquesne, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Ann Reddington, Duquesne.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

The rosary will be recited at the funeral home today at 7:30 p. m.

MRS. HOMER FLESHER

BAYARD — Mrs. Philippine Clara Flesher, 35, died Tuesday in University Hospital, Morgantown. Born in Gorman, Md., she was a daughter of Mrs. Agnes (Del Signore) Del Signore and the late Mike Del Signore.

Besides her mother she is survived by her husband, Homer Flesher; two sons, Homer and Dallas Flesher, at home; three brothers, James and Dominic Del Signore, Gorman and Gus Del Signore, Pittsburgh; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Watkins, Bayard, Rose Del Signore, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Elizabeth Edgar, Severna, Md.

The body is at the Leighton-Durst Funeral Home, Oakland.

Requiem mass will be celebrated Friday at 10 a. m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland and interment will be in Pope Cemetery, Bayard.

The rosary will be recited at the funeral home today at 7:30 p. m.

PETER PAMEPINTO

WESTERNPORT—Peter Pamepinto, 76, of 27 Oak Street, Piedmont, died Tuesday in Potomac Valley Hospital where he was admitted the day before.

A native of Sicily, Italy, he was a son of the late Vincent Pamepinto and Elizabeth (Michetti) Pamepinto. He came to this country 54 years ago.

He was a retired employe of the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company where he had been employed 27 years. He retired in 1953.

Mr. Pamepinto was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, and Star of Italy Lodge, Piedmont.

Surviving are his widow, Virginia (Caldrone), Pamepinto; three sons, James Pamepinto, Westernport, Charles Pamepinto, Washington, Joseph Pamepinto, Piedmont; three daughters, Mrs. Vincent Sacco, Ashland, Ohio, Mrs. Peter Mattaliano, Philippi, W. Va.; Mrs. Matthew Katalinch, Detroit; a brother, Joseph Pamepinto, Sicily, Italy; two sisters, Miss Lafalfronsa Pamepinto, and Miss Antonette, both living in Sicily, and 14 grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p. m. at the funeral home.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Buskirk Named To Draft Board

Millard E. Buskirk, 845 Gephart Drive, has been appointed an associate member of Local Board 29 of the Selective Service System.

Buskirk, local freight agent for the Western Maryland Railway Company, succeeds Ralph C. Beard on the board.

Beard served as chairman of Board 29 until he resigned due to ill health, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local boards.

Fahey said Board 29 met Monday at the Post Office Building and elected Thomas F. Conlon as its chairman. Russell C. Paupe is the secretary of the group.

OAKLAND — Freeman Howard Moats, 65, died yesterday in University Hospital, Baltimore, where he had been in ill health eight years.

Born at Aurora, W. Va., he was a son of the late John and Anne (Shipp) Moats. Mr. Moats was a retired employe of the Stanley-Kray Coal Company at Crellin and was a member of Crellin Assembly of God Church.

He is survived by his widow, Agnes Moats; two daughters, Mrs. Freda Moats, Crellin, and Mrs. Dorothy Moats, Kingwood, W. Va.; two sons, Benny Moats, Hutton, and Allen Moats, Cleveland, Tenn.; a brother, Adam Moats, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Maude McGinness, Newburg, W. Va., and Mrs. Florence Poling, Rowlesburg, and two half sisters, Miss Dessie Moats, Aurora, and Mrs. Ida Colder, Hutton.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home, but will be taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Freda Moats, Crellin.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at Crellin Assembly of God Church by Rev. J. C. Skipper and Rev. John Hammercheck. Burial will be in the Aurora Cemetery.

Minnesota comes from the Dakota Sioux word meaning "clouded or milky" water of the Minnesota River.

BAYARD — Mrs. Philippine Clara Flesher, 35, died Tuesday in University Hospital, Morgantown. Born in Gorman, Md., she was a daughter of Mrs. Agnes (Del Signore) Del Signore and the late Mike Del Signore.

Besides her mother she is survived by her husband, Homer Flesher; two sons, Homer and Dallas Flesher, at home; three brothers, James and Dominic Del Signore, Gorman and Gus Del Signore, Pittsburgh; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Watkins, Bayard, Rose Del Signore, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Elizabeth Edgar, Severna, Md.

The body is at the Leighton-Durst Funeral Home, Oakland.

Requiem mass will be celebrated Friday at 10 a. m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland and interment will be in Pope Cemetery, Bayard.

The rosary will be recited at the funeral home today at 7:30 p. m.

PETER PAMEPINTO

WESTERNPORT—Peter Pamepinto, 76, of 27 Oak Street, Piedmont, died Tuesday in Potomac Valley Hospital where he was admitted the day before.

A native of Sicily, Italy, he was a son of the late Vincent Pamepinto and Elizabeth (Michetti) Pamepinto. He came to this country 54 years ago.

He was a retired employe of the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company where he had been employed 27 years. He retired in 1953.

Mr. Pamepinto was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, and Star of Italy Lodge, Piedmont.

Surviving are his widow, Virginia (Caldrone), Pamepinto; three sons, James Pamepinto, Westernport, Charles Pamepinto, Washington, Joseph Pamepinto, Piedmont; three daughters, Mrs. Vincent Sacco, Ashland, Ohio, Mrs. Peter Mattaliano, Philippi, W. Va.; Mrs. Matthew Katalinch, Detroit; a brother, Joseph Pamepinto, Sicily, Italy; two sisters, Miss Lafalfronsa Pamepinto, and Miss Antonette, both living in Sicily, and 14 grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p. m. at the funeral home.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently said in your column you have never heard of dimples being produced surgically and that you got yours for a birthday present.

Well, yours may have been a gift but some women have to pay for theirs.

The Orientals consider the dimple a symbol of good luck. The poets of ancient China frequently associated this anatomical endowment with a pretty and happy face. The dimpled wife, they believed, brought contentment and good fortune to the family.

Many Malayan Chinese women insist that plastic surgeons create dimples in their faces. It has been done with considerable success.

I volunteer this information because I know you want to give your readers correct advice.

SINGAPORE

DEAR SINGAPORE: Thank you for the fine letter. I found the information fascinating. Dimples are rather nice to receive as a gift — but I certainly wouldn't go out and buy 'em.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The whining widow who wrote to you made me sick. She sits there with money in the bank, fat insurance policies, a paid-for home, solicitous relatives, and all she has to complain about is loneliness.

It's the divorcee not the widow who knows what real heartache is. How would she like my routine? I work at a newspaper from 7:30 a. m. until 4:00 p. m. After work I return to my dreary, shabbily furnished apartment to scrub, cook, wash, iron, and mend clothes. I attend school conferences, listen to the children's problems, discipline, pray for and worry about three youngsters who are growing up without a father.

Occasionally I accept a date thinking "this one will be different." But it never is. I always end up feeling degraded because most men think a divorcee will say yes to anything — as payment for a dinner or some dull conversation.

So please tell the widow who signed herself "Alone" that divorcees are alone, too, but that they have a myrtad of added problems which widows don't have. — TREADMILL.

DEAR TREADMILL: Your letter has some merit, but not every widow has a fat insurance policy, money in the bank, and a paid-for home. And not every divorcee is living in a shabby apartment. Sometimes it's the alimony-busted husbands who winds up in a rented room with naked light bulbs.

One thing is certain, however—the widow didn't have a choice.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To look trim in today's stretch sportswear, it's worth stretching the girdle-budget.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Figuring" Your Girdle Wardrobe

When you're ready to conduct that annual spring review of the foundation garments in your wardrobe, be ruthless! Don't stop at tossing out only the well-worn and stretched-out.

This time around, dispose forever of those pink-and-white elephants you've been saving to no purpose — those bad bargains that you bought without proper fitting, those items that have never really suited your figure type, your costume tastes or your accustomed modes of activity.

Completing this branch of spring cleaning should leave plenty of room in your dresser drawers for new foundation garments, the kind you need and definitely will use. And don't stint on replenishing your supply no matter how much your sense of thrift tempts you. An adequate foundation wardrobe is an investment, not an extravagence. Having enough changes to permit frequent laundering and to match the different requirements of your daily pursuits actually spares the wear in each garment, keeping it in better shape for longer service.

The classic count of two-girdles-and-two-bras (one for work, one for dress) is out, thanks to the demands of modern living and to the variety in modern foundation designs. Now you can add to the comfy roll-ons a wide range of support styles, corselet sheathes and panty-types from brief to leng-leg to give that trim look under slacks and other sportswear. There are girdles with tummy-tamers and high waists for controlling midriff bulge. There are regular, long-line and waist-clinching bras with garters attached; even strapless bras, once a summertime fancy, have achieved year-round status and give enough support for all but the heaviest bosums.

So, measure your figure, measure the cut of the clothes you wear, measure the many things you do, the many places you go. The sum of these factors will help you "figure" the precise quality and quantity your renewed foundation wardrobe should contain.

FIGURED FOR YOU gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper for FIGURED FOR YOU.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

(Copyright 1963. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited)

HOLLYWOOD — James B. Harris, who produced a hit in "Lolita" in spite of me, now comes up with another blockbuster he is sure will attract as much attention, "I Want My Mother." And the star Mr. H. wants is—Ingrid Bergman.

Harris is sure "Mother" will stir up as much talks as "Lolita" —and I'll not argue with him. It's about a 39-year-old mother of a 20-year-old son who does everything in her power to keep him tied to her apron strings. According to Harris, it's such a powerful role it could well lure Ingrid back to Hollywood to make it.

I asked if his "Lolita" partner, Stanley Kubrick, will direct this new venture. "No," he said, "Stanley is tied up in London making 'Dr. Strangelove' and will not be free for this."

"You can imagine how much I wanted Carol Lynley for 'Under The Yum Yum Tree,'" said Freddie Brisson, "when I agreed to accept her while she is still playing one of the leads in 'The Cardinal.' I went to Boston where they were on location to see her and to talk to Otto Preminger (producer of 'Cardinal') and we arranged that Carol will fly to Rome and New York for that picture, between the times she is not busy with me in 'Yum Yum Tree,' which will be made in Hollywood."

"You've got me dizzy trying to figure out how she will be in two places at the same time," I told Freddie.

"You know how much I think of her as an actress," he said.

They wouldn't have known at Universal that Susannah York was in Malaya if they hadn't tried to get her to come to Hollywood for the Academy Awards. But when Susannah, who is very British, was reached in London she said she was leaving in a day or two for the Malayan Peninsula to make "Malaya" with William Holden, and it was too far away for her to come all the way to Hollywood.

I thought Bill was in Mt. Kenya, Africa, with Ray Ryan, but in these days traveling to very remote places is just a matter of a few hours.

Susannah plays Freud's patient in the movie "Freud," and there was talk she had a good chance of being nominated for best supporting actress.

Venezuela's Oil Is Red Target

Seizure by communists and Castroites of the freighter Anzoategui on the Spanish Main may or may not have constituted piracy under international law. But the seizure is part of the continuing effort, strongly supported from Cuba if it did not in fact originate there, to overthrow the government of Venezuela. Much is heard these days about efforts of the Castro government to subvert other Latin governments.

To Venezuela these reports are not hearsay. President Romulo Betancourt has complained to the Organization of American States about assassination plots against him emanating from Cuba.

Venezuela is Communism's No. 1 target in Latin America. Obviously this is because Venezuela has oil. Moscow needs oil if it is to expand its "defensive" forces in Cuba.

So the assault on Venezuela is a clear case of a Communist effort to topple a popular government because the Communists want what that government possesses. Word was radioed from the Anzoategui that the seizure was an attempt to get world support for a "Venezuelan revolt." But the effect was just the opposite.

Both the Organization of American States and the U.S. should take drastic steps against the flagrant attempt, backed from Cuba, to overthrow the free government of Venezuela. This country cannot permit the huge oil resources of Venezuela to fall into the hands of Moscow.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Getting Most Out Of School

There is a great controversy brewing in educational circles these days about "breaking the grade barriers." Dr. Harry Anderson, a director of undergraduate studies in the School of Education of Boston University, has just issued a call for letting exceptional children move ahead of their more sluggish contemporaries at their own pace, studying such things as algebra and geometry in the early grades and otherwise "developing potential to the utmost." On the other hand, Dr. Frances Ilg of the Gesell Institute considers that practically all children tend to be pushed ahead too fast. "Overplacement," she says, "is far more frequent than underplacement."

I've listened to both Dr. Anderson and Dr. Ilg, and have noticed that both of them can support their contentions with statistics and case histories. When Dr. Ilg says that even "gifted" children, if forced to associate with those older than themselves, can encounter baffling emotional problems, I can believe that she is right. But what if all children, the "gifted" and the backward alike, were to be given successful instruction in reading and writing in kindergarten and pre-kindergarten years? They would then be in a position later on to move rapidly ahead as class units without worries about "breaking barriers" or being "over" or "under" placed.

I don't think I am being foolish in making this suggestion, for I have been keeping tabs for three years now on an experiment being conducted by Dr. Omar Khayyam Moore, a Yale sociologist, at the Hamden Hall Country Day School in Connecticut. Beginning with his own daughter Venn when she was 3 years old, Dr. Moore has been putting kindergarten and pre-kindergarten youngsters into quiet little booths where they have been allowed to play uninhibitedly with electric typewriters. When I first watched 3-year-olds and 4-year-olds pecking at keyboards back in 1961, the tests were interesting. The kids quickly got on to the fact that the marvelous electric "toy" in front of them had some purpose—and Dr. Moore and his wife stood ready to slip into a booth and give a curious child a lift towards spelling simple words like "cat" and "dog."

A year later I went back. The class of twenty had become a class of forty-five. The twenty pre-kindergarteners of the year before with nine school months behind them, were really rattling off meaningful sentences, doing first and second grade work at ages of 4 and 5. There was one pert youngster, Lisa W., who, if she had been in the kindergarten in any ordinary school, would have still been playing with blocks. Lisa was operating her electric typewriter by the touch system. With the typewriter keys painted red, green, white and purple, and with her fingernails decorated with matching colors, Lisa played a "game" of hitting the keys color for color. I watched her during her first session of copying out of a book without looking at the keyboard as she typed.

She made very few mistakes—although she confessed to her teacher that "some times I have to look at the keys." Then she read her "story" back to the teacher.

Just the other day I returned to watch Dr. Moore's pupils for a third annual checkup. The bright "I.Q.'s" were making phenomenal progress. Little Venn Moore, now 7 years old, and Jeffrey Batter, age 6, were editing a school paper, run off in Thermofax, which is published once a month. It contains stories—real stories—batted out on the electric typewriter by students who would have still been struggling with the alphabet and with simple sentences like "Oh, oh, see the dog," if they had not encountered Dr. Moore's methods.

There are many interesting things about Dr. Moore's school. To begin with, he has electric typewriters that "talk back" to the pupils, telling them, by means of ingenious electro-auditory hookups which I do not fully comprehend, when they make mistakes and when they have completed a word correctly. But the most enlightening thing of all was the fact that Dr. Moore had succeeded in taking a pre-kindergartener with an "I.Q." of 81, which is really on the low side, and had taught him to read and write at standard first grade level. He has other retardees who find the electric typewriter stimulating.

What is the general significance of Dr. Moore's experiment? Isn't it just possible that virtually our entire school population has been "underplaced" by keeping them in the sandbox until the age of 6?

Battle Over Finance Committee Size Ends In Setback For JFK

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—What appeared on the surface to be a small squabble over the size of the Senate Finance Committee was, in reality, a bitter backstage battle over tax cuts and reforms.

It ended up also as a sharp setback for President Kennedy, which may affect the taxpayers' pocketbook.

The President wanted to add two reform-minded Democrats, Senators Ed Long of Missouri and Steve Young of Ohio, to the finance committee. This would have given him two extra votes to keep the committee from emasculating his proposals.

But Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen, the syrupy-voiced Senator from Illinois, took personal charge of the tax opposition. He not only appointed himself to fill the Republican vacancy on the finance committee, but he served notice that he would fight the expansion move to the last ditch on the Senate floor.

"I've got 33 Republican votes, and I can get enough Southern Democrats to beat you," he informed Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield took up the threat with President Kennedy at a White House legislative conference earlier this month.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the dynamic Democratic whip, wanted to accept Dirksen's challenge and urged the President to use his influence to keep the Democrats in line.

"A little trouble in February is better than being defeated in September," Humphrey argued. Kennedy agreed.

But Mansfield later took a straw vote of Democratic Senators, which turned out less than encouraging. Georgia's influential Sen. Dick Russell threatened to swing the entire southern bloc of 18 votes against the committee expansion plan.

Losing Fight

Fearing a party-splitting fight, Mansfield, Russell, and Vice President Lyndon Johnson paid a secret call upon the President last week. They brought along Robert Baker, secretary to the Democrats, who had done the nose-counting for Mansfield.

They gave the President the results of the nose count and warned that a floor fight would end in certain defeat. Russell also promised that the southerners would not gang up with Republicans to block the President's tax bill, if the finance committee were left alone.

Next day, Mansfield met behind closed doors with the steering committee, which determines Democratic policy and hands out committee assignments to Democratic Senators.

He started off by reading a prepared statement which recalled it was his original suggestion to the President to enlarge the Senate Finance Committee. A poll had convinced him, however, that the plan would get only about 45 votes on the Senate floor.

Still reading, he moved that the finance committee be left at its present size.

Russell warned that any tampering with the committee would cause resentment, which would only increase the hazards for tax legislation. He also repeated his promise to the President that the southerners would not obstruct the bill.

The President's personal pal, Florida Sen. George Smathers, chimed in that the expansion plan would lay the Democrats wide open to accusations of "committee packing."

In the showdown vote, only Humphrey, Sen. Joe Clark of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Harrison Williams of New Jersey voted for the enlargement. Clark also cast the proxy of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois. They were defeated by a secret, 11-to-4 vote of the steering committee.

For President Kennedy, it was the loss of an important round in his fight for tax cuts.

Note—In order to take the Republican vacancy on the finance committee for himself, Dirksen had to sacrifice the powerful appropriations seat of his GOP colleague, New York Sen. Jacob Javits. Dirksen decided that Javits should make the sacrifice.

The Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee will accuse comic books and girlie magazines of promoting the traffic in mail-order guns.

An alarmingly high percentage of these cheap guns is going to people with police records, including juvenile delinquents.

Comic books often furnish helpful hints on how to make and use weapons. In addition to cheap guns, they also offer knives, whips, daggers.

A sword-cane riding crop, for example, is described as a "beautifully-made, hand-plaited genuine leather riding crop, with 18-inch dagger hidden inside. $5."

Most mail-order guns are handled by surplus dealers who buy their firearms abroad and do business out of A. P. O. box. Worst states for shady gun dealers: California, Illinois, New Jersey, New York, and North Carolina.

U. N. Cuban Aid Plan Raises Ire Of Congress

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Officials of the United Nations are disturbed over the widespread disapproval of that organization's project designed to aid Cuban agriculture. Criticism of the U.N. is being expressed in speeches in Congress by members of both parites.

The incident is significant because it brings to the forefront the difference between officials with a superstate concept and spokesmen for a single country like the United States, which happens nowadays to be footing most of the bill of the United Nations.

U.N. officials are quick to point out that the United States isn't paying any of the expense for the Cuban project itself, but they choose to ignore the fact that the U.N. is nevertheless taking a position decidely at variance with American policy in the "cold war."

It is pointed out on behalf of the U. N. that, out of $589 million for projects in 98 countries, less than $4 million are for projects which the United States has disapproved. Of the $585 million for approved projects, the countries aided have contributed lands and buildings valued at $343 million. Of the remaining $242 million, the United States has paid 40 per cent, or about $97 mililon.

This $97 million comes from American taxpayers. The projects are unquestionably helpful to the countries involved, but the United States is paying more than its proportionate share of the total.

The same thing is true, moreover, with reference to all U. N. expenses, particularly the cost of the Congo operations. These are largely paid for by the United States. The question asked here is whether the U. N. really wants American co-operation or whether the supranational philosophy of the U. N. staff is going to imperil such co-operation in the future and lose the help of the American Congress.

The argument of the U. N. officials is that their organization cannot be influenced by the national considerations of any country. Cuba, it is insisted, is a member of the U. N. and thus is entitled to all its privileges. But in answer to this, it may be said that the United States is also a member, with the full right to withhold funds for special projects that go for purposes which could defeat American foreign policies.

The point is made in U. N. circles that if a declaration of war existed between Cuba and the United States, this would immediately interrupt any fund-giving or the operations of the U. N. in any belligerent country. No state of war has, of course, been proclaimed. But U. N. officials overlook the existence of a "cold war" and the fact that billions of dollars are being spent to try to defeat Communist aggression and that American lives are being lost around the world in places like Vietnam in an effort to check the military operations of the Communists. Also, in the last few weeks, there has been revealed a military build-up in Cuba by the Soviets as a forerunner of possible aggression in Latin America.

When the U. N. becomes technical and insists that only a declaration of war can interrupt its help to the Castro regime, the American people, through their representatives in Congress, will also tend to become technical and will insist that no money be voted to the United Nations for projects anywhere under the auspices of the U. N. Our own so-called "foreign aid" program can take over all American assistance to foreign countries without channeling any of it through the U. N. At least the United States would then have some leverage in the situation and have something to say directly about where the projects will be launched.

The fact remains that the Soviet government has taken over Cuba by conquest from within. A people for whom American soldiers and sailors died a few decades ago, to liberate the island from Spain, have lost their independence. A base has been established in Cuba to take over other Latin-American countries. For the U. N. to give financial aid and comfort to the Communist government in Cuba is brazen indifference to President Kennedy's desire to "quarantine" the island and keep foreign shipping out. This is certainly not going to enhance the reputation of the U. N. inside the United States.

The American people perhaps have not given as much attention as they should to the constructive work that has been done by the special funds agency of the U. N., which indeed deserves encouragement. But the blunder in Cuba can only retard the continuance of such aid from the United States.

This controversy has not become a partisan matter in Congress Spokesmen for both political parties have criticized the U. N. action. Senator Frank Church of Idaho, Democrat, Chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is investigating the controversial U. N. project, points out that Cuba is in arrears in its regular dues payments to the U. N. He says the United States should have protested vigorously against the U. N.'s new project. He declares Cuba is a "special case" for U. N. consideration, because it is being used as a military base by Russia "in violation of the spirit of the U. N. charter."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAN'T BALANCE BUDGET—President Kennedy's big spending budget and his call for a deficit-creating tax cut reminded economy-minded legislators that the national debt now stands over $300 billion and it's still rising.

Some economists predict that even with the tax cut, designed to stimulate the economy, the next time the budget is balanced will be in 1972. In the interim, they predict the debt will rise by another $75 to $80 billion.

Most economists, in talking about the national debt, usually fail to mention that even this astronomic figure does not represent the full scale of the government's obligations.

There's another $80 billion or so which constitutes an "indirect" obligation on the government. It consists of various loans made on the Housing Program and others by private lenders, which are guaranteed by the government.

Of course, it doesn't show as a charge against the government at the present time because the loans are not being called. But it's there and a sharp recession could cost the government a pretty penny as it would have to make good on the guarantee.

Not only does the government continue to carry these guarantees, it is actually intensifying the program to guarantee more of such loans. In budget language, it is an effort to encourage private credit as a substitute for government lending. In cold fact, its critics charge, it is simply a way of financing government programs without the spending appearing on the deficit side of the ledger.

Diplomacy By TV

By John Crosby

PARIS

It's been a great year for diplomacy by television. In America, President Kennedy sat in his rocking chair and explained American objectives to the American voters, with such stunning charm and clarity that he got good notices from the Republicans, which is not easy. The rocking chair may very well be to television what the fireside was to radio.

Television put Kennedy in the White House and ever since he has tried to put everything on television. Presidential press conferences which were once considered far too explosive even for direct quotation were thus thrown open not only to direct quotation but to instantaneous direct quotation. Nothing has exploded yet.

More recently, the Administration has attempted to mould popular opinion and shape our not always manifest destiny by tossing on national television all those top secret CIA pictures of our aerial surveillance of Cuba. This is unprecedented. Up to now the only people who had access to our top secret files were our enemies who, of course, had microfilms of all that. But one never showed that sort of thing to the voters for fear of (a) confusing them or (b) enlightening them. Both are terribly dangerous.

But, while the Kennedy administration has been pursuing this adventurous new policy of putting things on television, our allies and our enemies — and it's getting increasingly difficult to tell them apart — are following that old and, I think, reactionary policy of taking things off television.

The Russians have tossed NBC out of Moscow, not for anything the Moscow correspondents had done, but because NBC had called Khrushchev an oaf, which was very rude of them. Some years ago, the French had tossed John Rich (actually, they made lift so uncomfortable he had to leave, the French being too subtle for direct tossing) out of Paris not for anything he'd said or written in Paris, but for a talk he'd made at a private party in New York.

Diplomacy by TV cancellation is spreading. The French made a documentary of Stalingrad (Volgagrad, my foot!). This interview with Khrushchev, which the French didn't expect or want, turned into a diatribe against modern Germany, and since the French had agreed to use all or none, they used none.

More recently, ABC asked the French to explain French policy, no easy task these days, and gave Alain Peyrifitte, French Information Minister, carte blanche to say what he liked. That was cancelled too. The French have decided silence is their best diplomatic weapon at this juncture, that anything they say will be misunderstood.

And of course, they're right. But silence can breed just as much misunderstanding as talking and a different and more virulent kind of misunderstanding. And anyhow, I don't think the French are afraid of being misunderstood. I think they're afraid we understand them already too well. If there's anything worse than being misunderstood, it's being understood.

We could retaliate, of course, by tossing out a Russian TV correspondent or cancelling a French TV show, if there are any such but it would be very unwise. Our own policy of diplomacy by putting things on television is much more subtle and damaging than diplomacy by taking things off television.

In fact, rather than cancel a French television show, we might just schedule a French TV show on American television. That would fix the French. We could start with "The Anglo-Saxons," a French TV show that was so anti-British and anti-American that a French journalist here said it reminded him of the sort of thing one heard during the Nazi occupation.

And instead of tossing Russians out, let's invite some more in. After all, a Russian writer just gave the country pretty high marks after a tour of the country. Or, if we really want to baffle the Russians, we might just declassify everything in the CIA files and say, "Fellows, here it is. Take it." Russian intelligence would be at least as confused as our own National Security Council which authorized the Bay of Pigs fiasco on the basis of all that misinformation.

For confounding your allies and/or your enemies, diplomacy by too much television beats diplomacy by cancellation all hollow.

Engineer Develops Aid For Paralyzed Wife

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A British engineer made life more pleasant for his paralyzed wife by designing an electro-mechanical unit for the remote control of many electrical gadgets in the room. It is called the Selectascan and is controled by a microsyitch located near her mouth. This woman had polio six years ago and is confined to a cabinet respirator because of severe paralysis.

Now she can ring bells, and turn on and off lights, electric fan, and heater. She has full control of her wireless, tape recorder, record player, television set, telephone, and intercom system and has been able to write a book, using the tape recorder. The microswitch is connected to her mirror, allowing her to see all about the room, including the activities of her family and friends.

This type of equipment is expensive but lessens the frustration of being alone and dependent upon others for very little thing.

Watching an exciting football game gives the heart a workout. Dr. Kenneth Rose of the Nebraska University Medical School made electrocardiograms of a spectator during the Missouri-Nebraska game. The pulse increased from 75 to 145 beats per minute during a pass interception.

The American Diabetic Association urges diabetics to keep a two month supply of insulin or oral hypoglycemic tablets on hand at all times. They also should store enough canned foods, dry cereals, and powdered milk to permit them to follow their prescribed diet.

Why? Many diabetics would be trapped by their disease if a nuclear war occurred and they had no medication. Those requiring large amounts of insulin might survive all the bullets and bombs but might not live 10 days without this extract. And this is not a small problem considering there are 2½ million diabetics in this country.

COLD HANDS

M. T. writes: I am 15 years old and am always bothered with cold hands, especially when I'm active or nervous. Why is this?

REPLY

The small blood vessels of the hands and feet are under the control of the sympathetic nervous system. When these nerves are irritable, the blood vessels constrict and the skin becomes cold. The phenomenon is seen most frequently in the high-strung and in those with low metabolism.

STOMACH GROWLING

L. W. writes: I frequently am embarrassed by my grumbling and growling stomach. What can I do about these noises?

REPLY

These sounds are more noticeable when the stomach is empty and eating often helps. Meanwhile, pass off the sounds as a joke or pay no attention because the persons nearest you may think their stomachs are growling.

BANDS FROM OVERSTRETCHING

Mrs. B. writes: What caused white lines to appear on my thighs?

REPLY

Striae are most likely to occur when the skin has been overstretched and then returns to normal. This may follow pregnancy or reducing but occasionally the condition is on a glandular basis.

SHAPE OF RINGWORM

M. S. writes: Are all ringworms round?

REPLY

No—nor are they worms but fungi that produce infections such as athlete's foot and barber's itch. Some of these lesions present a circular appearance, which may have suggested the prefix "ring."

TOMORROW: Multiple cold viruses.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

I've often been asked what contestant, of all the thousands I've encountered on the TV panel show, "What's My Line?" I remember most clearly. Without any question, it was a chap who worked at one of New York's summer vacation centers. No sooner had we guessed his occupation and shaken hands with him than we walked into the arms of six cops who were waiting for him in the wings.

It developed that the misguided lad was wanted in six different states for stealing automobiles. The minute his face was reproduced on the TV screen, every police station in New York was altered and went into action!

Another contestant we "What's My Line" panelists will not forget in a hurry was a darling old lady who was a "cow washer." Yes, she washed cows at a big dairy in New Jersey. We missed her occupation by the proverbial mile.

What is worse, they brought her back to face us once more three years later — and we missed her all over again!

Allan King asked a veteran judge, "How do you usually decide a case?" The judge answered, "First, I read the facts of the case. Then I listen to the plaintiff. Then I render my verdict." "Don't you listen to the defendant, too?" demanded the astonished Mr. King. "Never," insisted the judge. "That would get me all mixed up."

'You're Destroying The Bipartisan Effect'

Venezuela's Oil Is Red Target

Seizure by communists and Castroites of the freighter Anzoategui on the Spanish Main may or may not have constituted piracy under international law. But the seizure is part of the continuing effort, strongly supported from Cuba if it did not in fact originate there, to overthrow the government of Venezuela. Much is heard these days about efforts of the Castro government to subvert other Latin governments.

To Venezuela these reports are not hearsay. President Romulo Betancourt has complained to the Organization of American States about assassination plots against him emanating from Cuba.

Venezuela is Communism's No. 1 target in Latin America. Obviously this is because Venezuela has oil. Moscow needs oil if it is to expand its "defensive" forces in Cuba.

So the assault on Venezuela is a clear case of a Communist effort to topple a popular government because the Communists want what that government possesses. Word was radioed from the Anzoategui that the seizure was an attempt to get world support for a "Venezuelan revolt." But the effect was just the opposite.

Both the Organization of American States and the U.S. should take drastic steps against the flagrant attempt, backed from Cuba, to overthrow the free government of Venezuela. This country cannot permit the huge oil resources of Venezuela to fall into the hands of Moscow.

These Days

Getting Most Out Of School

There is a great controversy brewing in educational circles these days about "breaking the grade barriers." Dr. Harry Anderson, a director of undergraduate studies in the School of Education of Boston University, has just issued a call for letting exceptional children move ahead of their more sluggish contemporaries at their own pace, studying such things as algebra and geometry in the early grades and otherwise "developing potential to the utmost." On the other hand, Dr. Frances Ilg of the Gesell Institute considers that practically all children tend to be pushed ahead too fast. "Overplacement," she says, "is far more frequent than underplacement."

I've listened to both Dr. Anderson and Dr. Ilg, and have noticed that both of them can support their contentions with statistics and case histories. When Dr. Ilg says that even "gifted" children, if forced to associate with those older than themselves, can encounter baffling emotional problems, I can believe that she is right. But what if all children, the "gifted" and the backward alike, were to be given successful instruction in reading and writing in kindergarten and pre-kindergarten years? They would then be in a position later on to move rapidly ahead as class units without worries about "breaking barriers" or being "over" or "under" placed.

I don't think I am being foolish in making this suggestion, for I have been keeping tabs for three years now on an experiment being conducted by Dr. Omar Khayyam Moore, a Yale sociologist, at the Hamden Hall Country Day School in Connecticut. Beginning with his own daughter Venn when she was 3 years old, Dr. Moore has been putting kindergarten and pre-kindergarten youngsters into quiet little booths where they have been allowed to play uninhibitedly with electric typewriters. When I first watched 3-year-olds and 4-year-olds pecking at keyboards back in 1961, the tests were interesting. The kids quickly got on to the fact that the marvelous electric "toy" in front of them had some purpose—and Dr. Moore and his wife stood ready to slip into a booth and give a curious child a lift towards spelling simple words like "cat" and "dog."

A year later I went back. The class of twenty had become a class of forty-five. The twenty pre-kindergarteners of the year before with nine school months behind them, were really rattling off meaningful sentences, doing first and second grade work at ages of 4 and 5. There was one pert youngster, Lisa W., who, if she had been in the kindergarten in any ordinary school, would have still been playing with blocks. Lisa was operating her electric typewriter by the touch system. With the typewriter keys painted red, green, white and purple, and with her fingernails decorated with matching colors, Lisa played a "game" of hitting the keys color for color. I watched her during her first session of copying out of a book without looking at the keyboard as she typed.

She made very few mistakes—although she confessed to her teacher that "some times I have to look at the keys." Then she read her "story" back to the teacher.

Just the other day I returned to watch Dr. Moore's pupils for a third annual checkup. The bright "I.Q.'s" were making phenomenal progress. Little Venn Moore, now 7 years old, and Jeffrey Batter, age 6, were editing a school paper, run off in Thermofax, which is published once a month. It contains stories—real stories—batted out on the electric typewriter by students who would have still been struggling with the alphabet and with simple sentences like "Oh, oh, see the dog," if they had not encountered Dr. Moore's methods.

There are many interesting things about Dr. Moore's school. To begin with, he has electric typewriters that "talk back" to the pupils, telling them, by means of ingenious electro-auditory hookups which I do not fully comprehend, when they make mistakes and when they have completed a word correctly. But the most enlightening thing of all was the fact that Dr Moore had succeeded in taking a pre-kindergartener with an "I.Q." of 81, which is really on the low side, and had taught him to read and write at standard first grade level. He has other retardees who find the electric typewriter stimulating.

What is the general significance of Dr. Moore's experiment? Isn't it just possible that virtually our entire school population has been "underplaced" by keeping them in the sandbox until the age of 6?

N. Our own so-called "foreign aid" program can take over all American assistance to foreign countries without channeling any of it through the U. N. At least the United States would then have some leverage in the situation and have something to say directly about where the projects will be launched.

The fact remains that the Soviet government has taken over Cuba by conquest from within. A people for whom American soldiers and sailors died a few decades ago, to liberate the island from Spain, have lost their independence. A base has been established in Cuba to take over other Latin-American countries. For the U. N. to give financial aid and comfort to the Communist government in Cuba is brazen indifference to President Kennedy's desire to "quarantine" the island and keep foreign shipping out. This is certainly not going to enhance the reputation of the U. N. inside the United States.

The American people perhaps have not given as much attention as they should to the constructive work that has been done by the special funds agency of the U. N., which indeed deserves encouragement. But the blunder in Cuba can only retard the continuance of such aid from the United States.

This controversy has not become a partisan matter in Congress Spokesmen for both political parties have criticized the U. N. action. Senator Frank Church of Idaho, Democrat, Chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is investigating the controversial U. N. project, points out that Cuba is in arrears in its regular dues payments to the U. N. He says the United States should have protested vigorously against the U. N.'s new project. He declares Cuba is a "special case" for U. N. consideration, because it is being used as a military base by Russia "in violation of the spirit of the U. N. charter."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CAN'T BALANCE BUDGET—President Kennedy's big spending budget and his call for a deficit-creating tax cut reminded economy-minded legislators that the national debt now stands over $300 billion and it's still rising.

Some economists predict that even with the tax cut, designed to stimulate the economy, the next time the budget is balanced will be in 1972. In the interim, they predict the debt will rise by another $75 to $80 billion.

Most economists, in talking about the national debt, usually fail to mention that even this astronomic figure does not represent the full scale of the government's obligations.

There's another $80 billion or so which constitutes an "indirect" obligation on the government. It consists of various loans made on the Housing Program and others by private lenders, which are guaranteed by the government.

Of course, it doesn't show as a charge against the government at the present time because the loans are not being called. But it's there and a sharp recession could cost the government a pretty penny as it would have to make good on the guarantee.

Not only does the government continue to carry these guarantees, it is actually intensifying the program to guarantee more of such loans. In budget language, it is an effort to encourage private credit as a substitute for government lending. In cold fact, its critics charge, it is simply a way of financing government programs without the spending appearing on the deficit side of the ledger.

Engineer Develops Aid For Paralyzed Wife

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A British engineer made life more pleasant for his paralyzed wife by designing an electro-mechanical unit for the remote control of many electrical gadgets in the room. It is called the Selectascan and is controled by a microsyitch located near her mouth. This woman had polio six years ago and is confined to a cabinet respirator because of severe paralysis.

Now she can ring bells, and turn on and off lights, electric fan, and heater. She has full control of her wireless, tape recorder, record player, television set, telephone, and intercom system and has been able to write a book, using the tape recorder. The microswitch is connected to her mirror, allowing her to see all about the room, including the activities of her family and friends.

This type of equipment is expensive but lessens the frustration of being alone and dependent upon others for very little thing.

Watching an exciting football game gives the heart a workout. Dr. Kenneth Rose of the Nebraska University Medical School made electrocardiograms of a spectator during the Missouri-Nebraska game. The pulse increased from 75 to 145 beats per minute during a pass interception.

The American Diabetic Association urges diabetics to keep a two month supply of insulin or oral hypoglycemic tablets on hand at all times. They also should store enough canned foods, dry cereals, and powdered milk to permit them to follow their prescribed diet.

Why? Many diabetics would be trapped by their disease if a nuclear war occurred and they had no medication. Those requiring large amounts of insulin might survive all the bullets and bombs but might not live 10 days without this extract. And this is not a small problem considering there are 2½ million diabetics in this country.

COLD HANDS

M. T. writes: I am 15 years old and am always bothered with cold hands, especially when I'm active or nervous. Why is this?

REPLY

The small blood vessels of the hands and feet are under the control of the sympathetic nervous system. When these nerves are irritable, the blood vessels constrict and the skin becomes cold. The phenomenon is seen most frequently in the high-strung and in those with low metabolism.

STOMACH GROWLING

L. W. writes: I frequently am embarrassed by my grumbling and growling stomach. What can I do about these noises?

REPLY

These sounds are more noticeable when the stomach is empty and eating often helps. Meanwhile, pass off the sounds as a joke or pay no attention because the persons nearest you may think their stomachs are growling.

BANDS FROM OVERSTRETCHING

Mrs. B. writes: What caused white lines to appear on my thighs?

REPLY

Striae are most likely to occur when the skin has been overstretched and then returns to normal. This may follow pregnancy or reducing but occasionally the condition is on a glandular basis.

SHAPE OF RINGWORM

M. S. writes: Are all ringworms round?

REPLY

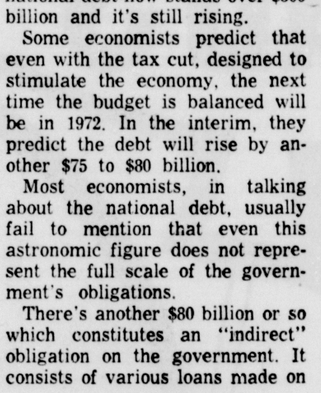

No—nor are they worms but fungi that produce infections such as athlete's foot and barber's itch. Some of these lesions present a circular appearance, which may have suggested the prefix "ring."

TOMORROW: Multiple cold viruses.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

I've often been asked what contestant, of all the thousands I've encountered on the TV panel show, "What's My Line?" I remember most clearly. Without any question, it was a chap who worked at one of New York's summer vacation centers. No sooner had we guessed his occupation and shaken hands with him than we walked into the arms of six cops who were waiting for him in the wings.

It developed that the misguided lad was wanted in six different states for stealing automobiles. The minute his face was reproduced on the TV screen, every police station in New York was altered and went into action!

Another contestant we "What's My Line" panelists will not forget in a hurry was a darling old lady who was a "cow washer." Yes, she washed cows at a big dairy in New Jersey. We missed her occupation by the proverbial mile.

What is worse, they brought her back to face us once more three years later -- and we missed her all over again!

Allan King asked a veteran judge, "How do you usually decide a case?" The judge answered, "First, I read the facts of the case. Then I listen to the plaintiff. Then I render my verdict." "Don't you listen to the defendant, too?" demanded the astonished Mr. King. "Never," insisted the judge. "That would get me all mixed up."

Diplomacy By TV

PARIS

It's been a great year for diplomacy by television. In America, President Kennedy sat in his rocking chair and explained American objectives to the American voters, with such stunning charm and clarity that he got good notices from the Republicans, which is not easy. The rocking chair may very well be to television what the fireside was to radio.

Television put Kennedy in the White House and ever since he has tried to put everything on television. Presidential press conferences which were once considered far too explosive even for direct quotation were thus thrown open not only to direct quotation but to instantaneous direct quotation. Nothing has exploded yet.

More recently, the Administration has attempted to mould popular opinion and shape our not always manifest destiny by tossing on national television all those top secret CIA pictures of our aerial surveillance of Cuba. This is unprecedented. Up to now the only people who had access to our top secret files were our enemies who, of course, had microfilms of all that. But one never showed that sort of thing to the voters for fear of (a) confusing them or (b) enlightening them. Both are terribly dangerous.

But, while the Kennedy administration has been pursuing this adventurous new policy of putting things on television, our allies and our enemies — and it's getting increasingly difficult to tell them apart — are following that old and, I think, reactionary policy of taking things off television.

The Russians have tossed NBC out of Moscow, not for anything the Moscow correspondents had done, but because NBC had called Khrushchev an oaf, which was very rude of them. Some years ago, the French had tossed John Rich (actually, they made lift so uncomfortable he had to leave, the French being too subtle for direct tossing) out of Paris not for anything he'd said or written in Paris, but for a talk he'd made at a private party in New York.

Diplomacy by TV cancellation is spreading. The French made a documentary of Stalingrad (Volgagrad, my foot!). This interview with Khrushchev, which the French didn't expect or want, turned into a diatribe against modern Germany, and since the French had agreed to use all or none, they used none.

More recently, ABC asked the French to explain French policy, no easy task these days, and gave Alain Peyrifitte, French Information Minister, carte blanche to say what he liked. That was cancelled too. The French have decided silence is their best diplomatic weapon at this juncture, that anything they say will be misunderstood.

And of course, they're right. But silence can breed just as much misunderstanding as talking and a different and more virulent kind of misunderstanding. And anyhow, I don't think the French are afraid of being misunderstood. I think they're afraid we understand them already too well. If there's anything worse than being misunderstood, it's being understood.

We could retaliate, of course, by tossing out a Russian TV correspondent or cancelling a French TV show, if there are any such but it would be very unwise. Our own policy of diplomacy by putting things on television is much more subtle and damaging than diplomacy by taking things off television.

In fact, rather than cancel a French television show, we might just schedule a French TV show on American television. That would fix the French. We could start with "The Anglo-Saxons," a French TV show that was so anti-British and anti-American that a French journalist here said it reminded him of the sort of thing one heard during the Nazi occupation.

And instead of tossing Russians out, let's invite some more in. After all, a Russian writer just gave the country pretty high marks after a tour of the country. Or, if we really want to baffle the Russians, we might just declassify everything in the CIA files and say, "Fellows, here it is. Take it." Russian intelligence would be at least as confused as our own National Security Council which authorized the Bay of Pigs fiasco on the basis of all that misinformation.

For confounding your allies and/or your enemies, diplomacy by too much television beats diplomacy by cancellation all hollow.

New Addition To Mennonite Home Planned

Contract Goes To Grantsville Firm

GRANTSVILLE — The construction of a new one-story addition to the Goodwill Mennonite Home Inc. near Grantsville, which will provide accomodations for an additional 15 beds, a new centralized nurses' station, drug room and spacious lounge, is expected to begin as soon as the weather permits.

The present facility, which is licensed to care for 26 people, is filled to capacity and "unable to meet the needs of the community," said Nevin A. Beachy, administrator.

The nursing home, open to persons of all faiths, is located a mile north of Grantsville on the Dorsey Hotel Road, according to the administrator who said the new addition should be ready for occupancy late this summer.

The Board of Trustees has announced that the Olin Rembold Construction Company, RD 1, Grantsville, has been awarded the contract for the project which will provide private and semi-private bedrooms.

The home, said Mr. Beachy, has a "Class A" Nursing Home rating by the Maryland State Department of Health and is a member of Maryland Nursing Home Association and American Nursing Home Association.

Mr. Beachy, who has been administrator since July 1961, said that at present there is a roster of 15 full time employes and with the addition of the new project other workers will be hired.

It was opened as a nursing home in 1959, according to Mr. Beachy, who said the original building was constructed about 1915 as a children's home and was used as an orphange until about 1938.

The building was converted into an apartment house and renovated as a nursing home in 1958.

The facilities, he said, are used by residents of Allegany and Garrett counties and Somerset County, Pa.

W. Va. Traffic Toll Now Stands At 38

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (UPI)— The highway death of a Mingo County man Wednesday raised the state's traffic toll to 38 for the year.

Authorities said Rayburn Cline, 28, of Baisden was killed instantly when the top of his car was torn off by the impact of a head-on collision with a tractor-trailer loaded with new automobiles on U. S. 52 about 47 miles southeast of here near Justice.

Cline's wife was hospitalized in Man by injuries suffered in the crash.

FROSTBURG — Senior art majors of Frostburg State Teachers College are conducting an art exhibit in Gunter Hall Foyer now through the end of the month.

Works in the exhibit include sculpture, ceramics, oil paintings, water colors, jewelry and mosaic. Members of the Art Department displaying their works are Sue Clover, Wayne Foote, Robert Funk, Janice Krach and William Sturtz.

The exhibit is open to the public and many of the projects are available for sale.

Dr. Thomas Slettehaugh, chairman of the art department, is serving as advisor.

Tasks Of Lion Are Outlined At Dinner Meeting

MOOREFIELD — Tasks of the individual Lion in his community were outlined Monday night during the 25th anniversary dinner of the Moorefield Lions Club.

Guest speaker was Jorge Camunas, San Turce, Puerto Rico, international director of Lions International and a member of the San Juan Lions Club.

Some 150 guests heard the speaker, one of 26 international directors, point out that the aims of Lions are truly international and that nearly 700,000 members accomplish immeasurable good in the communities they serve.

Camunas said that his native Puerto Rico is similar to the West Virginia hills although the country lacks snow. He appreciated the state motto of "Mountaineers Are Always Free-men" and said he had visited in Sweden, England, Denmark and other countries and his Lions club pin was introduction enough as all Lions have a common ground.

Walter Purdy of Ravenswood, also an international director, and long time friend of Camunas, introduced the speaker. Purdy pointed out that the celebration of the silver anniversary of the Moorefield Club was probably the only time the three international directors of the world's largest civic organization would ever be together at one time. The third director present was Robert Lyles, Hagerstown.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing, an international counselor and former district governor, was master of ceremonies at the dinner served by the ladies auxiliary of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Department.

J. Kenneth Frye, international counselor and former district governor presented 25-year certificates and engraved statuettes of a rampant lion to S. L. Godd, C. B. Hiett, R. E. Fisher, W.C.H. Poole, P. W. Clarke, Ralph J. Bean, Judge Muntzing and E. L. Puffenberger.

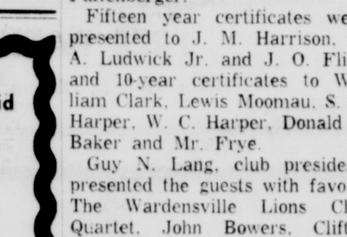

Fifteen year certificates were presented to J. M. Harrison, C. A. Ludwick Jr. and J. O. Flinn and 10-year certificates to William Clark, Lewis Moomau, S. L. Harper, W. C. Harper, Donald J. Baker and Mr. Frye.

Guy N. Lang, club president, presented the guests with favors. The Wardensville Lions Club Quartet, John Bowers, Clifton Jenkens, Preston Enswiler and James E. Frye, entertained the guests at the dinner held in the fire hall. Song leader was Lauren Swisher, Keyser, a brother of Arnett Swisher, district governor, who died recently.

Wendel Hester led the Lions flag salute and S. L. Dodd gave the invocation.

Two Licenses Suspended By Liquor Board

LONACONING — The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday suspend the permits of two Lonaconing establishments for ten days each.

The Lonaconing Republican Club and the Brown and Rooney taxi service and restaurant, were convicted in Circuit Court several weeks ago of possessing slot machines and fined $500 each.

The action by the liquor board followed. The slot machines were confiscated by agents of the Internal Revenue Service when it was discovered that the $250 tax stamp for each machine had not been purchased.

The liquor board warned the licensees of both establishments that in the event they appear before the board for the second time their permits will automatically be revoked.

In addition, the board ordered both places to be closed entirely during the ten-day period, except that the GOP club can conduct any meetings scheduled during the period.

The board also granted a club beer, wine and liquor license to Lloyd Stewart, Edgar McDonald and William E. Payton, officers of Sioux Tribe 201, Improved Order of Redmen.

The club is located on the third floor of a building at 170 Baltimore Street, Cumberland.

A transfer of the Class D beer permit for premises at 188 West Main Street, Frostburg was approved. The permit had been in the name of Glenn Layman and has been transferred to Carl H. Ruffo.

The Class D beer license of Anna Neat, Pinto Lane, was transferred to Peter Yatchyshyn, operator of Triple Lakes Restaurant on McMullen Highway.

Book Of Luke Quiz Scheduled Today

FROSTBURG — The Christ Ambassadors of Trinity Assembly of God Church, Midlothian will team up against a group from the Lonaconing Assembly today for the first official quiz on the Book of Luke.

At the same time the First Pentecostal Assembly Christ Ambassadors from Westernport will complete the Central Assembly of God group.

Machines In Snack Bar Are Wrecked, Money Is Stolen

MOOREFIELD — Someone forced their way into the Donnie Simmons Snack Bar, caused property damage amounting to about $1,000 and stole about $130 in cash, authorities said.

Two pinball machines, a juke box and a miniature bowling machine were wrecked by the intruders who took coins from the machines.

About $15 was taken from the cash register in the business place although the register was not damaged. The coin boxes of the telephone booth and a cigarette machine were not disturbed.

Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police is continuing an investigation.

Smouse Named B&O Lawyer

OAKLAND—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has announced the appointment of H. Russell Smouse a native of Oakland, as an attorney in its law department, headed by Kenneth H. Ekin, general counsel.

Smouse, 30, had been associated with the Baltimore law firm of Pierson and Pierson, and prior to that served as an assistant United States attorney in that city.

A native of Oakland, Smouse was graduated from Princeton University in 1955 and received his LL. B. degree from the University of Maryland Law School in 1958.

Following his graduation from law school, Smouse was selected to participate in the attorney general's honor program, designed to attract promising young lawyers to the Department of Justice in Washington, and served with the department as an attorney for two years before returning to Baltimore.

Weir High Band Is Commended

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A resolution introduced in the Legislature Wednesday by Del. Callie Tsapis congratulates the Weir High School band of Weirton for the many honors it has received.

The band was commended in the measure for participation in such events as the International Band Festival in the Netherlands, where the group won first place in marching competition and amassed the third highest total points scored, the Tournament of Roses Parade at Pasadena, Calif., the Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City.

Poisoning Probable Cause Of 2 Deaths

WILLIAMSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Authorities said a Wood County man and girl found Tuesday in a car parked in a garage here apparently died of a carbon monoxide poisoning.

The victims, reported missing since Sunday, were identified as Thomas Taylor, 62, and Betty Haught, 18.

Police, acting on a tip to check the garage, forced their way in to the building with crowbars and discovered the bodies in the front seat of the car. The ignition was turned to the on position and the gas tank was empty.

Funeral Services Set

SHINNSTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Final rites will be conducted here Thursday for the Rev. Jeremiah R. Davern, 75, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church here since 1949. Father Davern also had served parishes at Wytheville, Va., Lundale, Logan County, and Coalton, Raleigh County. A native of Ireland, he died in a Clarksburg hospital Monday following a brief illness.

The Meadow Glade Homemakers' will meet at the home of Mrs. Shirl Dodge on February 25 at 1 p. m. Mrs. Reuben Fazenbaker and Mrs. William Sears will give the clothing demonstration on the study of color and accessories.

Mrs. Harry Pritts will present the information on safety practices in home storage.

On February 26 the Bittinger Club will meet at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George Shawley who will give the clothing demonstration. Mrs. Russell Klotz will give the safety information.

The Sunnyside Club will meet at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harold White. Mrs. Jesse Harsh will present the color and accessories demonstration and Mrs. White will speak on storage safety practices.

The Hoyes Club will meet at 1:30 p. m. February 27 at the home of Mrs. Claude Bishoff. Mrs. G. E. Bishoff will give the clothing demonstration and Mrs. W. W. DeWitt will give the safety report.

On February 28 the Oakland Club will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Aza Lewis. Mrs. James Nally and Mrs. Ralph Weeks will give the demonstration on color and accessories, and Mrs. Roscoe Swiger will give the information on storage safety.

Bill Permits Advertising By Morticians

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday would permit funeral directors and embalmers to advertise in any way they chose and in any medium.

The only restriction made in the bill was the barring of "untrue or deceptive" advertising. It was introduced by Dels. D. P. Given, D-Webster, and Robert Holliday, D-Fayette.

Under current rules of the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors, only small newspaper ads — with no mention of prices — are permitted.

Among eight bills and three resolutions submitted in the Senate were four that were received in the House earlier, including one that would increase the salaries of the governor and Supreme Court judges by $5,000. The other three would repeal the soft drinks tax and authorize interim studies of banking laws and proposed streamlining of the executive branch of government.

Nineteen bills were introduced in the House but most were minor or technical, or duplicates of bills introduced earlier in the Senate.

The included measures to:

— Permit a non-resident owner to operate a motor vehicle in West Virginia for a year without registering it, provided he were in the state temporarily to train industrial personnel for West Virginia plant.

— Let municipalities appoint merchant police officers with police powers except that they could not carry deadly weapons.

Oakland Boy Scouts Attend Winter Camp

OAKLAND—Fourteen members and two leaders of Boy Scout Troop 93, of Oakland, who attended a winter camp at Camp Potomac near Oldtown had to walk a mile into the camp because of road conditions.

Members of the troop who attended the camp which was held primarily for advancement work include John Durst, Roger and Paul Thomas, Merlin Trickett, Fred Feld, Rusty Wilt, Milton Naylor, Dusty Stanton, James Feaster, Ray Burton, William Leighton, David Butts, Leif and Fritz Piper.

Barry Saxe, scoutmaster, and Henry Trickett, assistant scoutmaster, also attended. Transportation was furnished by the Rotary Club.

Religious services for the scouts were held at Bethel Assembly of God Church near Oldtown and St. Mary's Catholic Church in Cumberland.

Freezes To Death

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (UPI) — A Mercer County man was found frozen to death Tuesday near his Montcalm home following the sudden snow storm which dumped up to 12 inches of wet snow on the area. Police said Jack Brooks, 32, apparently was caught in the storm and was unable to reach home.

Coal History Printed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — A history on southern West Virginia coal fields by W. P. Tams, Raleigh County, one of the pioneer coal operators in the area, will be published by West Virginia University. The 107-page work is titled "The Smokeless Coal Fields of West Virginia: A Brief History." Tams organized the Gulf Smokeless Coal Co. in 1909 and retired as president of the firm in 1955.

Number Of Coal Mines In W. Va. Is Increasing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Despite hard times in the coal industry, the number of mines in West Virginia continues to increase.

State Mines Director Leonard Timms said the state entered 1962 with 2,303 mines, a gain of 500 over the previous year, and preliminary figures indicate another large gain during 1962.

Timms said in a year-end report that his department granted 1,068 permits for new mine openings during the year. However, final figures on the number of mine closures — and the overall net gain — are not yet available.

The director also reported that state mines produced 117,018,419 tons of coal last year, a gain of about 5.75 million or 1.5 per cent over 1961.

Timms said nearly 2 million tons of the increase was accounted for by better reporting by mine companies. On the basis of information now available, the increase this year will not be as large, he added.

Engine Workshop Set At Oakland On February 28

OAKLAND — A small engine workshop for the benefit of farmers of Garrett County will be held on February 28 at 7:30 p. m. in the Garrett Truck and Implement Garage in Oakland, said James McHenry, county farm agent.

Guy Gienger, University of Maryland Agricultural Engineering Department, will discuss the maintenance and care of small engines as well as tuning up farm tractors.

Of interest to the farmers will be oils and lubricants, trouble shooting, maintenance and care of small type engines.

Mr. McHenry points out that this meeting is important at this time of the year when farmers can get their equipment in working order when the spring season arrives.

Queen Reigns At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Edwina Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Eaton, was crowned "Queen Sweetheart XVIII" the Paw Paw High School gymnasium by last year's winner, Anna Marie Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Small.

Maid of honor for the annual dance was Dru Ellen Gillum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gillum. Crownbearers were Michael McCoole and Deborah Moreland.

Princesses, escorts and attendants were as follows: Seventh Grade — Kathie VanHorn, Philip Parr, Edward Nelson and Theresa Patterson; Eighth Grade — Darlene Hook, Gary Denson, Steven Twigg and Wanda Breeder; Ninth Grade — Edwina Eaton, George Chambers, Junior Van Horn and Vicky Largent; Tenth Grade — Dru Ellen Gillum, Robert McCoole, David Delawder and Susan Breeder; Eleventh Grade— Sheila Wintermoyer, Gary Kidwell, Carl Leach and Judy Bailey; Twelfth Grade — Julia Duckwall, William Powell, Pamela Miller.

The queen was escorted by Larry Harding. Music was provided by the "Modernaires" with William Patterson as vocalist. A coronation prize was won by Mrs. Rosemary Rockwell.

Piedmont Legion Dance Tonight

PIEDMONT — Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, will hold a Washington Birthday Dance this evening at the post home, Green Street.

Music for dancing will be provided by Les Clifford's Orchestra. A floor show will be presented by "The Clowns." There will be free corsages for the ladies.

Kitzmiller Flood Work Contract Is Awarded

OAKLAND — The contract for flood control work at one town on the North Branch of the Potomac River has been let, while bids are being advertised for another similar project on the same river.

Frederick Thayer III, attorney to the Garrett County Commissioners, said yesterday he was informed by the Baltimore District, Corps of Army Engineers, that the Harwell Construction Company has been awarded the job at Kitzmiller and Blaine, W. Va.

The Orange, Va., firm will undertake the project that will include channel improvement of the river that has caused several severe floods in those two communities. Harwell was low bidder with $356,000.

In the other project, Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-2nd W.Va.) said contractors are being invited to bid on flood control improvements in the North Branch at Bayard, W. Va.

The work will include levee and flood wall construction and replacement of a highway bridge in the vicinity of Buffalo Creek at its confluence with the river.

Bids will be opened on or about March 14 and construction work should begin in late March and be completed next fall or early winter.

According to the report received by Rep. Staggers, the project will be undertaken with funds provided by the Accelerated Works Program of the Area Redevelopment Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

New Addition To Mennonite Home Planned

Contract Goes To Grantsville Firm

GRANTSVILLE — The construction of a new one-story addition to the Goodwill Mennonite Home Inc. near Grantsville, which will provide accomodations for an additional 15 beds, a new centralized nurses' station, drug room and spacious lounge, is expected to begin as soon as the weather permits.

The present facility, which is licensed to care for 26 people, is filled to capacity and "unable to meet the needs of the community," said Nevin A. Beachy, administrator.

The nursing home, open to persons of all faiths, is located a mile north of Grantsville on the Dorsey Hotel Road, according to the administrator who said the new addition should be ready for occupancy late this summer.

The Board of Trustees has announced that the Olin Rembold Construction Company, RD 1, Grantsville, has been awarded the contract for the project which will provide private and semi-private bedrooms.

The home, said Mr. Beachy, has a "Class A" Nursing Home rating by the Maryland State Department of Health and is a member of Maryland Nursing Home Association and American Nursing Home Association.

Mr. Beachy, who has been administrator since July 1961, said that at present there is a roster of 15 full time employes and with the addition of the new project other workers will be hired.

It was opened as a nursing home in 1959, according to Mr. Beachy, who said the original building was constructed about 1915 as a children's home and was used as an orphange until about 1938.

The building was converted into an apartment house and renovated as a nursing home in 1958.

The facilities, he said, are used by residents of Allegany and Garrett counties and Somerset County, Pa.

W. Va. Traffic Toll Now Stands At 38

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (UPI)— The highway death of a Mingo County man Wednesday raised the state's traffic toll to 38 for the year.

Authorities said Rayburn Cline, 28, of Baisden was killed instantly when the top of his car was torn off by the impact of a head-on collision with a tractor-trailer loaded with new automobiles on U. S. 52 about 47 miles southeast of here near Justice.

Cline's wife was hospitalized in Man by injuries suffered in the crash.

The exhibit is open to the public and many of the projects are available for sale.

Dr. Thomas Slettehaugh, chairman of the art department, is serving as advisor.

Tasks Of Lion Are Outlined At Dinner Meeting

MOOREFIELD — Tasks of the individual Lion in his community were outlined Monday night during the 25th anniversary dinner of the Moorefield Lions Club.

Guest speaker was Jorge Camunas, San Turce, Puerto Rico, international director of Lions International and a member of the San Juan Lions Club.

Some 150 guests heard the speaker, one of 26 international directors, point out that the aims of Lions are truly international and that nearly 700,000 members accomplish immeasurable good in the communities they serve.

Camunas said that his native Puerto Rico is similar to the West Virginia hills although the country lacks snow. He appreciated the state motto of "Mountaineers Are Always Free-men" and said he had visited in Sweden, England, Denmark and other countries and his Lions club pin was introduction enough as all Lions have a common ground.

Walter Purdy of Ravenswood, also an international director, and long time friend of Camunas, introduced the speaker. Purdy pointed out that the celebration of the silver anniversary of the Moorefield Club was probably the only time the three international directors of the world's largest civic organization would ever be together at one time. The third director present was Robert Lyles, Hagerstown.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing, an international counselor and former district governor, was master of ceremonies at the dinner served by the ladies auxiliary of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Department.

J. Kenneth Frye, international counselor and former district governor presented 25-year certificates and engraved statuettes of a rampant lion to S. L. Godd, C. B. Hiett, R. E. Fisher, W.C.H. Poole, P. W. Clarke, Ralph J. Bean, Judge Muntzing and E. L. Puffenberger.

Fifteen year certificates were presented to J. M. Harrison, C. A. Ludwick Jr. and J. O. Flinn and 10-year certificates to William Clark, Lewis Moomau, S. L. Harper, W. C. Harper, Donald J. Baker and Mr. Frye.

Guy N. Lang, club president, presented the guests with favors. The Wardensville Lions Club Quartet, John Bowers, Clifton Jenkens, Preston Enswiler and James E. Frye, entertained the guests at the dinner held in the fire hall. Song leader was Lauren Swisher, Keyser, a brother of Arnett Swisher, district governor, who died recently.

Italy, "Santa Lucia," senior girls chorus; Spain, "The Barrendero," senior chorus; Japan, "Sakura," Doris Jean Warnick; United States, "The King and I," senior mixed chorus.

Americal Folk dances will be performed by the physical education groups.

Two Licenses Suspended By Liquor Board

LONACONING — The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday suspend the permits of two Lonaconing establishments for ten days each.

The Lonaconing Republican Club and the Brown and Rooney taxi service and restaurant, were convicted in Circuit Court several weeks ago of possessing slot machines and fined $500 each.

The action by the liquor board followed. The slot machines were confiscated by agents of the Internal Revenue Service when it was discovered that the $250 tax stamp for each machine had not been purchased.

The liquor board warned the licensees of both establishments that in the event they appear before the board for the second time their permits will automatically be revoked.

In addition, the board ordered both places to be closed entirely during the ten-day period, except that the GOP club can conduct any meetings scheduled during the period.

The board also granted a club beer, wine and liquor license to Lloyd Stewart, Edgar McDonald and William E. Payton, officers of Sioux Tribe 201, Improved Order of Redmen.

The club is located on the third floor of a building at 170 Baltimore Street, Cumberland.

A transfer of the Class D beer permit for premises at 188 West Main Street, Frostburg was approved. The permit had been in the name of Glenn Layman and has been transferred to Carl H. Ruffo.

The Class D beer license of Anna Neat, Pinto Lane, was transferred to Peter Yatchyshyn, operator of Triple Lakes Restaurant on McMullen Highway.

Machines In Snack Bar Are Wrecked, Money Is Stolen

MOOREFIELD — Someone forced their way into the Donnie Simmons Snack Bar, caused property damage amounting to about $1,000 and stole about $130 in cash, authorities said.

Two pinball machines, a juke box and a miniature bowling machine were wrecked by the intruders who took coins from the machines.

About $15 was taken from the cash register in the business place although the register was not damaged. The coin boxes of the telephone booth and a cigarette machine were not disturbed.

Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police is continuing an investigation.

Smouse Named B&O Lawyer

OAKLAND—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has announced the appointment of H. Russell Smouse a native of Oakland, as an attorney in its law department, headed by Kenneth H. Ekin, general counsel.

Smouse, 30, had been associated with the Baltimore law firm of Pierson and Pierson, and prior to that served as an assistant United States attorney in that city.

A native of Oakland, Smouse was graduated from Princeton University in 1955 and received his LL. B. degree from the University of Maryland Law School in 1958.

Following his graduation from law school, Smouse was selected to participate in the attorney general's honor program, designed to attract promising young lawyers to the Department of Justice in Washington, and served with the department as an attorney for two years before returning to Baltimore.

Weir High Band Is Commended

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A resolution introduced in the Legislature Wednesday by Del. Callie Tsapis congratulates the Weir High School band of Weirton for the many honors it has received.

The band was commended in the measure for participation in such events as the International Band Festival in the Netherlands, where the group won first place in marching competition and amassed the third highest total points scored, the Tournament of Roses Parade at Pasadena, Calif., the Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City.

Poisoning Probable Cause Of 2 Deaths

WILLIAMSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Authorities said a Wood County man and girl found Tuesday in a car parked in a garage here apparently died of a carbon monoxide poisoning.

The victims, reported missing since Sunday, were identified as Thomas Taylor, 62, and Betty Haught, 18.

Police, acting on a tip to check the garage, forced their way in to the building with crowbars and discovered the bodies in the front seat of the car. The ignition was turned to the on position and the gas tank was empty.

Bill Permits Advertising By Morticians

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday would permit funeral directors and embalmers to advertise in any way they chose and in any medium.

The only restriction made in the bill was the barring of "untrue or deceptive" advertising. It was introduced by Dels. D. P. Given, D-Webster, and Robert Holliday, D-Fayette.

Under current rules of the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors, only small newspaper ads — with no mention of prices — are permitted.

Among eight bills and three resolutions submitted in the Senate were four that were received in the House earlier, including one that would increase the salaries of the governor and Supreme Court judges by $5,000. The other three would repeal the soft drinks tax and authorize interim studies of banking laws and proposed streamlining of the executive branch of government.

Nineteen bills were introduced in the House but most were minor or technical, or duplicates of bills introduced earlier in the Senate.

The included measures to:

— Permit a non-resident owner to operate a motor vehicle in West Virginia for a year without registering it, provided he were in the state temporarily to train industrial personnel for West Virginia plant.

— Let municipalities appoint merchant police officers with police powers except that they could not carry deadly weapons.

Oakland Boy Scouts Attend Winter Camp

OAKLAND—Fourteen members and two leaders of Boy Scout Troop 93, of Oakland, who attended a winter camp at Camp Potomac near Oldtown had to walk a mile into the camp because of road conditions.

Members of the troop who attended the camp which was held primarily for advancement work include John Durst, Roger and Paul Thomas, Merlin Trickett, Fred Feld, Rusty Wilt, Milton Naylor, Dusty Stanton, James Feaster, Ray Burton, William Leighton, David Butts, Leif and Fritz Piper.

Barry Saxe, scoutmaster, and Henry Trickett, assistant scoutmaster, also attended. Transportation was furnished by the Rotary Club.

Religious services for the scouts were held at Bethel Assembly of God Church near Oldtown and St. Mary's Catholic Church in Cumberland.

Freezes To Death

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (UPI) — A Mercer County man was found frozen to death Tuesday near his Montcalm home following the sudden snow storm which dumped up to 12 inches of wet snow on the area. Police said Jack Brooks, 32, apparently was caught in the storm and was unable to reach home.

Coal History Printed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — A history on southern West Virginia coal fields by W. P. Tams, Raleigh County, one of the pioneer coal operators in the area, will be published by West Virginia University. The 107-page work is titled "The Smokeless Coal Fields of West Virginia: A Brief History." Tams organized the Gulf Smokeless Coal Co. in 1909 and retired as president of the firm in 1955.

Number Of Coal Mines In W. Va. Is Increasing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Despite hard times in the coal industry, the number of mines in West Virginia continues to increase.

State Mines Director Leonard Timms said the state entered 1962 with 2,303 mines, a gain of 500 over the previous year, and preliminary figures indicate another large gain during 1962.

Timms said in a year-end report that his department granted 1,068 permits for new mine openings during the year. However, final figures on the number of mine closures — and the overall net gain — are not yet available.

The director also reported that state mines produced 117,018,419 tons of coal last year, a gain of about 5.75 million or 1.5 per cent over 1961.

Engine Workshop Set At Oakland On February 28

OAKLAND — A small engine workshop for the benefit of farmers of Garrett County will be held on February 28 at 7:30 p. m. in the Garrett Truck and Implement Garage in Oakland, said James McHenry, county farm agent.

Guy Gienger, University of Maryland Agricultural Engineering Department, will discuss the maintenance and care of small engines as well as tuning up farm tractors.

Of interest to the farmers will be oils and lubricants, trouble shooting, maintenance and care of small type engines.

Mr. McHenry points out that this meeting is important at this time of the year when farmers can get their equipment in working order when the spring season arrives.

Road To Hospitality

Chocolate Rocky Road Sundae puts the hostess smoothly on the road to hospitality. Serve the delectable sweet when guests drop in for the evening, or as a festive dessert for the dinner party. The chocolate - walnut - marshmallow sauce is based on handy semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Because they are presweetened, the semi-sweet chocolate morsels make a speedy sauce—and in two shakes of a wooden spoon your guests are served.

Chocolate Rocky Road Sundae

⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 12-ounce jumbo package (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 cup miniature marshmallows

Melt butter in heavy skillet over medium heat. Add walnuts, stirring constantly, until lightly browned. Remove from heat. Stir in semi-sweet chocolate morsels until melted and smooth. Stir in miniature marshmallows. Serve warm over ice cream.

YIELD: 2½ cups.

Sardines 'N' Rice Are Everything Nice

Tiny and tangy sardines from the cold, mineral rich waters of Norway's fjords team with rice to make this croquette dish nice for meatless menus. The creation of a prominent New York Hotel master chef it is a perfect meat substitute and delicious too.

Ingredients:

1 (3¾ oz.) can Norway sardines
2 cups well cooked rice
1 whole egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon tomato catsup
salt, pepper to taste

METHOD: Drain the olive oil from the Norway sardines and mash the sardines. Blend sardine mixture with rice and all other ingredients. Form into about 10 croquettes and roll in a little flour. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Serve with additional catsup or tomato sauce on the side. Makes 10 croquettes.

Spicy Beef Patties

To dress up beef patties, prepare this spicy sauce as a topping: ¼ cup catchup, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard and ⅛ teaspoon cloves.

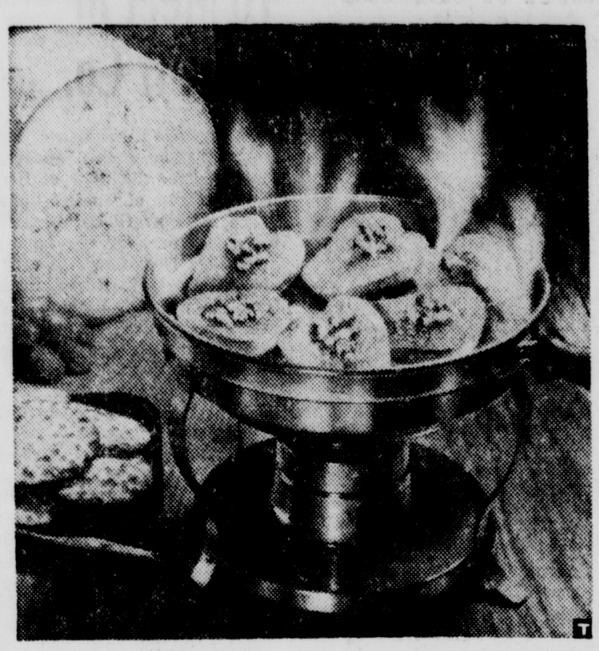

Evergreen Salad

One 16-oz. can diagonally-cut or French-style green beans, drained
One 16-oz. can diagonally-cut or French-style wax beans, drained
One 2-½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained (optional)
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped pimiento
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup wine vinegar
1 clove garlic
⅓ cup salad or olive oil
⅛ teaspoon cracked black pepper

Combine canned beans, mushrooms, celery and pimiento. Spread evenly in bottom of a shallow casserole.

For dressing, combine salt and vinegar in jar with tight-fitting cover; let stand 5 minutes. Add garlic, oil and pepper. Cover and shake vigorously. Remove garlic; pour dressing over beans, mixing lightly to coat. Refrigerate several hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. Serve chilled in lettuce-lined salad bowl. (To obtain more pronounced garlic flavor, slash garlic clove with paring knife several times.) Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

English Stilton Cheese Adds Gourmet Flair

Among aristocrats of the dinner table, none boasts a prouder lineage than the Stilton of Merrie England, blue-veined as any baronet. And today, this gastronomic delight, imported from its native England, is available to American gourmets at fine food stores.

Known for centuries as the perfect dessert cheese, Stilton is a semi-soft cheese variety, a cousin to Blue Cheese, Roquefort and Gorgonzola, but possessing a mellow distinction all its own. Stilton has always been a wonderful dessert companion to fresh fruits and crackers in its native England. Here and now in America, the classic combination puts in its bid as the favorite dessert for connoisseurs and lovers of good food. Crisp apples, pears, grapes — all the wide variety of winter-time fruits — have a flavor affinity for the noble Stilton.

Another unusual and delectable fruit and Stilton combination—spectacular for party service—is flaming pears. Here's a specialty in the grand manner—easy to prepare—but with an enviable chef's touch. Here's the way to do it:

Flaming Pears

Place canned pears, along with the liquid in which they are canned, in the blazer of a chafing dish. Sprinkle crumbled Stilton from England in the cavity of each pear half. Bring the blazer to the table and place it over direct heat. Bring the juice to a boil. Pour ¼ cup Cointreau or Cognac over the fruit and set a match to the liqueur. When the pear-Stilton dish is flaming, serve pear halves and juice in dessert dishes—or even more dramatically, in champagne glasses.

Week's Food Economies

Most of us want to get our money's worth when we shop for food. We also want to select foods that will provide the variety of foods to insure good health as the result of our eating, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

The choice of fresh or processed vegetables allows the shopper a choice that gives unlimited variety. Fresh vegetables in the markets are generally unchanged. The best buys continue in the hardier varieties. Carrots, white and sweet potatoes, onions, and celery and turnips are on the recommended list. Some winter producing areas are recovering from the freeze, however prices continue a little higher than usual. You will find abundant supplies of canned corn, peas, tomatoes, snap beans, and frozen French fried potatoes, lima beans, corn and peas when shopping.

The use of frozen foods has increased steadily. Maintaining quality is essential when using frozen foods whether it be vegetables, fruits or a prepared food. Select frozen food just before you go to the checkout stand. But only the amount of frozen food you can store at 0°F. or below. Store frozen foods no longer than the maximum time recommended for both the food and storage equipment you use. Keep frozen foods frozen until you are ready to use them.

The best buys in fresh fruit are apples, pears, grapes and bananas. Florida's Indian River area was least affected and grapefruit supplies from this area should be near normal. Smaller-sized fruit seems to be most plentiful in local markets. From South America we are getting melons, nectarines, plums and peaches. These are luxury priced fruits. Pineapples are coming from Mexico. Canned fruit stocks are a little heavier than a year ago.

Fryer chicken supplies for February are up 5 to 10 per cent above this month last year. Grade A eggs are recommended. Beef is in heavy supply and sales attractive.

Heroic Tuna

A tangy tuna spread fills a hero roll, provides a hearty sandwich. Blend together 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup finely chopped celery, and 1 tablespoon minced onion. Tuna in vegetable oil has a wonderful, delicate flavor. Split and butter 3 hero rolls, spread with tuna mixture, and top with tomato slices, pickles, or olives.

Hearty Pie Made With Hamburger

When you think of meat pie you generally think of a pastry or biscuit crust above a meat-vegetable-gravy combination. Not so with this surprisingly unique meat pie!

For Hearty Hamburger Pie, a ground beef mixture lines the bottom of a pie pan, diced potatoes in a sauce become the filling and colorful parsley dots the top.

Different? You bet! And it's sure to score high with family tastes. They'll hardly be able to wait to dig their forks into the hearty wedges.

Hearty Hamburger Pie

1 pound ground beef
½ cup milk
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 egg, beaten
3 cups diced, cooked potatoes
½ cup catchup
¼ cup chopped onion
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons chopped parsley

Combine ground beef, milk, bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, mushrooms and egg. Line a 9-inch pie pan with meat mixture, pressing firmly against bottom and sides of pan. Combine potatoes, catchup, onion, mustard, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Turn into meat shell. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 35 to 40 minutes or until done. Sprinkle chopped parsley over top. Cut into 6 pie-shaped wedges. 6 servings.

Road To Hospitality

Chocolate Rocky Road Sundae puts the hostess smoothly on the road to hospitality. Serve the delectable sweet when guests drop in for the evening, or as a festive dessert for the dinner party. The chocolate - walnut - marshmallow sauce is based on handy semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Because they are presweetened, the semi-sweet chocolate morsels make a speedy sauce—and in two shakes of a wooden spoon your guests are served.

Chocolate Rocky Road Sundae

⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 12-ounce jumbo package (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 cup miniature marshmallows

Melt butter in heavy skillet over medium heat. Add walnuts, stirring constantly, until lightly browned. Remove from heat. Stir in semi-sweet chocolate morsels until melted and smooth. Stir in miniature marshmallows. Serve warm over ice cream.

YIELD: 2½ cups.

Sardines 'N' Rice Are Everything Nice

Tiny and tangy sardines from the cold, mineral rich waters of Norway's fjords team with rice to make this croquette dish nice for meatless menus. The creation of a prominent New York Hotel master chef it is a perfect meat substitute and delicious too.

Ingredients:

1 (3¾ oz.) can Norway sardines
2 cups well cooked rice
1 whole egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon tomato catsup
salt, pepper to taste

METHOD: Drain the olive oil from the Norway sardines and mash the sardines. Blend sardine mixture with rice and all other ingredients. Form into about 10 croquettes and roll in a little flour. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Serve with additional catsup or tomato sauce on the side. Makes 10 croquettes.

Spicy Beef Patties

Hot, Tender Corn Bread

Famous old favorite gets new life . . . Prunes!

Call it corn bread or Johnny cake, the hot friendly bread made of corn meal has always had its rooters. Now, we predict, that happy crew will grow and crow when word of this new Prune Corn Bread gets around.

Prune Corn Bread bakes up high, tender and golden. The prunes are thick through it . . . soft, meaty and winey in their tart-sweet fruitness. To hold the sturdy prun pieces, this corn bread is a little closer in grain than some corn bread. It means it can be cut down in generous squares without crumbling. Served hot, drifting the good warm scent of corn meal and prunes, it drinks up butter. Served cold, it takes the butter in a smooth spread.

Trot it out for the youngsters after school, paired with jam and butter. Save it for late evening snacks, for coffee breaks or afternoon tea. Bring it fresh from the oven for Sunday morning breakfast. Plenty of times and ways, you see, for enjoying this homey, fruited corn bread. So easy to make, too, and what's more, a real pleasure and satisfaction to do so.

Prune Corn Bread

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup yellow corn meal
5 teaspoons double-action baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup melted shortening
1¾ cups milk or buttermilk
1½ cups plumped* pitted chopped prunes

Sift dry ingredients together into a bowl; combine and stir in eggs, shortening and milk or buttermilk all at once. Stir in prunes. Pour into a greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 25-30 minutes. Serve hot with butter and jam. Makes 8 large squares.

*To plum prunes just soak overnight in cold water — 1 quart of water to 1 pound of prunes.

Prune Meringue Whip

½ pound prunes, plumped and pitted
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
⅔ cup evaporated milk, chilled icy cold
1⅛ teaspoon cream of tarter
¼ cup sugar

Put prunes through coarse sieve or in blender. Measure ⅔ cup of prune pulp. Add sugar and cinnamon. Chill. Whip chilled milk until stiff and will hold a peak. Add lemon juice and whip to blend. Lightly and thoroughly fold into prune pulp. Turn into a 6"x9"x2" or an 8" round baking dish. Spread evenly. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tarter and continue beating until stiff. Add remaining sugar, one tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until stiff. Spread meringue over prune whip being careful to seal edges. Brown quickly under broiler. Makes 6 servings.

Old Fashioned Prune Whip

1 pound prunes, plumped* and pitted
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ to ½ cup sugar
Juice and grated rind ½ small lemon
¼ cup chopped walnuts or pecans (optional)

Finely chop prunes, or mince in blender. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy; add sugar about 2 tablespoons at a time while continuing to beat. When meringue stands in firm moist peaks, fold in prunes, lemon juice and rind, and nuts if used. Heap in sherbets and chill to serve. Makes 6 servings.

* Easy way to plump prunes is to soak them overnight in cold water—one quart water to one pound prunes.

Capitol Comment
by Rep. Charles Mathias

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal has been much in the news in recent weeks, and efforts are underway again to establish the canal as a National Historical Park. This proposal is, of course, not a new one. I introduced a bill in the last Congress for the purpose of creating a National Park along the banks of the Potomac River on the right-of-way of the old C & O Canal. it is my intention to reintroduce this bill and I hope that the park will become a reality during the 88th Congress. In submitting the bill this year, I am going to propose a significant feature which should imporve this park legislation.

The bill will provide for a local Commission to advise the National Park Service and the Department of the Interior with respect to the creation and administration of this much needed National Park. Such a Commission to be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior upon recommendation of the County Commissioners of the counties which are adjacent to the canal and by the Governors of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, would give an element of self-government and of local interest to the administration of the National Park.

The C & O Canal, which parallels the Potomac River was constructed well over a century ago and was a vital economic factor in the development of Maryland and the Nation. The Canal itself ceased to operate about thirty years ago but the locks, tow path, and in some places actually the Canal itself, are in tact. The Canal has been famous during recent years as one of the great recreational areas in America. Interest in the Canal was revived when Justice William O. Douglas of the U. S. Supreme Court led a hike from Cumberland to Washington and the potential of the Canal as an outdoor recreation area was recognized. During the past week, the Canal has been in National Headlines when self-styled, "portly Pierre" Salinger, the President's Press Secretary, first challenged his colleagues in the newspaper work to walk fifty miles along the tow path and more recently reneged on the challenge.

The Canal is one of the great historical and recreational features of the Potomac River Valley. The Canal has been familiar to me all my life, having as a boy kept a boat near Point of Rocks. It is clear that the Canal has a tremendous future as well as a tremendous past because it can continue to contribute much to the way of life of the people who live along the Potomac Valley.

If the park is to be developed, however, in the way that all of us want it to be developed, acknowledging local traditions and recognizing the way of life of the people along the Potomac Valley, it is important that there should be some representatives of the people of the area in constant touch with, and taking part in, the development and the administration of the new National Park. I am proposing, therefore, that there should be a Chesapeake and Ohio National Historical Park Commission to be appointed to represent local government and the people of the Potomac River Valley. The Commission should help the Department of the Interior in bringing forth the best potential of this great National property.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As Washington's Birthday approaches, holiday bargain hunters will find plenty of reasonably priced meat, fruits, and vegetables.

Abundant protein foods and a large variety of fruits and vegetables will give the shopper the needed lift to supply a truly festive atmosphere.

Best vegetable buys for this weekend include anise, broccoli, beets, old crop cabbage, beans, topped carrots, parsnips and turnips, endive-escarole, green onions, mushrooms, onions, eastern potatoes, radishes, iceberg lettuce, rhubarb, sweet potatoes, and squash—the green Italian type.

Dairy products and eggs continue to be good buys.

In the meat and poultry departments best buys will include rounds of beef, ribs of beef, steak meat, hams and turkeys.

Turkey Del Rio

Sliced round pumpernickel or rye bread
Margarine
Pasteurized process American cheese slices, cut diagonally in half
Shredded lettuce
Tomato wedges
Spicy-sweet French dressing
Stuffed olives

For each sandwich, spread a slice of bread with margarine. Cover with turkey and four cheese triangles. Top with shredded lettuce and tomato wedges. Serve with dressing and garnish with a stuffed olive.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The well-known statements of President Lincoln are imperishable; they seem to have been uttered for Americans of every generation. Many of his wise sayings echoed through the land last week, as meetings were held to celebrate the birthday of this great American. The meetings were not limited to those sponsored by the political party which Lincoln founded. Lincoln belongs to all Americans. One of Lincoln's statements enunciated a basic American principle of government to which we should hold fast, especially in this day when there is a tendency toward "Big Brother" central government:

"The legitimate object of government it to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do at all or cannot do so well for themselves in their separate and individual capacities. In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, the government ought not to interfere."

AID TO SCHOOLS — Should the federal government in Washington interfere in a community's local school? That is a question which must be answered by the representatives of the people in the Congress of the United States. Heretofore, schools for the children of a community have been the responsibility of the local government — city or county — but now there's a clamor for federal government "aid," which would mean Washington's taking over, for it has been demonstrated that it is impossible to keep controls from following Federal money.

There are two basic questions to be considered here: (1) Could our people tolerate the central government in Washington taking charge of the education of our children? and (2) Should our people be called upon to shoulder the extra cost of the luxury of federal "aid"? The first question invites some soul searching about basic American principles of freedom from too much government. The second question is a matter of dollars and cents. The total cost of all our schools, all education, comes from the pockets of the taxpayers, and it has been demonstrated that "Federal Aid" is the most expensive kind, that dollars collected by Washington for local activities have a way of shrinking before getting back to the people. In fiscal year 1960, all Federal aid and grants to Maryland, Maryland counties and cities and Maryland individuals totaled $78,200,000, while the estimated tax burden on Maryland people for this specific aid and these grants came to $119,700,000. Each $1 we received cost us $1.53. "Federal aid" is expensive. Before we leap for joy at the prospect of getting "Federal aid" for Maryland schools, let us consider how much extra this "aid" would cost us.

The President has sent his Administration's "Federal Aid to Education" program to Congress. Apparently, he has thrown in every idea his advisers were able to think up — with utter disregard for the cost, utter disregard for the national deficit and growing debt. Some of the ideas are good. Some have no place in a Federal program. Here's the list:

—Aid to counties and cities for teachers' salaries.

—Aid for construction, to help build elementary and high schools.

—Aid for purchasing science—, mathematics — and language-teaching equipment for secondary schools.

—Extension of current program to subsidize public schools in areas inundated by military families and Federal workers—with the addition of Washington, D. C., to the subsidy list.

—Outright grants to pay up to half the cost of building and equipping new, 2-year "community colleges".

—Insurance for private bank loans to students.

—Grants to pay half of student wages for part-time campus jobs.

—Increase in number of Federal fellowships — from 1,500 to 10,000 annually, adding 2,000 summer-session fellowships, each fellowship paying $2,000 to $2,400 a year.

—Donations to pay half the cost of building and equipping colleges in engineering, science and health fields.

—Subsidies to build and stock libraries on college campuses.

—Outright grants to cover half the cost of building and expanding university graduate schools.

—Increase in current program for language studies in colleges.

—Federal financing of extension-course programs.

—Grants for adult education up to eighth grade.

—Grants for special training of teachers of deaf, blind, retarded and otherwise handicapped children.

—Greatly increased program of Federal aid for vocational education.

—Direct payments to teachers to help pay for further schooling.

—Grants to colleges to expand teacher-training programs.

—Federal program to help prospective teachers finance their education.

—Federal program to help build and equip libraries in cities and towns across the nation.

The Hickenlooper Amendment to last year's Foreign Aid bill provided that American aid would be cut off from countries refusing to make compensation to American firms whose property had been expropriated by the foreign government. Though the Administration vigorously opposed the amendment, it is now using it. The Brazilian government, which had snatched the private property of the American firm, International Telephone & Telegraph Company, in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, a few days ago agreed to pay ITT a fair price for the seized property, rather than forego any chance of getting more financial aid from the U. S. A. Last week, American aid to Ceylon was suspended because of that country's failure to compensate two U. S. companies whose property it had seized.

Because of proposed income-tax changes which would hurt milions of people, complaints are pouring into Washington about the President's tax "reform". Much opposition is being voiced against the proposal that itemized deductions on income-tax returns be allowed only to the extent that they exceed 5% of an individual's gross income. This provision would mean that millions of taxpayers would have to pay higher taxes than at present. A homeowner's mortgage interest, instead of being deductible as at present, would be only partly deductible. Churches, private schools and charities would be hurt by the change because contributions, instead of being deductible as at present, would be only partly deductible, — and it is believed that this change would cause fewer and smaller contributions.

A Polaris III missile scored a test-flight success last week. The missile streaked 1,840 miles on due course. The advanced Polaris will have a range of 2,875 miles.

An old friend of Abraham Lincoln asked him, "How do you like being President?" Lincoln replied: "You've heard about the man tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail? A man in the crowd asked him how he liked it, and he answered, 'If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I'd much rather walk.' "

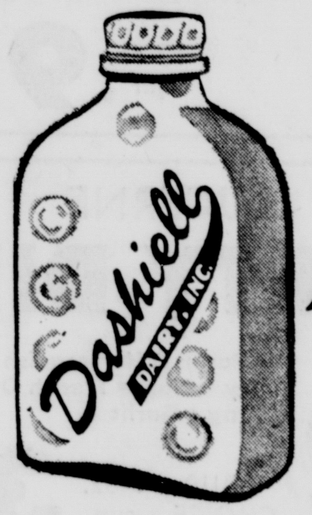

State-Of-Maine Apple Pie

6 to 8 tart apples
Pastry for 2-crust pie
¼ cup flour
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pare and core apples; slice thin. Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Combine flour, sugar and spices; pat a little of this mixture into pastry in pie pan. Add some of the apple slices; sprinkle with some of the flour mixture; continue until pan is full, heaping apple slices slightly in center. Pour molasses over all. Dot with butter or margarine. Adjust top crust, flute edges, and prick surface with tines of fork. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes or until apples are tender.

YIELD: One 9-inch pie.

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The well-known statements of President Lincoln are imperishable; they seem to have been uttered for Americans of every generation. Many of his wise sayings echoed through the land last week, as meetings were held to celebrate the birthday of this great American. The meetings were not limited to those sponsored by the political party which Lincoln founded. Lincoln belongs to all Americans. One of Lincoln's statements enunciated a basic American principle of government to which we should hold fast, especially in this day when there is a tendency toward "Big Brother" central government:

"The legitimate object of government it to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do at all or cannot do so well for themselves in their separate and individual capacities. In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, the government ought not to interfere."

AID TO SCHOOLS — Should the federal government in Washington interfere in a community's local school? That is a question which must be answered by the representatives of the people in the Congress of the United States. Heretofore, schools for the children of a community have been the responsibility of the local government — city or county — but now there's a clamor for federal government "aid," which would mean Washington's taking over, for it has been demonstrated that it is impossible to keep controls from following Federal money.

There are two basic questions to be considered here: (1) Could our people tolerate the central government in Washington taking charge of the education of our children? and (2) Should our people be called upon to shoulder the extra cost of the luxury of federal "aid"? The first question invites some soul searching about basic American principles of freedom from too much government. The second question is a matter of dollars and cents. The total cost of all our schools, all education, comes from the pockets of the taxpayers, and it has been demonstrated that "Federal Aid" is the most expensive kind, that dollars collected by Washington for local activities have a way of shrinking before getting back to the people. In fiscal year 1960, all Federal aid and grants to Maryland, Maryland counties and cities and Maryland individuals totaled $78,200,000, while the estimated tax burden on Maryland people for this spectific aid and these grants came to $119,700,000. Each $1 we received cost us $1.53. "Federal aid" is expensive. Before we leap for joy at the prospect of getting "Federal aid" for Maryland schools, let us consider how much extra this "aid" would cost us.

The President has sent his Administration's "Federal Aid to Education" program to Congress. Apparently, he has thrown in every idea his advisers were able to think up — with utter disregard for the cost, utter disregard for the national deficit and growing debt. Some of the ideas are good. Some have no place in a Federal program. Here's the list:

—Aid to counties and cities for teachers' salaries.

—Aid for construction, to help build elementary and high schools.

—Aid for purchasing science—, mathematics — and language-teaching equipment for secondary schools.

—Extension of current program to subsidize public schools in areas inundated by military families and Federal workers—with the addition of Washington, D. C., to the subsidy list.

—Outright grants to pay up to half the cost of building and equipping new, 2-year "community colleges".

—Insurance for private bank loans to students.

—Grants to pay half of student wages for part-time campus jobs.

—Increase in number of Federal fellowships — from 1,500 to 10,000 annually, adding 2,000 summer-session fellowships, each fellowship paying $2,000 to $2,400 a year.

—Donations to pay half the cost of building and equipping colleges in engineering, science and health fields.

—Subsidies to build and stock libraries on college campuses.

—Outright grants to cover half the cost of building and expanding university graduate schools.

—Increase in current program for language studies in colleges.

—Federal financing of extension-course programs.

—Grants for adult education up to eighth grade.

—Grants for special training of teachers of deaf, blind, retarded and otherwise handicapped children.

—Greatly increased program of Federal aid for vocational education.

—Direct payments to teachers to help pay for further schooling.

—Grants to colleges to expand teacher-training programs.

—Federal program to help prospective teachers finance their education.

—Federal program to help build and equip libraries in cities and towns across the nation.

The Hickenlooper Amendment to last year's Foreign Aid bill provided that American aid would be cut off from countries refusing to make compensation to American firms whose property had been expropriated by the foreign government. Though the Administration vigorously opposed the amendment, it is now using it. The Brazilian government, which had snatched the private property of the American firm, International Telephone & Telegraph Company, in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, a few days ago agreed to pay ITT a fair price for the seized property, rather than forego any chance of getting more financial aid from the U. S. A. Last week, American aid to Ceylon was suspended because of that country's failure to compensate two U. S. companies whose property it had seized.

Because of proposed income-tax changes which would hurt milions of people, complaints are pouring into Washington about the President's tax "reform". Much opposition is being voiced against the proposal that itemized deductions on income-tax returns be allowed only to the extent that they exceed 5% of an individual's gross income. This provision would mean that millions of taxpayers would have to pay higher taxes than at present. A homeowner's mortgage interest, instead of being deductible as at present, would be only partly deductible. Churches, private schools and charities would be hurt by the change because contributions, instead of being deductible as at present, would be only partly deductible, — and it is believed that this change would cause fewer and smaller contributions.

A Polaris III missile scored a test-flight success last week. The missile streaked 1,840 miles on due course. The advanced Polaris will have a range of 2,875 miles.

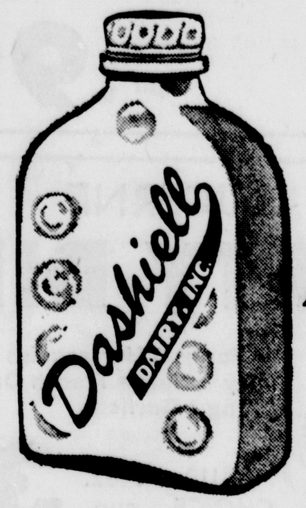

An old friend of Abraham Lincoln asked him, "How do you like being President?" Lincoln replied: "You've heard about the man tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail? A man in the crowd asked him how he liked it, and he answered, 'If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I'd much rather walk.'"

State-Of-Maine Apple Pie

6 to 8 tart apples
Pastry for 2-crust pie
¼ cup flour
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pare and core apples; slice thin. Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Combine flour, sugar and spices; pat a little of this mixture into pastry in pie pan. Add some of the apple slices; sprinkle with some of the flour mixture; continue until pan is full, heaping apple slices slightly in center. Pour molasses over all. Dot with butter or margarine. Adjust top crust, flute edges, and prick surface with tines of fork. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes or until apples are tender.

YIELD: One 9-inch pie.

Fort Hill Defeats LaSalle, 87-64 In Foul-Riddled Intra-City Clash

Six Explorer Cagers Leave On Personals

Sentinels Make 31 Of 55 Free Throw Attempts

By TED TROXELL

Long-time rivals Fort Hill and LaSalle got together last night for a hike—back and forth to the free throw line. When it was all over, the Sentinels had an 87-64 intra-city basketball victory over an Explorer team that lost a half dozen players on personal fouls.

Considering that the game was anti-climactic as far as the city championship was concerned (Allegany clinched it last week), a fairly good crowd ventured up to Fort Hill for the contest which had been postponed the night before because of bad weather.

What the fans witnessed, however, didn't resemble competitive basketball in the usual sense. Most of the time was spent at the foul lines, with no less than 88 15-foot attempts being taken.

The visiting Explorers found themselves in serious trouble at halftime, with four personals on three of their players including Joe Nolan. The latter scored 16 points in the first two periods, during which LaSalle put up a good fight and trailed by only five points (40-35).

Score Ten Straight

Fort Hill came on with a rush from the opening tipoff of the second half, scoring ten straight points in less than two minutes to stretch the edge from five points to 15 before Nolan's jump shot broke the ice for LaSalle in the third period. The Sentinels outscored LaSalle in that quarter by a 28-7 margin.

Bobby Neubeiser was the first of LaSalle's six players to get a "personalized" place on the bench, leaving with just 46 seconds gone in the second half.

He was followed in succession by Jim Brannon, Nolan, Dick Delaney, Frank Deluca and Mike Madden. Fort Hill lost Billy Dean and Pat Wilson early in the fourth quarter. In all, there were 61 foul violations levied against the two teams, with LaSalle committing 39 personals and Fort Hill 22.

Get 28 Field Goals

The Sentinels wound up with 28 field goals to LaSalle's 23, after each had a dozen in the first half. But Fort Hill's runaway margin came at the free throw stripe, where they converted 31 shots in 55 chances. The Explorers were 18-33 from the line.

With only 16 seconds remaining in the first half, Nolan connected on a pair of free throws to pull LaSalle within three points at 38-35. However, Fort Hill's Del Proudfoot hit on a jump shot nine seconds later to give the home team its 40-35 intermission edge.

Four Fort Hill starters scored in double figures. Big Vince DelaGrange, who was the key factor in the Sentinel's controlling the boards, took top honors with 24 points. Proudfoot collected 19, Dean had 18 and Butch Hare came through with 15. Nolan finished with 22 for the Explorers.

Third City Loss

The loss was LaSalle's third in intra-city play (Fort Hill won the series opener, 74-45) and snapped the Explorers' winning streak at five games. The Irish are now 9-9 for the season. Fort Hill registered its 13th win in 18 games and closed out its 1962-63 intra-city log at 2-2.

It was the 55th meeting between the two schools in a series that couldn't be any closer. Prior to last night, each team had scored 27 triumphs.

Coincidentally, last night's score was identical to last Friday's final between Fort Hill and Allegany, won by the Campers.

Surgery Saves Rizzuto's Hand After Accident

Ex-Yankee Star In Good Spirits

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — Phil Rizzuto, former New York Yankee shortstop, "rested comfortably" in St. Elizabeth Hospital Wednesday with the knowledge that his badly mangled right hand had been saved from amputation.

The one-time American League most valuable player was operating a snow blowing machine in front of his home in nearby Hillside, N.J., Tuesday night when his hand caught in the mechanism. Rizzuto was rushed to the hospital and underwent a three-hour emergency operation on four fingers of his right hand.

When he awoke this morning, Rizzuto was given the reassuring news that amputation was not necessary. A hospital spokesman said doctors expect "complete mobility" in the hand.

Rizzuto, 44, a radio and television sportscaster since he left the Yankees in 1956, was described as being in "very good spirits." He got out of bed briefly but spent most of the day sleeping.

The hospital spokesman said Rizzuto will remain there for the next "several days."

Only the thumb on his right hand escaped injury when it caught in the revolving blades of the snow-blower as he attempted to clear the chute. Two of the fingers were badly crushed.

Rizzuto, who was tagged with the nickname "The Scooter" because of his speedy play as a Yankee Shortstop, won the MVP award in 1950 when he batted .324 and led AL shortstops in fielding. He played with the Yankees from 1941 through 1956 except for three years service in the Navy during World War II.

Cooper Scores 33 As Harman Defeats Circleville, 65-53

Mike Cooper's 33-point performance high-lighted Harman High School's 65-53 triumph over Circleville High School's Indians last night in a game played at Circleville.

The Harman center, who has averaged over 30 points per game this season, slammed in 15 field goals and hooped 3 of 4 shots at the charity stripe.

Roger Lambert and Donald Boggs were Circleville's high scorers with 16 and 14 tallies.

Circleville held the visitors to a 15-15 draw in the first period but trailed at intermission, 28-23, and at the close of the third period, 48-35.

Robertson Gets 41, Mt. Savage Beats Hyndman

Indians Avenge Early Loss, 77-68

Bobby Robertson connected for 19 field goals in 23 shots and chalked up a total of 41 points last night in leading the Mt. Savage High School Indians to a 77-68 decision over Hyndman High School at Mt. Savage.

The win enabled Coach John Thomas' cagers to avenge a 75-62 defeat suffered at the hands of the Pennsylvanians in the first game of the season. It was Mt. Savage's 14th triumph in 20 outings.

Robertson meshed 3 of 4 foul shots in addition to his 19 field goals.

Ralph Wilson was the runner up with 19 markers.

Mt. Savage chalked up 32 field goals to 26 for the Hornets. The winners sank 13 of 19 free throws while Hyndman converted 16 of 23 shots.

Ralph Terry Given Raise

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — World Series pitching hero Ralph Terry signed his New York Yankee contract Wednesday for an estimated $35,000 and said he will "settle for a year anywhere near like the year I had in 1962."

Terry, the last of the Yankee pitchers to come to terms, reportedly received an $8,000 raise. Last year he had a 23-12 record during the regular season and won two games in the World Series, shutting out the Giants, 1-0, in the deciding seventh game.

Hornbrook, Kegg, Burns Honored At Tenth CCC Dinner

Officers were elected, 42 trophies were presented to winners and runners-up in the various flights of the spring, fall and seniors tournaments and plaques were presented to the photographer and sports editors of the Times-News papers at the tenth annual dinner of the Men's Golf Association last night at the Cumberland Country Club.

Attractive plaques were presented by Carroll Boggs, club manager and pro golfer, and members of the association, to Charles B. Hornbrook, photographer, J. Suter Kegg, sports editor of the Evening and Sunday Times and C. V. Burns, sports editor of the Cumberland News in appreciation for their many years of devoted service to the news of golf. Boggs introduced those honored and presented the plaques.

John A. Moberly, president of the association for the past two years, presided, and the trophies were presented to the winners and runners-up by Boggs.

Allan H. Tyler was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, Harold Marx was named vice president, Paul C. Owens, secretary, and George F. Bottorf was re-elected treasurer.

In introducing Charles Hornbrook, Boggs said:

"There is no one in the world like One Shot Charley."

Boggs stated that "this was the biggest year of my life," and thanked members of the committee for their cooperation throughout the year. He stressed the growth of golf at the club, pointing out that close to 160 play in the spring and fall tournaments now compared to 80 to 90 in past years.

Bottorf read the financial report for the year and stated that three players scored holes-in-one, namely, Jack Underwood, George Garlitz and Ronnie Slough. Ben LaNeve was chairman of the nominating committee.

Seventy-three members attended.

Mountaineers Edge Penn State Quint

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—West Virginia overcame a four-point halftime lead then staved off a Penn State rally to defeat the Nittany Lions 83-82 here Wednesday.

Rod Thorn led the Mountaineers with 21 points followed by Mike Wolfe with 19. It was West Virginia's 12th straight victory over the home team.

The Mountaineers lost the service of Gale Catlett midway through the first half when he was ejected for throwing a punch at Jerry Hoover. Hoover suffered a fractured nose.

Fort Hill Defeats LaSalle, 87-64 In Foul-Riddled Intra-City Clash

Six Explorer Cagers Leave On Personals

By TED TROXELL

Long-time rivals Fort Hill and LaSalle got together last night for a hike—back and forth to the free throw line. When it was all over, the Sentinels had an 87-64 intra-city basketball victory over an Explorer team that lost a half dozen players on personal fouls.

Considering that the game was anti-climactic as far as the city championship was concerned (Allegany clinched it last week), a fairly good crowd ventured up to Fort Hill for the contest which had been postponed the night before because of bad weather.

What the fans witnessed, however, didn't resemble competitive basketball in the usual sense. Most of the time was spent at the foul lines, with no less than 88 15-foot attempts being taken.

The visiting Explorers found themselves in serious trouble at halftime, with four personals on three of their players including Joe Nolan. The latter scored 16 points in the first two periods, during which LaSalle put up a good fight and trailed by only five points (40-35).

Score Ten Straight

Fort Hill came on with a rush from the opening tipoff of the second half, scoring ten straight points in less than two minutes to stretch the edge from five points to 15 before Nolan's jump shot broke the ice for LaSalle in the third period. The Sentinels outscored LaSalle in that quarter by a 28-7 margin.

Bobby Neubeiser was the first of LaSalle's six players to get a "personalized" place on the bench, leaving with just 46 seconds gone in the second half.

He was followed in succession by Jim Brannon, Nolan, Dick Delaney, Frank Deluca and Mike Madden. Fort Hill lost Billy Dean and Pat Wilson early in the fourth quarter. In all, there were 61 foul violations levied against the two teams, with LaSalle committing 39 personals and Fort Hill 22.

Get 28 Field Goals

The Sentinels wound up with 28 field goals to LaSalle's 23, after each had a dozen in the first half. But Fort Hill's runaway margin came at the free throw stripe, where they converted 31 shots in 55 chances. The Explorers were 18-33 from the line.

With only 16 seconds remaining in the first half, Nolan connected on a pair of free throws to pull LaSalle within three points at 38-35. However, Fort Hill's Del Proudfoot hit on a jump shot nine seconds later to give the home team its 40-35 intermission edge.

Four Fort Hill starters scored in double figures. Big Vince DelaGrange, who was the key factor in the Sentinel's controlling the boards, took top honors with 24 points. Proudfoot collected 19, Dean had 18 and Butch Hare came through with 15. Nolan finished with 22 for the Explorers.

Third City Loss

The loss was LaSalle's third in intra-city play (Fort Hill won the series opener, 74-45) and snapped the Explorers' winning streak at five games. The Irish are now 9-9 for the season. Fort Hill registered its 13th win in 18 games and closed out its 1962-63 intra-city log at 2-2.

It was the 55th meeting between the two schools in a series that couldn't be any closer. Prior to last night, each team had scored 27 triumphs.

Mountaineers Edge Penn State Quint

Penn State held a 41-37 lead at the half but the Mountaineers, sparked by Tom Lowry, pulled ahead to lead by 13 points with three-and-a-half minutes left.

Rod Thorn led the Mountaineers with 21 points followed by Mike Wolfe with 19. It was West Virginia's 12th straight victory over the home team.

The Mountaineers lost the service of Gale Catlett midway through the first half when he was ejected for throwing a punch at Jerry Hoover. Hoover suffered a fractured nose.

Surgery Saves Rizzuto's Hand After Accident

Ex-Yankee Star In Good Spirits

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — Phil Rizzuto, former New York Yankee shortstop, "rested comfortably" in St. Elizabeth Hospital Wednesday with the knowledge that his badly mangled right hand had been saved from amputation.

The one-time American League most valuable player was operating a snow blowing machine in front of his home in nearby Hillside, N.J., Tuesday night when his hand caught in the mechanism. Rizzuto was rushed to the hospital and underwent a three-hour emergency operation on four fingers of his right hand.

When he awoke this morning, Rizzuto was given the reassuring news that amputation was not necessary. A hospital spokesman said doctors expect "complete mobility" in the hand.

Rizzuto, 44, a radio and television sportscaster since he left the Yankees in 1956, was described as being in "very good spirits." He got out of bed briefly but spent most of the day sleeping.

The hospital spokesman said Rizzuto will remain there for the next "several days."

Only the thumb on his right hand escaped injury when it caught in the revolving blades of the snow-blower as he attempted to clear the chute. Two of the fingers were badly crushed.

Rizzuto, who was tagged with the nickname "The Scooter" because of his speedy play as a Yankee Shortstop, won the MVP award in 1950 when he batted .324 and led AL shortstops in fielding. He played with the Yankees from 1941 through 1956 except for three years service in the Navy during World War II.

Cooper Scores 33 As Harman Defeats Circleville, 65-53

Mike Cooper's 33-point performance high-lighted Harman High School's 65-53 triumph over Circleville High School's Indians last night in a game played at Circleville.

The Harman center, who has averaged over 30 points per game this season, slammed in 15 field goals and hooped 3 of 4 shots at the charity stripe.

Roger Lambert and Donald Boggs were Circleville's high scorers with 16 and 14 tallies.

Circleville held the visitors to a 15-15 draw in the first period but trailed at intermission, 28-23, and at the close of the third period, 48-35.

Undefeated Paw Paw High School Quint Rings Up 19th Victory

Pirates Hand Berkeley High 96-56 Setback

Hit 90 Points 4th Time; Harding Gets 30, Hamilton 23

Paw Paw High School's undefeated Pirates rolled to their 19th victory of the season last night when they disposed of Berkeley Springs High School on the latter's court by the score of 96-56.

It was the fourth time that Coach Lewis' Close's quint had scored more than 90 points in a game.

Larry Harding was the "big gun" for the Buccaneers with 30 points to his credit while Roland Hamilton accounted for 23 and Clark Hamilton garnered 16. Other Paw Paw players in double figures were Paul Kidwell with 12 tallies and Gary Kidwell with 11.

Allemong was high scorer for the Indians with 17 points while Sullivan took runner-up honors with 13.

Campers Play Final At Home With Altoona

Flintstone, Oldtown In Class C Battle

Allegany High School's Campers (15-4) make their final home appearance of the season tonight when they engage Bishop Guilfoyle High School of Altoona at 8 o'clock.

The game was postponed from Tuesday night.

Flintstone and Oldtown will meet in the final game of their series tonight at Oldtown and a victory for Coach Barney Tucker's quint would give it the county Class C title. A Flintstone win, however, will necessitate a playoff game to determine the championship. This game originally set for Tuesday but was postponed on account of the snowstorm.

Bayard (11-8) winds up its regular schedule at home tonight, meeting Aurora High School of Preston county. The Grant countians won the first game, 43-41.

Frostburg State Teachers College makes its 18th start of the season tonight, meeting Bowie State Teachers College at Bowie, Md. Bowie dropped the opener at Frostburg in December by the score of 67-61. Coach Ron Van Ryswyk's Bobcats have won 13 of 17 games.

Willie Mays To Get More Than $100,000

Giant Star Joins Select Company

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Willie Mays signed a contract Wednesday calling for more than $100,000 with the San Francisco Giants and joined a select circle of only three other players in history who have received such an amount.

The incomparable center fielder, already a legend at the age of 31, moved into the same salary bracket once dominated by Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Stan Musial. DiMaggio and Williams are in retirement while Musial no longer commands that wage.

Mays, heading into his 13th season as a Giant, is coming back from one of his finest campaigns. He hit 49 home runs last year, second to his all time output of 51 which he clubbed for the New York Giants in 1955. He batted .304 last season while driving in 104 runs and stole 19 bases.

The month of September featured a dramatic personal comeback by Mays as the Giants made their heart-stopping drive to win the National League pennant.

Keyser Downs Bulldogs, 61-42

Tornado Cagers Score 16th Win

Keyser High School's Golden Tornado last night went on a fourth period scoring binge to defeat Bruce, 61-42, at Keyser.

After a close first half, which ended with Keyser holding a 24-19 edge, the home team stretched the edge to nine points (38-29) in the third period before exploding in the final frame to outscore the visiting Bulldogs 23-13.

Tom Condron tossed in 16 points to pace the Tornado cagers, while Charlie Nelson and Terry Turbin canned a dozen apiece. Malc Kight, Sam Berry and Ron Shaffer each had nine for the Bulldogs.

The victory put Keyser back on the winning track after a Monday night loss to Beall, and set the Tornado's record for the season at 16-4 with one game remaining. Bruce is winless in 18 games.

Joseph Green Sentenced For Bribing Cager

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Green, 37, was sentenced today to six to seven years in prison for bribing a Columbia University basketball player to shave points in two games in the 1960-61 season.

Green, a Bronx resident, was the last of 10 persons to be sentenced in the basketball scandals.

Judge Joseph A. Sarafite imposed a term of 3 to 3½ years on each of 2 counts of bribery and ordered them to be served consecutively.

Green had pleaded guilty to paying bribes of $2,000 to Fred Portnoy of the Columbia squad.

Jack Molinas, accused "master fixer" in the scandals, was sentenced Feb. 11 to 10 to 15 years. Molinas, who played basketball for Columbia University and for the Fort Wayne Pistons of the National Basketball Association, has appealed.

Moorefield Rallies To Edge Mathias

Down by nine points (47-38) as the fourth quarter got underway, the Jackets outscored Mathias 23-10 to hang up the victory, only their second in 19 starts this year.

Ralph Keller scored 16 points to lead Moorefield, while Richard Eye and Gary Barr collected ten apiece, with the latter geeting all of his in the decisive last quarter. Ed Mongold tallied 18 for the Mathias cagers, who suffered their 13th loss in 19 contests.

Undefeated Paw Paw High School Quint Rings Up 19th Victory

Pirates Hand Berkeley High 96-56 Setback

Hit 90 Points 4th Time; Harding Gets 30, Hamilton 23

Paw Paw High School's undefeated Pirates rolled to their 19th victory of the season last night when they disposed of Berkeley Springs High School on the latter's court by the score of 96-56.

It was the fourth time that Coach Lewis' Close's quint had scored more than 90 points in a game.

The win gave Paw Paw a sweep of the annual home-and-home series between the Morgan county schools.

Larry Harding was the "big gun" for the Buccaneers with 30 points to his credit while Roland Hamilton accounted for 23 and Clark Hamilton garnered 16. Other Paw Paw players in double figures were Paul Kidwell with 12 tallies and Gary Kidwell with 11.

Allemong was high scorer for the Indians with 17 points while Sullivan took runner-up honors with 13.

The loss was the 10th for Berkeley Springs in 17 starts.

Tornado Cagers Score 16th Win

Keyser High School's Golden Tornado last night went on a fourth period scoring binge to defeat Bruce, 61-42, at Keyser.

After a close first half, which ended with Keyser holding a 24-19 edge, the home team stretched the edge to nine points (38-29) in the third period before exploding in the final frame to outscore the visiting Bulldogs 23-13.

Tom Condron tossed in 16 points to pace the Tornado cagers, while Charlie Nelson and Terry Turbin canned a dozen apiece. Malc Kight, Sam Berry and Ron Shaffer each had nine for the Bulldogs.

The victory put Keyser back on the winning track after a Monday night loss to Beall, and set the Tornado's record for the season at 16-4 with one game remaining. Bruce is winless in 18 games.

Joseph Green Sentenced For Bribing Cager

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Green, 37, was sentenced today to six to seven years in prison for bribing a Columbia University basketball player to shave points in two games in the 1960-61 season.

Green, a Bronx resident, was the last of 10 persons to be sentenced in the basketball scandals.

Judge Joseph A. Sarafite imposed a term of 3 to 3½ years on each of 2 counts of bribery and ordered them to be served consecutively.

Green had pleaded guilty to paying bribes of $2,000 to Fred Portnoy of the Columbia squad.

Jack Molinas, accused "master fixer" in the scandals, was sentenced Feb. 11 to 10 to 15 years. Molinas, who played basketball for Columbia University and for the Fort Wayne Pistons of the National Basketball Association, has appealed.

Moorefield Rallies To Edge Mathias

Moorefield's Yellowjackets surged from behind in the final period last night to edge Mathias, 61-57, in a PVC contest on the losers' floor.

Down by nine points (47-38) as the fourth quarter got underway, the Jackets outscored Mathias 23-10 to hang up the victory, only their second in 19 starts this year.

Ralph Keller scored 16 points to lead Moorefield, while Richard Eye and Gary Barr collected ten apiece, with the latter geeting all of his in the decisive last quarter. Ed Mongold tallied 18 for the Mathias cagers, who suffered their 13th loss in 19 contests.

Campers Play Final At Home With Altoona

Flintstone, Oldtown In Class C Battle

Allegany High School's Campers (15-4) make their final home appearance of the season tonight when they engage Bishop Guilfoyle High School of Altoona at 8 o'clock.

The game was postponed from Tuesday night.

Allegany won the first game of the series at Altoona by the score of 55-44.

Flintstone and Oldtown will meet in the final game of their series tonight at Oldtown and a victory for Coach Barney Tucker's quint would give it the county Class C title. A Flintstone win, however, will necessitate a playoff game to determine the championship. This game originally set for Tuesday but was postponed on account of the snowstorm.

Bayard (11-8) winds up its regular schedule at home tonight, meeting Aurora High School of Preston county. The Grant countians won the first game, 43-41.

Frostburg State Teachers College makes its 18th start of the season tonight, meeting Bowie State Teachers College at Bowie, Md. Bowie dropped the opener at Frostburg in December by the score of 67-61. Coach Ron Van Ryswyk's Bobcats have won 13 of 17 games.

Willie Mays To Get More Than $100,000

Giant Star Joins Select Company

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Willie Mays signed a contract Wednesday calling for more than $100,000 with the San Francisco Giants and joined a select circle of only three other players in history who have received such an amount.

The incomparable center fielder, already a legend at the age of 31, moved into the same salary bracket once dominated by Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Stan Musial. DiMaggio and Williams are in retirement while Musial no longer commands that wage.

Mays, heading into his 13th season as a Giant, is coming back from one of his finest campaigns. He hit 49 home runs last year, second to his all time output of 51 which he clubbed for the New York Giants in 1955. He batted .304 last season while driving in 104 runs and stole 19 bases.

The month of September featured a dramatic personal comeback by Mays as the Giants made their heart-stopping drive to win the National League pennant.

Pittsburgh Signs Dick Schofield

In Memoriam

In memory of David Earl Robinson who passed away 4 years ago February 21, 1959.

The blow was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one, we loved so dear.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness
Our eyes shed many tears
We often sit and think of you
When we are all alone.
God alone knows how much we miss you.
And will through all the years
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by loving wife,
Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

In Memoriam

In memory of David Earl Robinson who passed away 4 years ago February 21, 1959.

The blow was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one, we loved so dear.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness
Our eyes shed many tears
We often sit and think of you
When we are all alone.
God alone knows how much we miss you.
And will through all the years
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by loving wife,
Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

EDWARD J. RYAN
LIBERTY TRUST BLDG.
CUMBERLAND, MD.

Wilbert C. Snyder vs. Leona Snyder, 319 S. Pleasant Ave., Dallastown, Pa.
No. 26852 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Filed February 5, 1963.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The bill states that the parties were married in Hagerstown, Md., in 1938, and four children were born, all of whom are of full legal age except one, who resides in Washington with a married sister. The bill further states that the defendant treated the plaintiff cruelly, was associating with undesirable characters, and deserted the plaintiff on or about March, 1950, which desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months and is without hope of reconciliation.

It is thereupon this 4th day of February, 1963, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, that the complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 7th day of March, 1963, give notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this bill, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 8th day of April, 1963, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

LIBERTY TRUST BLDG.
CUMBERLAND, MD.

Wilbert C. Snyder vs. Leona Snyder, 319 S. Pleasant Ave., Dallastown, Pa. No. 26852 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Filed February 5, 1963.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii of the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states that the parties were married in Hagerstown, Md., in 1938, and four children were born, all of whom are of full legal age except one, who resides in Washington with a married sister. The bill further states that the defendant treated the plaintiff cruelly, was associating with undesirable characters, and deserted the plaintiff on or about March, 1950, which desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months and is without hope of reconciliation.

It is thereupon this 4th day of February, 1963, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, that the complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 7th day of March, 1963, give notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this bill, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 8th day of April, 1963, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Workable Plan Application Clears Hurdle

HHFA Forwards Plan To Washington

William F. DeMare, director of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, was informed yesterday that this city's Workable Program application has been cleared by the Philadelphia office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

He was advised that the application is being forwarded to the Washington HHFA office for final approval and certification.

The HHFA did not give any estimate of the time needed for the final step in the certification procedure.

Certification of the Workable Program for Community Improvement is prerequisite for a number of federal programs, including urban renewal.

Since the application was submitted by the city some weeks ago, the HHFA has made a number of requests for additions and clarifications, all of which have been supplied.

This supplementary data includes the names of the members of the Code Review Committee and a certified copy of the Fire Code adopted here in 1956.

The city also advised that the code committee will submit recommendations on plumbing and electrical and other necessary codes by the end of the year.

The city also appointed a relocation housing sub-committee of the Citizens Advisory Committee and advised that plans are being made to provide additional housing inspections.

Pending the certification, Mr. DeMare has started to compile data which will be needed for filing the agency's application for its first project. A general neighborhood renewal program for the business area has been given top priority by the Urban Renewal Agency and the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Rawlings Girl Killed By Train In Kentucky

Alverda Joyce Shillingburg, 22, of Rawlings, was killed by a train Tuesday night in Wilmore, Ky. Her death was ruled a suicide by Wilmore coroner Frank Bishop.

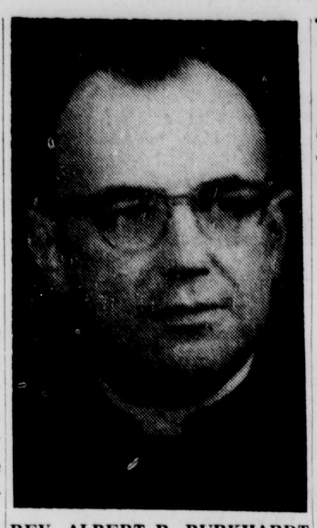

The victim, a daughter of Mrs. Russell Kitzmiller, Rawlings, and the late Grover C. Shillingburg, was a senior at Asbury College, Wilmore.

According to Bishop, Miss Shillingburg walked onto the tracks in front of a Southern Railroad passenger-freight train and turned her back on the approaching engine.

Bishop said he was told by train crewman the girl threw up her hands as if confused. The coroner said the train was moving at about 40 miles per hour when the engineer saw the girl on the tracks.

Miss Shillingburg is survived by her mother, her stepfather, Russell Kitzmiller, and two half brothers, Russell and John Kitzmiller, at home.

The body will be brought to the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser, tomorrow.

REV. ALBERT R. BURKHARDT

Pastor Sent To Lutherans In LaVale

Will Develop Congregation

Rev. Albert R. Burkhardt has accepted a call from the Board of American Missions of the Lutheran Church to serve as mission developer in the LaVale area.

Since last August, a group of interest laymen have been holding services or worship each Sunday at 520 National Highway.

It will be the responsibility of Rev. Mr. Burkhardt to minister to this group and to obtain the necessary members to organize a congregation of the Maryland Synod. The board requires that at least 60 persons be named on the church charter.

Rev. Mr. Burkhardt is a 1949 graduate of Gettysburg College and graduated from the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1952. He had served as assistant pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church in Washington, D. C.; Trinity Lutheran Church in Baltimore, and since 1957 has been pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Middletown, Md.

He is married to the former Eleanor Weibley and they have two sons, Mark David, eight, and Brent Andrew, eight months.

Rev. Mr. Burkhardt will arrive in the LaVale area Tuesday and will reside at 726 Miller Street, LaVale.

His first service will be the celebration of Holy Communion on Ash Wednesday, February 27 at 7:30 p. m.

Sunday school services are held at the mission each Sunday at 9:30 a. m., followed by worship services at 11 a. m.

Carol Fike Named Miss Valley High In Beauty Contest

Miss Carol Fike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fike, Avilton, last night was selected as "Miss Valley High School" during a beauty contest held in the school auditorium.

A senior, Miss Fike is a member of the Future Homemakers of America, the Student Council, National Honor Society and the Pep Club.

Second place winner was Mary Catherine Green, also a senior and third place winner was Carol Foote, a sophomore. The winner was crowned by State's Attorney James S. Getty.

Judges of the contest were members of the faculty at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Other members of the committee are Robert Swarner, Lindsay M. Bray and Robert E. Moore.

Emergency Equipment Check Set

Plan Prompted By Fatal Accidents

FREDERICK (AP)—A Maryland State Police captain announced Wednesday a plan to try to determine whether many out-of-state cars are entering Frederick County without proper equipment during snow and ice conditions.

Capt. W.W. Corbin, commander of State Police in four Western Maryland counties, said the next time Frederick County's snow emergency plan is put into effect troopers would man northern and southern checkpoints to check all cars.

Capt. Corbin said his action was prompted by one fatal accident in Frederick County Tuesday, and another late last year. In both accidents, elderly women from New York State were killed on snowy highways and neither car was equipped with snow tires or chains. Both happened on U.S. 15.

The snow emergency plan requires snow tires or chains on main highways as long as it is in effect.

Alice F. Cornelius, 63, of Owego, N.Y., was killed in the accident Tuesday, when her car struck some snow and skidded across the highway into an oncoming truck.

Troopers will be instructed to check all cars and impound them if not properly equipped. Capt. Corbin also said police would recommend that a maximum fine be imposed on the drivers.

Initially, the plan will apply only in Frederick County, especially U.S. 15. If violations are widespread, the captain said, the checkpoint system will be extended to the other three counties of Western Maryland — Washington, Allegany and Garrett.

Beall Named To Senate Commerce Unit

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall has been notified by the Republican Committee on Committees that he has been named a member of the Senate Commerce Committee.

In accepting his new committee assignment, Sen. Beall released his position on the Banking and Currency Committee, and Sen. Jacob Javits of New York moved to Banking and Currency.

Sen. Beall said he was pleased to be named to the Commerce Committee because he feels he will be able to serve the people of Maryland better.

He added under the Commerce Committee come matters relating to the Baltimore Harbor and all harbors, the state's shipbuilding industry and all shipping, railroads, airports, including Friendship International, and other such matters which are important to the economy of Maryland.

Sen. Beall said he would retain his place on the Senate Armed Services Committee, on which he is third ranking minority member, and on the Senate District Committee on which he is the ranking minority member.

Channel Project Is Awarded By Army Engineers

A $144,000 construction contract has been awarded to S & R Construction, Inc., of Carisle, Pa., for deepening and aligning the channel of the North Branch Potomac River in the vicinity of Smith's Island here, according to Col. Roy S. Kelley, Baltimore District engineer. The contract will complete the improvements planned as part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

The work is being accomplished with funds provided by the Accelerated Public Works Program.

Principal features of the work include clearing about 45 acres, excavating 163,000 cubic yards of material to provide 3,200 feet of improved channel and seeding about eight acres.

When the work is completed next December, the contract will have provided an estimated 50 man-years of employment to the Cumberland-Ridgeley area.

When the Corps of Engineers transferred responsibility for operating and maintaining the flood control system to local officials in 1959, the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company's sand and gravel processing plant was located in the vicinity of Smith's Island.

Wind Is Blamed In Entry Report

The Detective Bureau yesterday said no evidence of a forced entry was found in an investigation of a possible breaking and entering at Trinity Lutheran Church, 328 North Centre Street.

The investigation was made after a window on the north side of the church, high up on the roof, was found lying on the floor of a small room.

Capt. James E. Van and Detective Harry Iser, who investigated, concluded it was possible high winds had blown the window out of the frame. They added it would have been difficult for a person to climb up the side of the building without a ladder.

Kelly Workers To Open Hospital Drive Tonight

The drive for the new Sacred Heart Hospital has moved up to the $400,000 mark, and the Kelly Employes Charity Fund Committee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will kick off an in-plant campaign for the hospital today, Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the drive announced last night.

Raymond C. Adams, chairman of the Kelly Employes Charity Committee representing one of the area's oldest and largest industries, said that "the drive, like all Kelly activities, is expected to be highly successful."

It is the belief of the committee, Mr. Adams said, that Kelly employes have caught the fever of the hospital project and are "ready and waiting" for the opportunity to do their part.

As a significant example of the feeling at the big tire plant, he said that a woman employed in the tube room as an hourly paid worker, approached James W. Stein, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, last week and asked if there would be an in-plant drive.

When Stein said he thought there would be such a drive, Mr. Adams reported, the woman offered a gift of $250 cash—and said she wanted to sign up for a payroll deduction besides. "With that kind of a beginning, we are assured of a successful conclusion," Mr. Adams said.

Mr. Ort lauded workers in the Healing & Mercy Division of the drive, who met yesterday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel to report on their progress to date. "These men are wonderful," the chairmen said, "just wonderful. They are giving an exhibition of charity in its purest form. They have not only given generously, but they are working like mad to get this campaign over the top.

"In fact," Mr. Ort said, "you can check the results in any division of this campaign and find that the pure-of-heart live in Western Maryland and the neighboring sections of Pennsylvania and West Virginia."

County's Roads Needs Listed In SRC Report

The construction of 205 miles of state highways will be needed in Allegany County during the next two decades, according to a preliminary roads study report presented to the General Assembly by the State Roads Commission.

In the program outlined Tuesday night by John B. Funk, chairman - director, construction costs of this expanded highway system in Allegany County would average $5,534,000 each year.

Maintenance of 302 miles of state highways in the county, the SRC reported, would add another $734,000 to the yearly costs.

The construction or reconstruction of 526 miles of county roads is called for in the needs study. Construction costs for the system would average $677,000 a year and maintenance another $661,000.

Needed by municipalities in Allegany County is the construction of 168 miles of streets at an average cost of $678,000, and the maintenance of 195 miles of streets and alleys would cost $467,000 a year.

The county and municipal estimates reflect the thinking of county and municipal officials and will be their responsibility.

For Garrett County, the study includes the construction of 274 miles of state highways. Construction costs would average $3,108,000 and maintenance of 291 miles at an annual cost of $654,000.

The proposal for the county system calls for the construction or reconstruction of 695 miles of roads costing $910,000 a year. Maintenance would add another $880,000 to the annual bill.

Municipalities of Garrett County will need 47 miles of new streets, with construction costing $185,000 a year and maintenance $142,000.

Warm Weather, Sunshine Help Melt Snow Fall

Yesterday's bright sunshine and warm temperatures helped melt nearly all of the heavy snow fall which hit the section very unexpectedly Tuesday.

The mercury climbed to 50 degrees yesterday and the warm spell aided workers in clearing city streets and county roads.

The Weather Bureau had called for a cold wave to move into the area last night, but the mercury took a sharp upward turn about 9 p. m. last night from 44 degrees to 50 degrees.

The forecast for today calls for windy and much colder weather with the high expected to be in the 20s.

'Thinking Day' Program Planned By Girl Scouts

"Thinking Day," an international Girl Scout and Girl Guide observance, will be celebrated tomorrow by the West Side Neighborhood Association.

Meetings at the SS. Peter and Paul parish hall at 1:30 p. m. and the Presbyterian Church fellowship hall at 4 p. m. will open with a flag ceremony and will feature the collection of contributions from each scout for the World Friendship Fund.

Thinking Day was set aside in 1926 by the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts to honor the birthdays of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of scouting and his wife, Lady Baden-Powell who is World Chief Guide today.

The Friendship Fund was originated in 1933 in memory of Juliette Low, who founded girl scouting in the United States. It is used for promoting scouting and guiding throughout the world.

Approximately 350 Girl Scouts and leaders are expected to participate in the meetings.

House Applauds Del. Boone As He Steps Down

Speaker Predicts Full Vindication

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A. Gordon Boone, a towering figure in the Maryland Legislature for the last 12 years, stepped down Wednesday as speaker of the House of Delegates with a pledge to clear himself of federal mail fraud charges.

He received a standing ovation from the 142-member House as he walked from the rostrum to take his seat in a far corner of the chamber, where he will serve out the remainder of the 90-day session as a delegate from Baltimore County.

Boone—physically one of the biggest men in the House at six-foot-three, 225 pounds — turned over his gavel to Marvin Mandel, the five-foot-six chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mandel will serve as acting speaker under House rules during Boone's announced "leave of absence" from the rostrum. The legislature elects a new speaker at the beginning of each session, and when a new legislature is seated, the speaker customarily serves all four years of the term.

Galleries Packed

The House galleries were packed for the dramatic ceremony, which came one day after Boone's indictment by a federal grand jury in Baltimore and which was believed without precedent in legislative history.

The Rev. William H. Hudnut III, an Annapolis Presbyterian minister who gave the invocation, took note of the tenseness of the moment. "Grant that they may suspend judgment until judgment is warranted," he said in his prayer.

Boone rapped the House into session at 2:07 p.m. and promptly announced his temporary withdrawal as speaker. He addressed the hushed chamber in a calm and steady voice.

"The speaker doesn't represent one individual, he represents an integral part of all 142 members of this body," he said.

"So that no one may be embarrassed, so that the state may be served, you may be served, and I may be served, I intend to leave this rostrum and take my seat as a delegate."

Expects To Be Cleared

He said, however, he was doing so only until he could clear himself of the "unwarranted charges placed against me."

"I know that in the future I will be vindicated," he said.

He was indicted with five other persons involved in operations of Security Financial Insurance Corp. which Boone helped form in 1959. They were accused of fraudulently promising through the mails insurance protection for savings and loan deposits which the firm could not provide.

Boone called Mandel to the rostrum under House Rule 7 to take his place. The rule provides that the Ways and Means chairman shall act as speaker during any extended leave by the elected speaker.

Boone is not due for arraignment until March 1 and trial will be some time later on.

Thanks House

Boone thanked the House for electing him as its speaker and said serving in that capacity has been "one of the greatest honors I have ever had in my life."

"Good luck and God bless you," he said to the House.

The members arose as one man and applauded steadily for 45 seconds while Boone walked down the steps from the rostrum and across the chamber to a seat in the corner. It has borne his name all session but is for use only on such occasions as he might desire to speak from the floor.

His first occasion came a few moments later when he rose to ask that he be recorded "aye" on all bills then being taken up by the House. His electric voting button wouldn't work.

Politics Blamed For Indictments

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Utah financier said Wednesday federal mail fraud indictments against himself and five other persons are "a result of a bitter factional fight in the Democratic party" in Maryland.

A grand jury in Baltimore indicted D. Spencer Grow of Provo and the others Tuesday on charges of fraudulently misrepresenting the protection provided by the Security Financial Insurance Corp., a now defunct firm which insured savings and loan association accounts.

Among others indicted was A. Gordon Boone, Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates. He took a leave of absence as speaker later in the day but called the charges unfounded.

Grow said he was amazed at the charge. He said none of the three associations he heads in Utah and Idaho is presently insured by Security Financial.

He said insurance was purchased in the past from Security Financial because "They were one of the best, at the time, in the business." He said he had never been a director or a stockholder in the firm.

Taylor Succeeds Vickers At Survey Office

Arthur A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the Cumberland Subdistrict office of the U. S. Geological Survey Surface Water Branch, since July 1958, has been transferred to the unit's district office in Trenton, N. J.

He will be succeeded by Kenneth R. Taylor of Faison, N. C., who comes here from Statesville, N. C.

Mr. Vickers, a 13-year employe of U. S. Geological Survey, served eight years in Charleston, W. Va., district office before his assignment to Cumberland. He will be chief of the basic records section at Trenton.

He is a 1950 graduate of West Virginia University with a degree in structural engineering and is a Navy veteran.

Mr. and Mrs. Vickers and their three children will leave here March 1 for his new assignment. They will reside at Levittown, Pa.

Mr. Taylor has been an employe of U. S. Geological Survey for several years. He was promoted to the position of engineer in charge of the local office from the Statesville branch.

A graduate of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., he served in the Air Force during the Korean War.

He lists his hobbies as golfing, hunting and fishing.

Mr. Taylor will assume his duties here March 25, but is in Cumberland this week to become familiarized with his new position.

He and his wife and two children will move to Cumberland in the next few weeks.

Personnel of the Cumberland College Park office entertained Mr. Vickers with a farewell dinner Saturday night at the Shrine Club.

Kenneth R. Taylor gets welcome from Arthur A. Vickers, whom he succeeds.

Attending from College Park were David Carpenter, the Helinski brothers, Mrs. Mary Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Mohler. Mr. Mohler preceded Mr. Vickers as engineer at the local office.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skelly.

Workable Plan Application Clears Hurdle

HHFA Forwards Plan To Washington

William F. DeMare, director of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, was informed yesterday that this city's Workable Program application has been cleared by the Philadelphia office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

He was advised that the application is being forwarded to the Washington HHFA office for final approval and certification.

The HHFA did not give any estimate of the time needed for the final step in the certification procedure.

Certification of the Workable Program for Community Improvement is prerequisite for a number of federal programs, including urban renewal.

Since the application was submitted by the city some weeks ago, the HHFA has made a number of requests for additions and clarifications, all of which have been supplied.

This supplementary data includes the names of the members of the Code Review Committee and a certified copy of the Fire Code adopted here in 1956.

The city also advised that the code committee will submit recommendations on plumbing and electrical and other necessary codes by the end of the year.

The city also appointed a relocation housing sub-committee of the Citizens Advisory Committee and advised that plans are being made to provide additional housing inspections.

Pending the certification, Mr. DeMare has started to compile data which will be needed for filing the agency's application for its first project. A general neighborhood renewal program for the business area has been given top priority by the Urban Renewal Agency and the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Rawlings Girl Killed By Train In Kentucky

Alverda Joyce Shillingburg, 22, of Rawlings, was killed by a train Tuesday night in Wilmore, Ky. Her death was ruled a suicide by Wilmore coroner Frank Bishop.

The victim, a daughter of Mrs. Russell Kitzmiller, Rawlings, and the late Grover C. Shillingburg, was a senior at Asbury College, Wilmore.

According to Bishop, Miss Shillingburg walked onto the tracks in front of a Southern Railroad passenger-freight train and turned her back on the approaching engine.

Bishop said he was told by train crewman the girl threw up her hands as if confused. The coroner said the train was moving at about 40 miles per hour when the engineer saw the girl on the tracks.

Miss Shillingburg is survived by her mother, her stepfather, Russell Kitzmiller, and two half brothers, Russell and John Kitzmiller, at home.

The body will be brought to the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser, tomorrow.

REV. ALBERT R. BURKHARDT

Pastor Sent To Lutherans In LaVale

Will Develop Congregation

Rev. Albert R. Burkhardt has accepted a call from the Board of American Missions of the Lutheran Church to serve as mission developer in the LaVale area.

Since last August, a group of interest laymen have been holding services or worship each Sunday at 520 National Highway.

It will be the responsibility of Rev. Mr. Burkhardt to minister to this group and to obtain the necessary members to organize a congregation of the Maryland Synod. The board requires that at least 60 persons be named on the church charter.

Rev. Mr. Burkhardt is a 1949 graduate of Gettysburg College and graduated from the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1952. He had served as assistant pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church in Washington, D. C.; Trinity Lutheran Church in Baltimore, and since 1957 has been pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Middletown, Md.

He is married to the former Eleanor Weibley and they have two sons, Mark David, eight, and Brent Andrew, eight months.

Rev. Mr. Burkhardt will arrive in the LaVale area Tuesday and will reside at 726 Miller Street, LaVale.

His first service will be the celebration of Holy Communion on Ash Wednesday, February 27 at 7:30 p. m.

Sunday school services are held at the mission each Sunday at 9:30 a. m., followed by worship services at 11 a. m.

Carol Fike Named Miss Valley High In Beauty Contest

Miss Carol Fike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fike, Avilton, last night was selected as "Miss Valley High School" during a beauty contest held in the school auditorium.

A senior, Miss Fike is a member of the Future Homemakers of America, the Student Council, National Honor Society and the Pep Club.

Second place winner was Mary Catherine Green, also a senior and third place winner was Carol Foote, a sophomore. The winner was crowned by State's Attorney James S. Getty.

Judges of the contest were members of the faculty at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Plan Prompted By Fatal Accidents

FREDERICK (AP)—A Maryland State Police captain announced Wednesday a plan to try to determine whether many out-of-state cars are entering Frederick County without proper equipment during snow and ice conditions.

Capt. W.W. Corbin, commander of State Police in four Western Maryland counties, said the next time Frederick County's snow emergency plan is put into effect troopers would man northern and southern checkpoints to check all cars.

Capt. Corbin said his action was prompted by one fatal accident in Frederick County Tuesday, and another late last year. In both accidents, elderly women from New York State were killed on snowy highways and neither car was equipped with snow tires or chains. Both happened on U.S. 15.

The snow emergency plan requires snow tires or chains on main highways as long as it is in effect.

Alice F. Cornelius, 63, of Owego, N.Y., was killed in the accident Tuesday, when her car struck some snow and skidded across the highway into an oncoming truck.

Troopers will be instructed to check all cars and impound them if not properly equipped. Capt. Corbin also said police would recommend that a maximum fine be imposed on the drivers.

Initially, the plan will apply only in Frederick County, especially U.S. 15. If violations are widespread, the captain said, the checkpoint system will be extended to the other three counties of Western Maryland — Washington, Allegany and Garrett.

Beall Named To Senate Commerce Unit

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall has been notified by the Republican Committee on Committees that he has been named a member of the Senate Commerce Committee.

In accepting his new committee assignment, Sen. Beall released his position on the Banking and Currency Committee, and Sen. Jacob Javits of New York moved to Banking and Currency.

Sen. Beall said he was pleased to be named to the Commerce Committee because he feels he will be able to serve the people of Maryland better.

He added under the Commerce Committee come matters relating to the Baltimore Harbor and all harbors, the state's shipbuilding industry and all shipping, railroads, airports, including Friendship International, and other such matters which are important to the economy of Maryland.

Sen. Beall said he would retain his place on the Senate Armed Services Committee, on which he is third ranking minority member, and on the Senate District Committee on which he is the ranking minority member.

Channel Project Is Awarded By Army Engineers

A $144,000 construction contract has been awarded to S & R Construction, Inc., of Carisle, Pa., for deepening and aligning the channel of the North Branch Potomac River in the vicinity of Smith's Island here, according to Col. Roy S. Kelley, Baltimore District engineer. The contract will complete the improvements planned as part of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

The work is being accomplished with funds provided by the Accelerated Public Works Program.

Principal features of the work include clearing about 45 acres, excavating 163,000 cubic yards of material to provide 3,200 feet of improved channel and seeding about eight acres.

When the work is completed next December, the contract will have provided an estimated 50 man-years of employment to the Cumberland-Ridgeley area.

When the Corps of Engineers transferred responsibility for operating and maintaining the flood control system to local officials in 1959, the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company's sand and gravel processing plant was located in the vicinity of Smith's Island.

Wind Is Blamed In Entry Report

The Detective Bureau yesterday said no evidence of a forced entry was found in an investigation of a possible breaking and entering at Trinity Lutheran Church, 328 North Centre Street.

The investigation was made after a window on the north side of the church, high up on the roof, was found lying on the floor of a small room.

Capt. James E. Van and Detective Harry Iser, who investigated, concluded it was possible high winds had blown the window out of the frame. They added it would have been difficult for a person to climb up the side of the building without a ladder.

Kelly Workers To Open Hospital Drive Tonight

The drive for the new Sacred Heart Hospital has moved up to the $400,000 mark, and the Kelly Employes Charity Fund Committee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will kick off an in-plant campaign for the hospital today, Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the drive announced last night.

Raymond C. Adams, chairman of the Kelly Employes Charity Committee representing one of the area's oldest and largest industries, said that "the drive, like all Kelly activities, is expected to be highly successful."

It is the belief of the committee, Mr. Adams said, that Kelly employes have caught the fever of the hospital project and are "ready and waiting" for the opportunity to do their part.

As a significant example of the feeling at the big tire plant, he said that a woman employed in the tube room as an hourly paid worker, approached James W. Stein, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, last week and asked if there would be an in-plant drive.

When Stein said he thought there would be such a drive, Mr. Adams reported, the woman offered a gift of $250 cash—and said she wanted to sign up for a payroll deduction besides. "With that kind of a beginning, we are assured of a successful conclusion," Mr. Adams said.

Mr. Ort lauded workers in the Healing & Mercy Division of the drive, who met yesterday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel to report on their progress to date. "These men are wonderful," the chairmen said, "just wonderful. They are giving an exhibition of charity in its purest form. They have not only given generously, but they are working like mad to get this campaign over the top.

"In fact," Mr. Ort said, "you can check the results in any division of this campaign and find that the pure-of-heart live in Western Maryland and the neighboring sections of Pennsylvania and West Virginia."

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Utah financier said Wednesday federal mail fraud indictments against himself and five other persons are "a result of a bitter factional fight in the Democratic party" in Maryland.

A grand jury in Baltimore indicted D. Spencer Grow of Provo and the others Tuesday on charges of fraudulently misrepresenting the protection provided by the Security Financial Insurance Corp., a now defunct firm which insured savings and loan association accounts.

Among others indicted was A. Gordon Boone, Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates. He took a leave of absence as speaker later in the day but called the charges unfounded.

Grow said he was amazed at the charge. He said none of the three associations he heads in Utah and Idaho is presently insured by Security Financial.

He said insurance was purchased in the past from Security Financial because "They were one of the best, at the time, in the business." He said he had never been a director or a stockholder in the firm.

Taylor Succeeds Vickers At Survey Office

Arthur A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the Cumberland Subdistrict office of the U. S. Geological Survey Surface Water Branch, since July 1958, has been transferred to the unit's district office in Trenton, N. J.

He will be succeeded by Kenneth R. Taylor of Faison, N. C., who comes here from Statesville, N. C.

Mr. Vickers, a 13-year employe of U. S. Geological Survey, served eight years in Charleston, W. Va., district office before his assignment to Cumberland. He will be chief of the basic records section at Trenton.

He is a 1950 graduate of West Virginia University with a degree in structural engineering and is a Navy veteran.

Mr. and Mrs. Vickers and their three children will leave here March 1 for his new assignment. They will reside at Levittown, Pa.

Mr. Taylor has been an employe of U. S. Geological Survey for several years. He was promoted to the position of engineer in charge of the local office from the Statesville branch.

A graduate of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., he served in the Air Force during the Korean War.

He lists his hobbies as golfing, hunting and fishing.

Mr. Taylor will assume his duties here March 25, but is in Cumberland this week to become familiarized with his new position.

He and his wife and two children will move to Cumberland in the next few weeks.

Kenneth R. Taylor gets welcome from Arthur A. Vickers, whom he succeeds.

Attending from College Park were David Carpenter, the Helinski brothers, Mrs. Mary Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Mohler. Mr. Mohler preceded Mr. Vickers as engineer at the local office.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skelly.
